$2.3 Million Price Tag On Central School

By JERRY KRIEGER
County-Farm Editor

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The Berrien County Intermediate School board is expected to get a proposed special education budget at its March meeting Thursday night that will contain a $2,325,956 item for construction of the new centralized retarded children's school.

This construction figure was included in an advance draft of the special education budget that was given to superintendents of Berrien county school districts here Monday afternoon for informal review. The total budget figure for the entire special education program in 1975-76 was shown as $5,376,818.

According to one report received from the superintendents' meeting yesterday at the Intermediate headquarters, two superintendents voiced the contention that the special education budget should be given a public hearing, just as the Intermediate district's general fund budget is.

Intermediate Superintendent Ray Sreboth said this morning that the Intermediate board has been advised in the past by its legal counsel that a public hearing is not required for the special education budget.

St. Joseph School Superintendent Burton Aldrich said he registered objections at the informal review of the budget yesterday to both the retarded school construction item and to the lack of a public hearing. He said Buchanan Superintendent Richard Dougherty also indicated that he felt there should be a public hearing on the special education budget.

Aldrich's was the only objection voiced to the funding for the projected new school for retarded children. The budget draft showed that $2,131,458 has already been set aside over the last four years from the one and a half mill special education tax for construction of the facility.

According to Sreboth, the special education budget draft reviewed by the superintendents is subject to last- minute changes before it reaches the Intermediate board Thursday night. The board is expected to take final action on the budget at its April meeting.

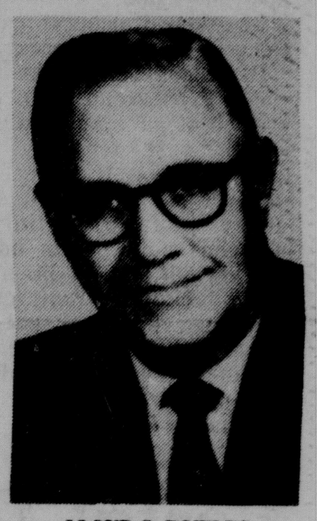
Right Government Moves Would Erase 'Blues'

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Bussiness Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The low spirits of the consumer can be raised, perhaps in a surprisingly short time, if people are convinced the government is making the proper economic moves.

This is the opinion of Lloyd S. Bowles, president of the U.S. League of Savings Associations, which speaks for most of the savings and loan industry, the nation's principal supplier of home mortgages.



LLOYD S. BOWLES
Talks of consumer reaction

Bowles, who also is chairman of the Dallas Federal Savings and Loan Association, was asked for his view of the underlying strengths of the economy during this period of distress, a period during which the thrift industry was especially hard hit by depletion of its savings accounts.

In his statement, Bowles sought to dispel what he believes is a widely held notion that the country is "faced by an immiment and overwhelming disaster." The American economy, he said, is much too strong for this to occur.

"The truth is," he said, "that the economy is not going to collapse in the next 30, 60 or 90 days, or at any time in the foreseeable future. The American people are a hardy, vigorous and disciplined people able to meet and overcome adversity in any form."

The two keys to the solution of the economic malaise, said Bosles, are: "recognition of the basic strengths which underpin the economy, and confidence of the people that their leaders have correctly perceived the causes and are moving to eliminate them."

The strengths, he said, were obvious: the best educational system, vast resources, the world's highest industrial capacity, the highest standard of living, and a still responsive economic system.

"The structure of our economic system gives it the ability to adjust output to the desires and needs of the average consumer. This is our country's basic strength," he said.

The problem of the economic system in the 1970s, he continued, has not been the system itself, "but a lack of direction and understanding about the nature of the crisis we face."

The misunderstanding is best illustrated, he said, by the continuing debate about which is the worse problem — inflation or recession.

"This debate is astonishing and distressing in light of the fact that every American family knows that inflation is responsible for our current recession," he said.

"Even the most casual study of the Consumer Price Index makes it clear American families are spending an ever increasing percentage of their

Falling Grain Prices 'Hit Bottom'

Soybeans Are Down 45% Since October, According To Buchanan Co-Op

Grain farmers in southwestern Michigan and throughout the Midwest have seen prices for the grain they stored last fall drop as much as 45 per cent.

According to Otto Jury, manager of the Buchanan Co-op, prices for soybeans, corn and wheat have been in steady decline since November, fell off even sharper in mid-January and hit bottom over the weekend.

The current price for a bushel of soybeans is about $4.62 cents and this is a decline of 45 per cent from the high of $8.44 recorded for new soybeans Oct. 11, Jury said.

Corn and wheat have suffered similarly, with prices falling 28 and 33 per cent, respectively, he said.

From a high of $3.39 per bushel of shelled corn reported on Nov. 1 the price has sputtered down to a low, reached last Friday, of $2.43.

Wheat reached a $4.67 peak on Nov. 23 and has since dropped to $3.12, yesterday's price. Jury stated that his figures represent what Buchanan Co-op paid for the grains.

Jury explains the recent accelerated fall in prices by noting that the Red Chinese government last week backed out of a deal to purchase U.S. wheat. This assurance that more wheat than was expected would still be on the market kicked down the wheat price. Other grains "followed in sympathy," Jury observed.

However, according to Jury, the reason for the steady decline of grain prices since harvest is more complicated. Farmers, who suffered crop reductions because of last summers drought, stored a lot of this year's harvest expecting that scarcity would drive the price very high.

Ironically, hog and cattle feeders and dairymen, working on the same assution cut back the size of their herds and the quality of their animal feed. Thinking that grain, and then feed, prices would go up, some decided to feed more silage to their animals in place of high-protein soybean meal, Jury explained.

Jury sees little hope for a price recovery until at least mid-March, when the Agriculture department reports again on farmer's intention to plant different grains. If the estimate calls for fewer acres planted next year, it could increase the value of the crop now in storage, he said.

Another possible spur to prices would be announcement of more exports, which Jury views as possible now that prices have fallen so low.

Some farmers can't wait much longer before they unload what grain they have stored, Jury said. Although the grains can be stored for a year if they are dry, he noted that some of the corn placed in storage last fall was too wet and could become worthless when warm weather makes the kernels sprout.

In light of the "erratic" grain market, Jury has decided to suspend for the time being the practice of giving grain price quotations to this newspaper each morning.

Jury said Buchanan quotes a morning price based on the previous day's closing price on the Chicago Board of Trade. But with the market continually falling, as it is now, the Chicago market in the morning could begin to fall right away. So Jury waits until the Chicago market is apparently stabilized before quoting his daily prices.

Girl Scouts Wage Cookie Price War

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — There is a price war on Girl Scout cookies between Mecklenburg County Girl Scouts in the Charlotte area and those across the Catawba River in Gaston County. The cookies, which are bought at the same price from the same supplier, are being sold for $1.25 a box by the Mecklenburg girls and $1 by the Gaston County girls. Some Gaston County parents who work in Charlotte are taking orders from their coworkers for cookies at the lower price. This has led the parents of some Mecklenburg Girl Scouts to complain. There have been no reports of Gaston girls going into Mecklenburg and selling cookies.

Kent Has Outbreak Of Red Measles

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — A rash of red measles cases brought a warning today from Kent County officials to check children's immunization against the disease.

Dr. Winston Prothro, county health director, said about 40 suspected measles cases have been reported. That compares with four cases in all of 1974 and none during 1973.

Dr. Prothro cautioned against calling the outbreak an epidemic but insisted children who have never had the disease must be immunized since about one in six cases leads to such complications as pneumonia, middle ear infections or encephalitis.

Lawrence Teen Felled By Blast

LAWRENCE — A 19-year-old Lawrence man was listed in serious condition today at Bronson hospital, Kalamazoo, after being hit by a shotgun blast in his home yesterday afternoon.

Michael C. McKee, 19, 115 East St. Joseph street, Lawrence, was treated at Lake View Community hospital, Paw Paw, then transferred to Bronson after suffering wounds in his left arm and elbow, chest and stomach, according to hospital authorities.

Van Buren county sheriff's deputies said McKee was wounded following an argument with a younger brother, Mark A. McKee, 15, of the same address.

According to deputies, Mark McKee told them he fired the gun through a plaster board partition after his older brother, Michael, had stepped behind the partition.

Deputies said Mark McKee was left in the custody of his mother, Mary Lou McKee. Undersheriff Myron Southworth said the matter has been turned over to the county prosecutor's office.

Indians End Plant Occupation

SHIPROCK, N.M. (AP) — Militant Indians have ended an eight-day occupation of an industrial plant on a Navajo reservation, leaving behind conflicting estimates of damage at the plant.

About 20 American Indian Movement members seized the facility Feb. 24, several days after Fairchild laid off 140 employes, most of them Navajos.

Tribal officials and police said the militants would not be prosecuted by the Navajos. U.S. Atty. Victor Ortega said he was "planning no immediate action" on possible charges.

A company spokesman said company officials would tour the plant today and seek to restore operations after assessing damage.

But the firm also indicated it would ask unspecified "conditions and assurances" from the tribe before resuming operations.

Senate OKs 2 Viet Bonus Bills

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — The state Senate has approved two bills to make more Vietnam-era veterans eligible for cash bonuses.

One measure applies to those injured and released, or who died, before serving the 180 days required to be eligible for the bonus.

The other covers veterans who are listed as missing in action over Cambodia.

Both bills passed 33-0 Monday night and went to the House.

The Senate also gave themselves an increase in expenses on out-of-state trips, while the House approved a resolution urging congress to freeze auto emission and safety standards.

The veterans bonus bills void the 180-day requirement for those injured in service and released, or who died. In the latter case, the family of the deceased veteran would be eligible.

The second bill applies to some 38 MIAs whose families could obtain benefits. It makes those missing in action over Cambodia, in addition to MIAs from Vietnam, eligible for the bonus.

The bills "assure all those who deserve a bonus to in fact receive the bonus," said the bills' sponsor Sen. Kerry Kammer, D-Pontiac.

Under the bonus, veterans or their families are eligible for a $600 cash bonus if a combat veteran, or $15 per week of service to a maximum of $450, if noncombat.

In other action, the Senate, without debate and by a voice vote, approved an increase in allowable expenses for out-of-state travel.

Senators may now bill the state for $50 per day, instead of the old maximum of $40. In addition, the expenses "need not be itemized or receipted," according to the Senate rules.

The House, meanwhile, passed 57-40 a resolution urging the federal government to delay upcoming stricter standards on auto emissions and safety.

The measure, which earlier passed the Senate, states that the condition of the economy is too bad to add further to the cost of cars and risk throwing more people out of work.

U-M Prof's Daughter Murdered In Detroit

DETROIT (AP) — The daughter of a University of Michigan professor was found slain Monday in her Detroit apartment, police report.

Officers said Phyllis Morgan, 22, daughter of Dr. Raleigh Morgan, had been strangled and stabbed. Morgan and the building superintendent found the body when they kicked in the door after Morgan had been unable to reach his daughter for almost a week.

Police said Miss Morgan, who was stabbed repeatedly in the neck and upper chest, may have been dead for about 12 hours when her body was found Monday morning. Police said she had been bound with an electric cord and bedding.

The apartment was ransacked but there was no sign of forced entry, according to police. They said Miss Morgan, a publishing company employe, was last seen Saturday night by a neighbor.

Morgan, 58, is a professor of Romance lingusitics and languages and has been at U-M since 1965.

Local Thickets In Railroad Reorganization

"We hear the engine's whistle
"And the lonesome hobo's call,
"As we ride the rods and brakebeams
"On the Wabash Cannonball."

This romantic interlude in American railroading went the way of the dodo bird before many of our readers were born; and if a projection by the U.S. Railway Association to revitalize seven ailing midwestern and northeastern carriers becomes a reality our customers in Mattawan, Lawton, Decatur, Dowagiac, Buchanan, Galien and Three Oaks may have to buy a record or a tape to catch the sound given by a diesel's air horn.

This is the prospect under a USRA plan whereby some 1,100 miles of track in Michigan's lower peninsula would be abandoned outright and another 300 miles would be continued under Conrail. Still to be effectuated by Congress, Conrail is a government corporation that would operate a rail freight service deemed essential to the midwestern and northeastern industrial region.

The Conrail concept arose from the Penn Central bankruptcy.

PC's collapse brought into the open what all transportation experts had warned of for many years.

This vast territory needs rail transportation if its economy is to survive, but it can not support that surplus of competing trackage between main points nor the multiplicity of branch lines into areas whose freighting requirements have undergone radical change.

The remedy is the radical surgery of pruning away the needless competition and trackage that is not even marginal.

USRA's local application of the doctrine will leave Dowagiac and Buchanan in a limbo.

It would abandon the Penn Central trackage from Kalamazoo to Dowagiac and from Dowagiac to Buchanan; and re-route Penn Central, via Conrail, over the PC tracks from Kalamazoo south through Vicksburg and Three Rivers to Elkhart, and thence west to Chicago. Conrail would prop up a PC spur between the Twin Cities and Niles from which freight would run on another PC branch to South Bend.

The USRA's sidetracking of Dowagiac proceeds on two assumptions.

One is that our Cass county neighbor is not a traffic generator such as Niles or the Twin Cities.

Secondly, that the Grand Trunk on its Chicago to Kalamazoo run curves slightly east from Dowagiac and by truck transhipment does not leave the Cass community utterly bereft of rail service. Being in somewhat better financial shape than Penn Central, the Canadian National subsidiary does not figure in the Conrail rescue mission.

While the first hypothesis is correct as to facts presently existent, it presumes quite a bit.

The abandonment will adversely affect Dowagiac industry dependent upon rail transportation and will scratch the town for any future plant development that is rail oriented.

Conrail must be toughminded if it is to meet the overall goal of regional assistance.

Postal Department In A Vicious Cycle?

Because of rising postal rates there is a distinct possibility mail volume will decline this year, the first time since the 1930s there has not been an increase. The new postmaster general, Benjamin F. Bailar, acknowledges the volume during the Christmas season was down 4.5 per cent from the previous year and the average daily handling is about the same as a year ago.

At the same time Bailar is promoting another increase in letter rates, from 10 cents to 12 or 13 cents. When queried about the need for an increase after the 25 per cent rise in first class rates added in 1974, a spokesman for the service said part of it would go to make up for an anticipated lower volume of mail.

That is a cycle which can feed upon itself. If the new rate is adopted this year, the cost of mailing a letter will have doubled since 1968. Not only is that a much faster rate of inflation than the general economy has experienced, but the cost to the public is considerably more than pennies. The average daily volume of mail exceeds 300 million pieces.

That Extra 50 Years

It may be true that the first 100 years are the hardest, but what of the next 50? A British physician predicts man soon may be living to 150, and he also seems to have a fairly good idea what it may be like.

To begin with, the human eye, the doctor says, begins to lose its elasticity at the age of 10. Next, at age 20, man's hearing begins to taper off. After 50 years the sense of taste deteriorates and the 75-year-old has only 88 of the 288 taste buds he had at maturity. And meanwhile, ever since he was 60, his sense of smell has been fading.

To top it all, in adulthood he loses height at the rate of half an inch every 20 years.

So what is the outlook for the individual of the future who has traveled those "hardest" 100 years and faces the final "easier" 50? Well, by the British doctor's calculations, his eyes will have been on the downhill 90 years. His hearing will have been deteriorating 80 years.

For the previous 50 years things would have been progressively less tasty, and for the same period the tantalizing odors of the finer things of life would have been less and less perceptible to him. And he would be about two inches shorter than in his prime.

All things considered, it looks as though those last 50 years had better be easier. Else the man of the future will not have enough of his original equipment left to care whether he lives that long.

HER CREDULITY IS STRAINED

Editor,

I have recently been exposed to a policy of your paper which I must view with much regret and incredulity. I am referring to your policy of using a husband's name in reference to a woman who just happens to be married to him. Your policy of using Mrs. (husband's first name husband's last name) is both antiquated and demeaning to the woman. It may even be illegal in some instances.

A woman does have a first and a last name, this is not a phenomenon peculiar only to the male of our species. In many instances of marriage, the man and woman may have the same last name, but they certainly have different first names. When referring to a married woman in an article you could at least give her the right to be recognized by friends, etc., as the article concerns her. One way is in which this could be done is to use her given name.

Now, many women are keeping their maiden names when they marry. This is entirely legal, permissible and sanctioned in 49 of our 50 states, and it must be pointed out that our state is indeed one of these. A woman's legal name may be Mrs. (maiden's name, Miss maiden's name or Ms. maiden's name.) The last of which I understand your paper does not even recognize as a viable form of addressing a woman.

When writing about a woman, she should be consulted as to how she wishes her name to appear in print. This is only a courteous and proper thing to do. It troubles me that your policies border on the discourteous, demeaning, depersonalizing and last, but definitely in no way the least, very chauvinistic.

To deny a woman her right to her own identity is almost to deny that woman exists. The fact is, she does exist, and should be treated with the same courtesy and respect given to any other person.

It is obvious that your policies have a way to go before one can say "You've come a long way, baby."

MEANY'S DETENTE STAND PRAISED

Editor,

Detente is an idea for which the United States seems willing to sacrifice a great deal. The folly of this policy has been eloquently pointed out by George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, in a statement which he made to the Senate Foreign Relations committee. It is unfortunate that this statement was not given the publicity it deserves. Following are some quotations worth pondering by every American:

"Detente should not be construed as signifying a change in Soviet international objectives. In fact detente is simply a new tactic, a new means toward the old end — the worldwide advance and ultimate victory of communism. . . ."

"While detente has produced a silly euphoria in the West, it is viewed with cold calculation in the Soviet Union. While the detente has made anti-communism unfashionable in the West — and you know of course, that anti-communism is out of style with the 'best' people — in the East detente means an intensification of ideological

Congressmen Need Only To Ask

WASHINGTON — Like so many abused children Congressmen incessantly complain they have no way of checking the President's mammoth budgets.

They cry excessively over defense, foreign aid, space and atomic energy, health, education and welfare.

I can sympathize with a freshman Senator or Representative. There's no excuse for anyone with two years' service, however.

The budget is not snapped in Congressional faces overnight. The lawmakers toy with the figures for eight months, which is why the budget year is being shifted from July 1 to October 1. Every item goes through two committees. Every member has access to a copy of the full budget for those eight months. So does every news office in town, for free and every citizen who wishes to buy a copy.

Congress has access to three research staffs, its own and those of the General Accounting Office and the Library of Congress. If these are inefficient or too small, the Senate and House have the power to expand them to any level they choose. Congress has been more interested in raising its own pay.

Congressmen further could improve the staff work of their own committees by eliminating political favoritism.

Each member of Congress can inquire of any government department — Defense, State, Interior or whatever — any time during the year and demand answers to any budget questions. He can do this repeatedly. He has access to a number of research institutions, such as Brookings, each with its own slant, and get analyses of major budget items. These academic and semi-academic groups range from the far liberal to far conservative.

There are, in addition, a vast panoply of special-interest groups, some attacking and some defending the defense, foreign affairs, economic, welfare and other specific sections of the budget in detail.

No individual Congressman need look up these associations and their studies. The Library of Congress will do this searching on request. And make easily read synopses.

To top it all, the budget is not that difficult for any Senator or Representative who has been around awhile. Though distressingly large, $350 billion for fiscal 1976, some 90 to 95 per cent of the money goes for old programs, usually only slightly modified for inflation. Thus if a Congressman has once gotten a handle on the budget, or the part which interests him, he normally must dig only into the changes in order to understand what is going on. He will not have to search for "secrets;" for he will be given tips aplenty by proponents and opponents of the new programs.

Remember, too, that Congressmen, by choice and by appointment, divide up the work. No man by himself must study the whole of the budget. He can call on colleagues in whom he has faith to fill him in on those areas which have not been his prime concern.

The average Senator and Representative is not interested. He wants only to find a few choice matters he can attack, or support — ones that will win him votes with his constituents or his backers. He excuses his ignorance with a smoke screen. If he's opposed to foreign aid, but too lazy to get a few answers, he can attack "the striped pants boys." If eager to issue a press release against big military spending, he can attack the "budget manipulations of the generals and admirals."

Chasm Separates Reagan, Wallace

Sources of my own close to Governor George Wallace of Alabama state flatly that Governor Wallace would be willing to run for the Vice Presidency in 1976 on a New Party ticket headed by former Governor Ronald Reagan of California. They also report, however, that Wallace does not consider Reagan "serious" about either a new party or a Wallace alliance.

In his appearance before the recent conclave of conservatives in Washington, D.C., Reagan, though guarded and delphic, provided some evidence that Wallace is correct in his conclusions, his rhetoric coming down rather heavily on the need to revitalize conservative principle within the Republican Party. Moreover, in a subsequent interview with N.Y. Times reporter Bobby Apple he went still further. Reagan volunteered the observation that his differences with Wallace on economic philosphy are serious — that Wallace does not object to government intervention in the economy, but merely disapproves of the liberal welfarist variety, whereas he, Reagan, objects to government intervention altogether.

Other sources of mine, family with Reagan's more privately expressed attitudes, point out that he has misgivings concerning Wallace less easily defined — partly deriving from Wallace's segregationist stands of a decade ago, partly concerning matters of style and temperament.

So, at least as of now, Reagan-Wallace New Party scenario is in trouble, though it is the favored scenario of most conservative tacticians.

In its broad outlines, however, and whatever institutional form it might take, the Reagan-Wallace scenario remains valid:

1) The Wallace constituency in the South and outside it, when added to the traditional Republican conservative constituency, almost certainly constitutes a national majority, and by all indices a growing one. Even liberal analysts now refer casually to the "conservative tide" in the nation at large.

2) The older economic quarrel between blue-collar union types and Republican entrepreneur and freemarket types has been entirely transformed during the past ten years. Both groups, formerly at loggerheads, now see a growing slice of their tax dollar going to support a whole spectrum of welfarist programs and other HEW-type ventures. The blue-collar voters and the entrepreneurs are now seeing their money line the pockets of Federal bureaucrats, social engineers, and other members of the new elite and its dependencies.

3) In a recent editorial on conservative stirrings, the New York Times characterized President Gerald Ford as a "solid Midwestern conservative," and in a sense the Times was absolutely correct. It is also true that Ford lacks the mandate and appears to lack the combativeness necessary to meet head-on the new-elite special interests that have a stake in growing Federal budgets. Though a conservative in many ways, Ford is also a compromiser and a temporizer and evidently not the man to fight the particular battle that needs to be fought now.

Nevertheless, if Ronald Reagan remains determined to avoid the New Party scenario, an alternative is possible. During the next year or so, Reagan should be able to consolidate his position as dominant conservative spokesman, and the probability is that he could score well in the Republican Presidential primaries.

Benson: Penetrator Study A 'Boondoggle'

St. Joseph township Supervisor Orval L. Benson last night called the penetrator environmental study a "$115,000 boondoggle."

Benson also branded the Department of Highways and Transportation "arrogant" for reportedly planning to build a two-mile limited access highway through St. Joseph township — despite what the environmental study uncovers.

Benson said the state already has its mind made up on a penetrator route and the current environmental impact study is just going through the motions.

The state's route is one that would run from I-94 between Lincoln and Washington avenues to Niles avenue and Hilltop road. Right-of-way has been purchased and construction contracts are due to be let in 1976. The environmental impact study being conducted by the Enviro-Pact division of USC, Inc., is considering four routes and a fifth option of not building an I-94 penetrator.

Benson said he is urging township residents to stop at the Enviro-Pact field trailer and register their opinions on the various routes. The trailer is located on Niles avenue, just south of St. Joseph drive.

Benson had completed his comments on the study when Gregg Johnson of 1115 Kingsley avenue, St. Joseph, who came in late, reopened the subject. Benson explained the 10-year-old fight originally was based on township residents' opposition to the penetrator. Benson said he does not know of any change in residents' sentiment. Township Attorney John Crow suggested residents write their congressmen of the highway department decision to build the penetrator without taking into consideration results of the environmental study. Federal funds are involved and federal regulations require environmetal studies, Crow explained.

The township has fought the highway department for 10 years on the penetrator issue. Only in the last two years has the highway department been able to get clear title to the right-of-way through court action.

Eighteen boy scouts of Troop 629, North Lincoln school and two leaders attended the meeting to study local government in action. Each boy will be required to write a report on the meeting.

In other action the board approved the appointment of Dr. Hugo David, former president of Shoreham, to the board of review; heard board of review hearings will be March 10, 11 and 12, and approved tag day sales by the Easter Seal society for March 21 and 22, and Fairplain Youth Baseball association for May 3.

BH Mayor Tells Plans For Future

Benton Harbor Mayor Charles F. Joseph last night outlined industrial and housing developments to help bring the city out of "a state of depression."

Joseph said negotiations are underway for relocation in Benton Harbor of King's World, a Memphis, Tenn., Co., that manufacturers ceramic fixtures. The mayor said the company would employ about 200 women.

Scheduled to begin in May is a 200-unit housing development on a 12-acre site near the corner of Ninth street and Colfax avenue, according to the mayor.

Joseph said the $4 million housing project will be directed by BNR Developers, a private firm from Chicago.

Those were some of the bright points in the mayor's "State of the City" address which described a bleak current economic picture. More than 100 people heard the address at the Benton Harbor public library after the regular city commission meeting at the public library.

Joseph said development of a shopping center on the old fruit market site hopefully will begin in September. The city commission in January granted an option on the 33-acre tract to Great Horizons Development Corp., Gary, Ind.

The mayor also said plans for redevelopment of the central business district and midtown residential areas are underway. Phillip Cantor and Associates of Memphis, Tenn., recently submitted plans for redesigning the central city into clustered commerical and residential areas under the Planned Unit Development concept. The mayor recommended to the commission that the firm be contracted to prepare more precise plans.

Joseph did not give details on negotiations to lure the industry from Tennessee.

He did say that land for the new housing is slated to be purchased from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development by the city for $40,000. The city would then lease the site to the developer.

Joseph said he was seeking designation of Benton Harbor as a state service center which would mean a central office building in the city to house various state agencies.

The mayor also recommended that the commission "move with expediency" to draft tough gun control laws for anyone who is arrested with an illegal weapon.

Joseph said he has not changed his mind not to seek re-election this year. "Being mayor is the toughest job I have ever had," he said. I want to serve the people the way I said I would and I think I have served that purpose." He declined to answer a question on whether that position would change if the form of government was changed to a full-time mayor.

The mayor's address followed a brief city commission meeting.

The commission heard a complaint from Ray White, who said he was representing a group of heroin addicts, protesting the closing of the methadone program in the area. Riverwood Mental Health center discontinued its methadone program early this year after the federal government required additional staff to run such a program.

White said addicts in the area now had to go to Kalamazoo or South Bend for methadone treatment. Mayor Joseph directed Mel Farmer, director of Community Development, to find out if any funds were available to start a program.

The commission approved a resolution to apply to the state Department of Education for funding of the summer lunch program which serves approximately 3,300 meals daily at 10 area schools.

SJ Approves Commodity Purchases Through State

St. Joseph city commissioners last night granted City Manager G.W. Heppler authority to make purchases through the State Purchasing department for certain commodity items used by the city.

Heppler said purchasing through the state would save money. The same request was tabled last week for study.

Before the vote for authorization, Heppler told the commission if approved he would first confer with them before any purchases with the state were made to avoid possible loss of business for local merchants.

Last week Commissioners Joseph Hanley and Lee Selent voiced concern of the effect on local merchants if an agreement with the state were reached.

Also coupled with the authorization approval was the go-ahead to purchase tires and salt through the state. Heppler said the purchase of these items through the state would save money and not effect local business.

In other business last night the commissioners also granted City Atty. A.G. (Pete) Preston authorization to begin condemnation proceedings against four property owners near Ross Field airport.

Preston said the property owners have refused to sell land and air rights to the Twin Cities airport for protection and expansion of the east-west runway.

Preston said they will attempt to get property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Hess, at 655 North Crystal avenue (also known as Barney's Bait & Tackle.)

Preston said they will also attempt to get air rights (60 feet above the ground) to property owned by George Matthews, Tucson, Ariz., on Red Arrow highway near Euclid avenue; property owned by Guy M. Gray at 588 Nort Euclid avenue and property owned by the P.T. Development Co., Coloma, at 684 North Euclid.

Also last night Commissioner Warren Gast called the Dial-A-Ride program a "tremendous losing proposition." Gast made his remarks after studying the January financial report of DART.

Gast said he was concerned because he felt a lot of people were disillusioned with the financial situtation at DART. Gast said the program will not run on forever "as some people think" if it continues to lose money at the present rate.

Mayor Pro em Joseph Hanley, sitting in for Mayor Frank Smith, who was absent, said, "It is possible the public is being misled, but this would be a bad time to do away with the program now."

Hanley said more and more people are using DART especially during these economically hard times. St. Joseph will decide in June on whether to stay with DART.

Heppler commented that DART is still in phase II of operations. Phase III, according to Heppler, is scheduled to begin shortly and will bring daily service to some townships now only served on Saturdays.

In other commission business:

—Public hearing dates were set for two weeks on homes at 523 Church street and 902 Lions Park drive. Both were termed dangerous to public safety by city Building Inspector Carl Conklin. The two family dwelling on Church is owned by Louise Johnson. The single family dwelling on Lions Park drive is owned by Peggy Davis.

—A request was denied from the Black Christian Nationalist church, Detroit, to solicit small donations in the city during March and intermitently throughout the year. A similar request from the same organization was previously denied for December.

Also absent from last night's meeting was Commissioner William Gillespie.

ATTORNEYS PLAN BUSINESS SEMINAR: Attys. Michael E. Dumke (left) and David VanderPloeg discuss topics they will present at "So You've Decided To Go Into Business — What Now?" a meeting to be held Friday, March 14, under sponsorship of Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan. Meeting will be at 8 a.m. in Chamber office, 777 Riverview drive, Benton Harbor. It is the 13th in a series for small businessmen and women, department heads and managers. VanderPloeg is a partner in St. Joseph law firm of Ryan, McQuillan, VanderPloeg and Fette. Dumke is associated with same firm.

Panel Is Only 'Disappointed' With BH City Manager Now

The Benton Harbor Community Development Citizens Advisory board has disavowed a resolution of censure against City Manager Charles A. Morrison.

The board last night released a new resolution expressing "disappointment" with Morrison.

The board had earlier submitted a resolution to the city commission censuring Morrison and his staff for attempting to "undermine and subvert" the work of the board. The charges reportedly stem from a memorandum Morrison issued to the city commission outlining problems in the advisory board's proposed charter.

Arnold Smith, chairman of the advisory board, submitted the new resolution to the city commission last night which state that the board had voted to disclaim the censure and substituted a resolution expressing its disappointment to Morrison because he did not present his memorandum to the board for discussion before presentation to the city commission.

The resolution also stated that the original resolution was "not authorized by the Citizens Advisory board," although that resolution was signed by Chairman Smith.

"We, therefore, wish to put this issue behind us and get on with the business of making this city a true model of citizens, elected officials and staff, working together toward a common goal — the renaissance of our city," the resolution stated.

Hagar Raising Cost Of Building Permits

Hagar township board last night approved increases in the township building permit fees to pay the salary and expenses of township building inspector Floyd Elson.

Rates approved set a minimum charge of $5 for the first $1,000 in estimated construction costs and $2 per $1,000 in additional building costs.

The old rate was $2 for the first $1,000 and $1 for each additional $1,000 in building costs.

Township Supervisor Edward Broderick said Elson has been getting $5 per hour and 15 cents per mile for his inspection work and previous permit fees have not been covering the costs of inspections.

In other areas, the board approved posting road signs on Bundy road denoting East or West Bundy to eliminate confusion along the roads since house numbering was started along both roads. The dividing line will be I-196.

Broderick announced the annual township meeting will be held Saturday, April 5, at 1:30 p.m. in the township hall in Riverside.

Township Clerk Howard Bishop said the board will meet at the hall Friday, March 14, at 8 p.m. for the purpose of establishing a special assessment district to grade, drain, gravel and prime and double seal Chestnut street from West Hagar Shore road to Hagar Place and Hagar Place from Chestnut street to Ohio street.

New Management Reopening Rampart

Rampart Ambulance service was scheduled to reopen today under new management.

The new president of Rampart is Frank Piller, Jr., of Kalamazoo. Mrs. Sherry Kleaveland, new vice president, said Piller bought $9,000 worth of stock from former Rampart board President Bruce Leavitt and former board Chairman-Secretary Richard Monroe.

Mrs. Kleaveland said Piller's purchase was for 51 per cent of the stock. Named general manager of Rampart was Piller's brother, Rudy, 24, of Bridgman. He is a former Rampart attendant who left the company before it stopped service.

Rampart stopped ambulance service on Feb. 14 because of financial troubles, including a $5,000 debt to a service station.

Rampart, according to Mrs. Kleaveland, will be open around the clock at the same location, 1496 M-139 Benton township, and same telephone number as before.

Mrs. Kleaveland was an attendant with the former Rampart service and will continue in that capacity along with being vice president.

Rudy Piller said, "From now on we'll buy everything on a cash-on-delivery basis, in hopes of avoiding other debts."

"In the meantime we hope to continue paying off the debts incurred by the previous management," he said.

In a press release yesterday Rampart reported the following:

"A major factor in Rampart's closing was financial problems and two ambulance services in the area. We are reopening not because the problems have disappeared, but due to the number of hours training invested by the staff.

"Our peronnel has the most up-to-date training available provided by local physicians at Memorial and Mercy hospitals.

"We had developed a high level of services and the people liked the care we delivered.

"We are optimistic that by reopening we may be favorably considered for any support the municipalities we serve may provide in order for us to continue to upgrade the pre-hospital care a patient receives in a crisis situation."

Prior to closing Rampart had 12 attendants. Mrs. Kleaveland said the staff now will have seven attendants.

Local Thickets In Railroad Reorganization

"We hear the engine's whistle
"And the lonesome hobo's call,
"As we ride the rods and brakebeams
"On the Wabash Cannonball."

This romantic interlude in American railroading went the way of the dodo bird before many of our readers were born; and if a projection by the U.S. Railway Association to revitalize seven ailing midwestern and northeastern carriers becomes a reality our customers in Mattawan, Lawton, Decatur, Dowagiac, Buchanan, Galien and Three Oaks may have to buy a record or a tape to catch the sound given by a diesel's air horn.

This is the prospect under a USRA plan whereby some 1,100 miles of track in Michigan's lower peninsula would be abandoned outright and another 300 miles would be continued under Conrail. Still to be effectuated by Congress, Conrail is a government corporation that would operate a rail freight service deemed essential to the midwestern and northeastern industrial region.

The Conrail concept arose from the Penn Central bankruptcy.

PC's collapse brought into the open what all transportation experts had warned of for many years.

This vast territory needs rail transportation if its economy is to survive, but it can not support that surplus of competing trackage between main points nor the multiplicity of branch lines into areas whose freighting requirements have undergone radical change.

The remedy is the radical surgery of pruning away the needless competition and trackage that is not even marginal.

USRA's local application of the doctrine will leave Dowagiac and Buchanan in a limbo.

It would abandon the Penn Central trackage from Kalamazoo to Dowagiac and from Dowagiac to Buchanan; and re-route Penn Central, via Conrail, over the PC tracks from Kalamazoo south through Vicksburg and Three Rivers to Elkhart, and thence west to Chicago. Conrail would prop up a PC spur between the Twin Cities and Niles from which freight would run on another PC branch to South Bend.

The USRA's sidetracking of Dowagiac proceeds on two assumptions.

One is that our Cass county neighbor is not a traffic generator such as Niles or the Twin Cities.

Secondly, that the Grand Trunk on its Chicago to Kalamazoo run curves slightly east from Dowagiac and by truck transhipment does not leave the Cass community utterly bereft of rail service. Being in somewhat better financial shape than Penn Central, the Canadian National subsidiary does not figure in the Conrail rescue mission.

While the first hypothesis is correct as to facts presently existent, it presumes quite a bit.

The abandonment will adversely affect Dowagiac industry dependent upon rail transportation and will scratch the town for any future plant development that is rail oriented.

Conrail must be toughminded if it is to meet the overall goal of regional assistance.

Postal Department In A Vicious Cycle?

Because of rising postal rates there is a distinct possibility mail volume will decline this year, the first time since the 1930s there has not been an increase. The new postmaster general, Benjamin F. Bailar, acknowledges the volume during the Christmas season was down 4.5 per cent from the previous year and the average daily handling is about the same as a year ago.

At the same time Bailar is promoting another increase in letter rates, from 10 cents to 12 or 13 cents. When queried about the need for an increase after the 25 per cent rise in first class rates added in 1974, a spokesman for the service said part of it would go to make up for an anticipated lower volume of mail.

That is a cycle which can feed upon itself. If the new rate is adopted this year, the cost of mailing a letter will have doubled since 1968. Not only is that a much faster rate of inflation than the general economy has experienced, but the cost to the public is considerably more than pennies. The average daily volume of mail exceeds 300 million pieces.

That Extra 50 Years

It may be true that the first 100 years are the hardest, but what of the next 50? A British physician predicts man soon may be living to 150, and he also seems to have a fairly good idea what it may be like.

To begin with, the human eye, the doctor says, begins to lose its elasticity at the age of 10. Next, at age 20, man's hearing begins to taper off. After 50 years the sense of taste deteriorates and the 75-year-old has only 88 of the 288 taste buds he had at maturity. And meanwhile, ever since he was 60, his sense of smell has been fading.

To top it all, in adulthood he loses height at the rate of half an inch every 20 years.

So what is the outlook for the individual of the future who has traveled those "hardest" 100 years and faces the final "easier" 50? Well, by the British doctor's calculations, his eyes will have been on the downhill 90 years. His hearing will have been deteriorating 80 years.

For the previous 50 years things would have been progressively less tasty, and for the same period the tantalizing odors of the finer things of life would have been less and less perceptible to him. And he would be about two inches shorter than in his prime.

All things considered, it looks as though those last 50 years had better be easier. Else the man of the future will not have enough of his original equipment left to care whether he lives that long.

HER CREDULITY IS STRAINED

Editor,

I have recently been exposed to a policy of your paper which I must view with much regret and incredulity. I am referring to your policy of using a husband's name in reference to a woman who just happens to be married to him. Your policy of using Mrs. (husband's first name husband's last name) is both antiquated and demeaning to the woman. It may even be illegal in some instances.

A woman does have a first and a last name, this is not a phenomenon peculiar only to the male of our species. In many instances of marriage, the man and woman may have the same last name, but they certainly have different first names. When referring to a married woman in an article you could at least give her the right to be recognized by friends, etc., as the article concerns her. One way is in which this could be done is to use her given name.

Now, many women are keeping their maiden names when they marry. This is entirely legal, permissible and sanctioned in 49 of our 50 states, and it must be pointed out that our state is indeed one of these. A woman's legal name may be Mrs. (maiden's name, Miss maiden's name or Ms. maiden's name.) The last of which I understand your paper does not even recognize as a viable form of addressing a woman.

When writing about a woman, she should be consulted as to how she wishes her name to appear in print. This is only a courteous and proper thing to do. It troubles me that your policies border on the discourteous, demeaning, depersonalizing and last, but definitely in no way the least, very chauvinistic.

To deny a woman her right to her own identity is almost to deny that woman exists. The fact is, she does exist, and should be treated with the same courtesy and respect given to any other person.

It is obvious that your policies have a way to go before one can say "You've come a long way, baby."

MEANY'S DETENTE STAND PRAISED

Editor,

Detente is an idea for which the United States seems willing to sacrifice a great deal. The folly of this policy has been eloquently pointed out by George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, in a statement which he made to the Senate Foreign Relations committee. It is unfortunate that this statement was not given the publicity it deserves. Following are some quotations worth pondering by every American:

"Detente should not be construed as signifying a change in Soviet international objectives. In fact detente is simply a new tactic, a new means toward the old end — the worldwide advance and ultimate victory of communism. . . ."

"While detente has produced a silly euphoria in the West, it is viewed with cold calculation in the Soviet Union. While the detente has made anti-communism unfashionable in the West — and you know of course, that anti-communism is out of style with the 'best' people — in the East detente means an intensification of ideological

Calvin Coolidge became the 30th President of the United States on August 3, 1923, through the death of President Harding, and today became the second man in the history of the republic to be inaugurated chief executive in his own right after having been elevated directly from the vice-presidency to the nation's highest office. The other so honored was Theodore Roosevelt.

For the first time in 19 months the country has a vice-president. Vice President Dawes also took his oath and delivered his inaugural address today.

A new turnpike traversing the thickly inhabited country east of Benton Harbor is now assured. Mr. J.F. Lee, the promoter of the new gravel road between here and Sister Lakes, states that $900 has been donated so far toward the improvement. He desires to thank the citizens of Benton Harbor for responding so liberally since Thursday. Money has been raised at Sorter's Corners, Pearl Grange and Spink's Corners and work will be commenced at once. The road will be a good thing for this city.

Dr. W.A. Baker, of Coloma, has purchased the Marble shop of A.J. Enders in Benton Harbor and will continue the business.

Congressmen Need Only To Ask

WASHINGTON — Like so many abused children Congressmen incessantly complain they have no way of checking the President's mammoth budgets.

They cry excessively over defense, foreign aid, space and atomic energy, health, education and welfare.

I can sympathize with a freshman Senator or Representative. There's no excuse for anyone with two years' service, however.

The budget is not snapped in Congressional faces overnight. The lawmakers toy with the figures for eight months, which is why the budget year is being shifted from July 1 to October 1. Every item goes through two committees. Every member has access to a copy of the full budget for those eight months. So does every news office in town, for free and every citizen who wishes to buy a copy.

Congress has access to three research staffs, its own and those of the General Accounting Office and the Library of Congress. If these are inefficient or too small, the Senate and House have the power to expand them to any level they choose. Congress has been more interested in raising its own pay.

Congressmen further could improve the staff work of their own committees by eliminating political favoritism.

Each member of Congress can inquire of any government department — Defense, State, Interior or whatever — any time during the year and demand answers to any budget questions. He can do this repeatedly. He has access to a number of research institutions, such as Brookings, each with its own slant, and get analyses of major budget items. These academic and semi-academic groups range from the far liberal to far conservative.

There are, in addition, a vast panoply of special-interest groups, some attacking and some defending the defense, foreign affairs, economic, welfare and other specific sections of the budget in detail.

No individual Congressman need look up these associations and their studies. The Library of Congress will do this searching on request. And make easily read synopses.

To top it all, the budget is not that difficult for any Senator or Representative who has been around awhile. Though distressingly large, $350 billion for fiscal 1976, some 90 to 95 per cent of the money goes for old programs, usually only slightly modified for inflation. Thus if a Congressman has once gotten a handle on the budget, or the part which interests him, he normally must dig only into the changes in order to understand what is going on. He will not have to search for "secrets;" for he will be given tips aplenty by proponents and opponents of the new programs.

Remember, too, that Congressmen, by choice and by appointment, divide up the work. No man by himself must study the whole of the budget. He can call on colleagues in whom he has faith to fill him in on those areas which have not been his prime concern.

The average Senator and Representative is not interested. He wants only to find a few choice matters he can attack, or support — ones that will win him votes with his constituents or his backers. He excuses his ignorance with a smoke screen. If he's opposed to foreign aid, but too lazy to get a few answers, he can attack "the striped pants boys." If eager to issue a press release against big military spending, he can attack the "budget manipulations of the generals and admirals."

Chasm Separates Reagan, Wallace

Sources of my own close to Governor George Wallace of Alabama state flatly that Governor Wallace would be willing to run for the Vice Presidency in 1976 on a New Party ticket headed by former Governor Ronald Reagan of California. They also report, however, that Wallace does not consider Reagan "serious" about either a new party or a Wallace alliance.

In his appearance before the recent conclave of conservatives in Washington, D.C., Reagan, though guarded and delphic, provided some evidence that Wallace is correct in his conclusions; his rhetoric coming down rather heavily on the need to revitalize conservative principle within the Republican Party. Moreover, in a subsequent interview with N.Y. Times reporter Bobby Apple he went still further. Reagan volunteered the observation that his differences with Wallace on economic philosphy are serious — that Wallace does not object to government intervention in the economy, but merely disapproves of the liberal welfarist variety, whereas he, Reagan, objects to government intervention altogether.

Other sources of mine, family with Reagan's more privately expressed attitudes, point out that he has misgivings concerning Wallace less easily defined — partly deriving from Wallace's segregationist stands of a decade ago, partly concerning matters of style and temperament.

So, at least as of now, Reagan-Wallace New Party scenario is in trouble, though it is the favored scenario of most conservative tacticians.

In its broad outlines, however, and whatever institutional form it might take, the Reagan-Wallace scenario remains valid:

1) The Wallace constituency in the South and outside it, when added to the traditional Republican conservative constituency, almost certainly constitutes a national majority, and by all indices a growing one. Even liberal analysts now refer casually to the "conservative tide" in the nation at large.

2) The older economic quarrel between blue-collar union types and Republican entrepreneur and freemarket types has been entirely transformed during the past ten years. Both groups, formerly at loggerheads, now see a growing slice of their tax dollar going to support a whole spectrum of welfarist programs and other HEW-type ventures. The blue-collar voters and the entrepreneurs are now seeing their money line the pockets of Federal bureaucrats, social engineers, and other members of the new elite and its dependencies.

3) In a recent editorial on conservative stirrings, the New York Times characterized President Gerald Ford as a "solid Midwestern conservative," and in a sense the Times was absolutely correct. It is also true that Ford lacks the mandate and appears to lack the combativeness necessary to meet head-on the new-elite special interests that have a stake in growing Federal budgets. Though a conservative in many ways, Ford is also a compromiser and a temporizer and evidently not the man to fight the particular battle that needs to be fought now.

Nevertheless, if Ronald Reagan remains determined to avoid the New Party scenario, an alternative is possible. During the next year or so, Reagan should be able to consolidate his position as dominant conservative spokesman, and the probability is that he could score well in the Republican Presidential primaries.

COMMUNITY CONCERTS

Duo Project Warmth

By SAN DEE WALLACE
Staff Writer

Addiss and Crofut are billed as folk singers — but they are more — much more.

True, they do play and sing folk music — but they do it with more talent and finesse than classical artists.

They are truly great artists and they present music of the people — the common people.

Providing the third concert of the current Community Concerts association season Sunday at St. Joseph high school auditorium, Steve Addiss and Bill Crofut established a camaraderie with the audience that lasted throughout the program.

The result was that the audience did not want them to leave — asking and getting — encores.

The warmth the duo projected was returned by the audience and after the concert Addiss remarked on the wonderful response of the audience.

Currently on their sixth full concert tour of the United States, Addiss and Crofut are no strangers to the twin cities and about 12 years ago performed at The Unicorn, a former coffee house in Benton Harbor.

The first portion of their program was a preview of a concert they are preparing for the United States Bicentennial and was a history of the country in music.

The dates for the "history" was presented in presidential campaign songs.

The two folk singers are masters of their instruments with Addiss on guitar and Crofut on banjo and their voices are excellent combining in a perfect blend with one complementing the other.

They demonstrated how a simple melody used in nursery rhymes can be found throughout the world. It may be changed, slowed or in minor key, but still is the same tune. They took one such rhyme and sang it in Sicilian, Ukranian and Israeli. They said in trying to locate the source of the tune, the oldest they could find was in an Austrian hymn.

Much of the folk music we know was written or composed in difficult times, they said. Some has become so familiar we forget what the words originally meant. One such song is "Rock Candy Mountain," now known as a children's song, but was originally a hobo dream song.

They presented songs from various parts of the country, "Git Along Little Doggie," West; "No More Auction Block For Me," South; and "Old Man's Lament," Appalachia.

Both men have toured the world extensively and in their program touched on folk usic from other parts of the world. They superbly presented a Southeast Asian Flute Medley with Addiss on the soprano recorder and Crofut on banjo.

Addiss deftly switched from guitar to piano for "Piano Variations" by Mozart.

Crofut has transcribed some of Bartok's piano works for banjo and gave an expert demonstration of two of the works.

Crofut sang one of the most beautiful pieces presented during the program — a song he composed for the words of a poem by John Clare, a 19th Century English bucolic poet.

Among the most popular portions of the program were the sing-a-longs — when they asked the audience to join them in "Hobo's Lullaby," "No More Auction Block For Me," "Amazing Grace" and "America, The Beautiful."

And, although a blizzard raged outside, the audience went home — humming and smiling.

Haydn Oratorio At AU

JAMES HANSON

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The 110-voice Andrews university Chorale will perform the "Creation," an oratorio by Franz Joseph Haydn, Saturday, March 8, at 3:30 p.m. in the university church.

James Hanson will direct the Chorale in the second of its three major performances this year.

Stanley Ware, tenor, a voice teacher at Oakwood college, Huntsville, Ala., will be guest soloist. He has taken graduate work at Julliard School of Music under Hans Heintz.

Rudolf Srukoff, assistant professor of music and director of the University Singers, will be bass soloist.

Susan La Rosa and Devvie Washington, senior voice majors at AU, will be soprano soloists.

Professor Warren Becker will accompany at the organ.

Haydn composed the "Creation" in 1797, using a German translation compiled by Lidley from Milton's "Paradise Lost."

The "Creation" was first performed in Vienna in 1798.

Nursing Opportunities Expand

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Women's lib may have turned some girls away from entering such a "traditional woman's career" as nursing, but Dean Loretta Ford of the University of Rochester's School of Nursing says that women's lib has helped the nursing profession also.

"Women's lib has expanded the opportunities in nursing. In the last 10 years we've had a couple of developments that have been noteworthy — the practitioner movement and masters' degree specialists.

"The practitioner nurses work, for instances, in out-patient clinics. They do a very good job assessing the actual or potential health needs of people. They do a head-to-toe examination of the person, identifying with that person his health problems. They help him manage his daily living patterns. If he needs medical resources, they may consult on it.

"A nurse might manage most of the health care problems of a chronically ill person, for instance, following his diagnosis. He needs to maintain as much health as he has.

"If he is diabetic, has high blood pressure or arthritis, a lot of his problems are related to how he lives every day. A nurse can generate ideas for that person and help him adapt. She can provide for a plan of care that will maintain his level of health.

"This becomes an effective health dimension and also an economic one. If he doesn't use his resources well, he ends up in a hospital.

"One of the problems today is that people don't take care of their health. They give the care of it over to somebody else."

Dean Ford continues, "Another exciting area that women's lib has helped us along with is that of nurses developing specialties at the graduate level. They then work with children's hospitals, children in family settings, adult care, etc.

"This takes five forms.

"A nurse gives expert, direct care to people in the area of her specialty — for instance cardiovascular nursing.

"She teaches patients and their families about their particular disease and about how they may live most healthfully every day.

"She teaches nurses — staff or students.

"She offers consultation to agencies and individuals in her major area of interest.

"She conducts research or studies related to nursing problems."

She says, "A lot of nurses went in to nurse patients. Then they became managers. They had to. They graduated from nursing patients to a desk — ordering supplies, doing paperwork, seeing that meal trays were delivered.

"Here in Rochester we're really nursing the patients. We're putting our best-qualified nurses close to the patients and bringing in other people to do nonnursing functions.

"We look on the nurse as concerned about the person in health and illness — in preventing illness, taking care of patients and as interested in recuperation as in giving the ill person care."

Another plus from women's lib, Dean Ford says, is what it has done for men. "Men have wanted to be nurses and some haven't because it wasn't socially acceptable. Now it has become okay in society for men to apply to nursing schools and be nurses. Of course we encourage this. We're interested in the kind of person who wants to be a good nurse.

"Women's lib has liberated everybody to do his thing and to be pretty vocal about it."

DEAN, NURSE, BABY: Dean Loretta Ford of the University of Rochester's School of Nursing believes in a nurse being with patients, not sitting at a desk in a hospital corridor ordering supplies and writing on charts. Dean Ford also believes that women's lib has been good for nursing, expanding opportunities in the field and making it acceptable for men to be nurses.

Display French Paintings

The Detroit Institute of Arts' "Show of the Year" opens to the public for a nine-week run beginning Wednesday, March 5.

Direct from the Louvre in Paris, the unprecedented loan of masterpieces from French national museums requires 11 galleries for display at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Formally Titled "French Paintings 1774-1830: The Age of Revolution," the exhibition also marks the first official event of the Bicentennial celebration in Detroit.

6The paintings include Delacroix's "Liberty Leading the People," making its first visit to the United States; David's "Death of Socrates"; Ingres' "Napoleon on his Imperial Throne," the official portrait of the Emperior loaned by the French War Musuem, and Fragonard's "The Lock," just acquired by the Louvre.

The French exhibition will be open six days weekly, Tuesdays through Sundays, 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., until Sunday, May 4. The museum will also be open on Friday evenings, excepting Good Friday, until 9 p.m.

Medicine Folk Lore Program Thursday

KEELER — Southwest Hartford Thursday club will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday, March 16, at the home of Mrs. Carlton Kronewetter, 77th avenue.

Mrs. Dora Kaucher will present a program on "Folk Medicines," which will include folk lore and kitchen remedies to modern medicines and how many superstitions have proven false.

Mrs. Henry Dentler will give the meditations and Mrs. Ruth White will be in charge of the social hour.

Camera Exhibit Set At LMC

"The Camera and Eye," a traveling exhibition of nearly 40 photographs from leading American and European photographers from 1925 to the present, will be on display March 13-26 in the Lake Michigan college library.

The exhibit, to be sent to LMC from the Detroit Institue of Arts, is the fourth event of the current semester sponsored by the LMC Cultural Events committee, according to William Hessel, dean of libraries and committee chairman.

The photo exhibit will be divided into eight major sections, including: nature, individuals, form, poetic images, documenting, documentaries, urban scenes and news events.

The exhibition will be open to the public free of charge from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., Mondays through Thursdays; from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Fridays, and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays.

Uncollected Royalties

NEW YORK (AP) — John Philip Sousa III, the march king's grandson, has formed a corporation for the purpose of collecting royalties on some 80 titles written by Sousa still protected by federal copyright laws.

Many people think that all of Sousa's music is in the public domain, his grandson says.

"Stars and Stripes Forever," the most celebrated of Sousa's works, no longer is covered by copyright in the United States. But "Washington Post March," "El Capitan," "Hands Across the Sea" and many others are.

Some sheet music printers who sell to school marching bands don't pay required royalities. The corporation is going to determine whether it is getting a fair shake from publishers.

John Philip Sousa III believes that more than $1 million has been lost in uncollected royalties.

Club Circuit

ST. JOSEPH AUXILIARY to Child and Family Services of Michigan will meet at 1 p.m. Friday, March 7, at the home of Mrs. Gene Robinson, 1965 Valley Ciew drive, St. Joseph. Other committee members are Mrs. Ralph Simons Jr., Mrs. John Schrieber, Mrs. Louis Schroeder and Mrs. Ralph Simons.

Benson: Penetrator Study A 'Boondoggle'

St. Joseph township Supervisor Orval L. Benson last night called the penetrator environmental study a "$115,000 boondoggle."

Benson also branded the Department of Highways and Transportation "arrogant" for reportedly planning to build a two-mile limited access highway through St. Joseph township — despite what the environmental study uncovers.

Benson said the state already has its mind made up on a penetrator route and the current environmental impact study is just going through the motions.

The state's route is one that would run from I-94 between Lincoln and Washington avenues to Niles avenue and Hilltop road. Right-of-way has been purchased and construction contracts are due to be let in 1976. The environmental impact study being conducted by the Enviro-Pact division of USC, Inc., is considering four routes and a fifth option of not building an I-94 penetrator.

Benson said he is urging township residents to stop at the Enviro-Pact field trailer and register their opinions on the various routes. The trailer is located on Niles avenue, just south of St. Joseph drive.

Benson had completed his comments on the study when Gregg Johnson of 1115 Kingsley avenue, St. Joseph, who came in late, reopened the subject. Benson explained the 10-year-old fight originally was based on township residents' opposition to the penetrator. Benson said he does not know of any change in residents' sentiment. Township Attorney John Crow suggested residents write their congressmen of the highway department decision to build the penetrator without taking into consideration results of the environmental study. Federal funds are involved and federal regulations require environmetal studies, Crow explained.

The township has fought the highway department for 10 years on the penetrator issue. Only in the last two years has the highway department been able to get clear title to the right-of-way through court action.

Eighteen boy scouts of Troop 629, North Lincoln school and two leaders attended the meeting to study local government in action. Each boy will be required to write a report on the meeting.

In other action the board approved the appointment of Dr. Hugo David, former president of Shoreham, to the board of review; heard board of review hearings will be March 10, 11 and 12, and approved tag day sales by the Easter Seal society for March 21 and 22, and Fairplain Youth Baseball association for May 3.

BH Mayor Tells Plans For Future

Benton Harbor Mayor Charles F. Joseph last night outlined industrial and housing developments to help bring the city out of "a state of depression."

Joseph said negotiations are underway for relocation in Benton Harbor of King's World, a Memphis, Tenn., Co., that manufacturers ceramic fixtures. The mayor said the company would employ about 200 women.

Scheduled to begin in May is a 200-unit housing development on a 12-acre site near the corner of Ninth street and Colfax avenue, according to the mayor.

Joseph said the $4 million housing project will be directed by BNR Developers, a private firm from Chicago.

Those were some of the bright points in the mayor's "State of the City" address which described a bleak current economic picture. More than 100 people heard the address at the Benton Harbor public library after the regular city commission meeting at the public library.

Joseph said development of a shopping center on the old fruit market site hopefully will begin in September. The city commission in January granted an option on the 33-acre tract to Great Horizons Development Corp., Gary, Ind.

The mayor also said plans for redevelopment of the central business district and midtown residential areas are underway. Phillip Cantor and Associates of Memphis, Tenn., recently submitted plans for redesigning the central city into clustered commerical and residential areas under the Planned Unit Development concept. The mayor recommended to the commission that the firm be contracted to prepare more precise plans.

Joseph did not give details on negotiations to lure the industry from Tennessee.

He did say that land for the new housing is slated to be purchased from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development by the city for $40,000. The city would then lease the site to the developer.

Joseph said he was seeking designation of Benton Harbor as a state service center which would mean a central office building in the city to house various state agencies.

The mayor also recommended that the commission "move with expediency" to draft tough gun control laws for anyone who is arrested with an illegal weapon.

Joseph said he has not changed his mind not to seek re-election this year. "Being mayor is the toughest job I have ever had," he said. I want to serve the people the way I said I would and I think I have served that purpose." He declined to answer a question on whether that position would change if the form of government was changed to a full-time mayor.

The mayor's address followed a brief city commission meeting.

The commission heard a complaint from Ray White, who said he was representing a group of heroin addicts, protesting the closing of the methadone program in the area. Riverwood Mental Health center discontinued its methadone program early this year after the federal government required additional staff to run such a program.

White said addicts in the area now had to go to Kalamazoo or South Bend for methadone treatment. Mayor Joseph directed Mel Farmer, director of Community Development, to find out if any funds were available to start a program.

The commission approved a resolution to apply to the state Department of Education for funding of the summer lunch program which serves approximately 3,300 meals daily at 10 area schools.

SJ Approves Commodity Purchases Through State

St. Joseph city commissioners last night granted City Manager G.W. Heppler authority to make purchases through the State Purchasing department for certain commodity items used by the city.

Heppler said purchasing through the state would save money. The same request was tabled last week for study.

Before the vote for authorization, Heppler told the commission if approved he would first confer with them before any purchases with the state were made to avoid possible loss of business for local merchants.

Last week Commissioners Joseph Hanley and Lee Selent voiced concern of the effect on local merchants if an agreement with the state were reached.

Also coupled with the authorization approval was the go-ahead to purchase tires and salt through the state. Heppler said the purchase of these items through the state would save money and not effect local business.

In other business last night the commissioners also granted City Atty. A.G. (Pete) Preston authorization to begin condemnation proceedings against four property owners near Ross Field airport.

Preston said the property owners have refused to sell land and air rights to the Twin Cities airport for protection and expansion of the east-west runway.

Preston said they will attempt to get property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Ruben Hess, at 655 North Crystal avenue (also known as Barney's Bait & Tackle.)

Preston said they will also attempt to get air rights (60 feet above the ground) to property owned by George Matthews, Tucson, Ariz., on Red Arrow highway near Euclid avenue; property owned by Guy M. Gray at 588 Nort Euclid avenue and property owned by the P.T. Development Co., Coloma, at 684 North Euclid.

Also last night Commissioner Warren Gast called the Dial-A-Ride program a "tremendous losing proposition." Gast made his remarks after studying the January financial report of DART.

Gast said he was concerned because he felt a lot of people were disillusioned with the financial situtation at DART. Gast said the program will not run on forever "as some people think" if it continues to lose money at the present rate.

Mayor Pro em Joseph Hanley, sitting in for Mayor Frank Smith, who was absent, said, "It is possible the public is being misled, but this would be a bad time to do away with the program now."

Hanley said more and more people are using DART especially during these economically hard times. St. Joseph will decide in June on whether to stay with DART.

Heppler commented that DART is still in phase II of operations. Phase III, according to Heppler, is scheduled to begin shortly and will bring daily service to some townships now only served on Saturdays.

In other commission business:

—Public hearing dates were set for two weeks on homes at 523 Church street and 902 Lions Park drive. Both were termed dangerous to public safety by city Building Inspector Carl Conklin. The two family dwelling on Church is owned by Louise Johnson. The single family dwelling on Lions Park drive is owned by Peggy Davis.

—A request was denied from the Black Christian Nationalist church, Detroit, to solicit small donations in the city during March and intermitently throughout the year. A similar request from the same organization was previously denied for December.

Also absent from last night's meeting was Commissioner William Gillespie.

ATTORNEYS PLAN BUSINESS SEMINAR: Attys. Michael E. Dumke (left) and David VanderPloeg discuss topics they will present at "So You've Decided To Go Into Business — What Now?" a meeting to be held Friday, March 14, under sponsorship of Twin Cities Area Chamber of Commerce and First National Bank of Southwestern Michigan. Meeting will be at 8 a.m. in Chamber office, 777 Riverview drive, Benton Harbor. It is the 13th in a series for small businessmen and women, department heads and managers. VanderPloeg is a partner in St. Joseph law firm of Ryan, McQuillan, VanderPloeg and Fette. Dumke is associated with same firm.

Hagar Raising Cost Of Building Permits

Hagar township board last night approved increases in the township building permit fees to pay the salary and expenses of township building inspector Floyd Elson.

Rates approved set a minimum charge of $5 for the first $1,000 in estimated construction costs and $2 per $1,000 in additional building costs.

The old rate was $2 for the first $1,000 and $1 for each additional $1,000 in building costs.

Township Supervisor Edward Broderick said Elson has been getting $5 per hour and 15 cents per mile for his inspection work and previous permit fees have not been covering the costs of inspections.

In other areas, the board approved posting road signs on Bundy road denoting East or West Bundy to eliminate confusion along the roads since house numbering was started along both roads. The dividing line will be I-196.

Broderick announced the annual township meeting will be held Saturday, April 5, at 1:30 p.m. in the township hall in Riverside.

Township Clerk Howard Bishop said the board will meet at the hall Friday, March 14, at 8 p.m. for the purpose of establishing a special assessment district to grade, drain, gravel and prime and double seal Chestnut street from West Hagar Shore road to Hagar Place and Hagar Place from Chestnut street to Ohio street.

New Management Reopening Rampart

Rampart Ambulance service was scheduled to reopen today under new management.

The new president of Rampart is Frank Piller, Jr., of Kalamazoo. Mrs. Sherry Kleaveland, new vice president, said Piller bought $9,000 worth of stock from former Rampart board President Bruce Leavitt and former board Chairman-Secretary Richard Monroe.

Mrs. Kleaveland said Piller's purchase was for 51 per cent of the stock. Named general manager of Rampart was Piller's brother, Rudy, 24, of Bridgman. He is a former Rampart attendant who left the company before it stopped service.

Rampart stopped ambulance service on Feb. 14 because of financial troubles, including a $5,000 debt to a service station.

Rampart, according to Mrs. Kleaveland, will be open around the clock at the same location, 1496 M-139 Benton township, and same telephone number as before.

Mrs. Kleaveland was an attendant with the former Rampart service and will continue in that capacity along with being vice president.

Rudy Piller said, "From now on we'll buy everything on a cash-on-delivery basis, in hopes of avoiding other debts."

"In the meantime we hope to continue paying off the debts incurred by the previous management," he said.

In a press release yesterday Rampart reported the following:

"A major factor in Rampart's closing was financial problems and two ambulance services in the area. We are reopening not because the problems have disappeared, but due to the number of hours training invested by the staff.

"Our peronnel has the most up-to-date training available provided by local physicians at Memorial and Mercy hospitals.

"We had developed a high level of services and the people liked the care we delivered.

"We are optimistic that by reopening we may be favorably considered for any support the municipalities we serve may provide in order for us to continue to upgrade the pre-hospital care a patient receives in a crisis situation."

Prior to closing Rampart had 12 attendants. Mrs. Kleaveland said the staff now will have seven attendants.

Panel Is Only 'Disappointed' With BH City Manager Now

The Benton Harbor Community Development Citizens Advisory board has disavowed a resolution of censure against City Manager Charles A. Morrison.

The board last night released a new resolution expressing "disappointment" with Morrison.

The board had earlier submitted a resolution to the city commission censuring Morrison and his staff for attempting to "undermine and subvert" the work of the board. The charges reportedly stem from a memorandum Morrison issued to the city commission outlining problems in the advisory board's proposed charter.

Arnold Smith, chairman of the advisory board, submitted the new resolution to the city commission last night which state that the board had voted to disclaim the censure and substituted a resolution expressing its disappointment to Morrison because he did not present his memorandum to the board for discussion before presentation to the city commission.

The resolution also stated that the original resolution was "not authorized by the Citizens Advisory board," although that resolution was signed by Chairman Smith.

"We, therefore, wish to put this issue behind us and get on with the business of making this city a true model of citizens, elected officials and staff, working together toward a common goal — the renaissance of our city," the resolution stated.

A May 3 wedding is planned.

WHITE FOR TEENS

Crisp, white-cotton denim short jacket over matching halter and shorts — all nail studded, with a star or flower pattern on the back of jacket — goes anywhere she goes.

Teens Choose 'Country-Look'

NEW YORK — This spring teenage girls will wear a "farmer's daughter" pinafore one day, a workman's uniform the next.

Clothes that go back to basics suit today's casual way of life, says the March "Seventeen." The country look evokes a rural Americana in calicos, ginghams patchworks, small-scale prints and sturdy solids. The uniform look reaches its height this season, with lots of khaki and olive drab in bigtops, shorts, culottes and pants.

COUNTRY-BRED CLOTHES are keynoted by pinafores and aprons that often are ankle-length for an effect similar to the ones farm women used to wear. Most have the authentic look of provincial prints, shoulder ruffles, square necklines and bows that tie in back. Another down-home idea with a right now twist: print and solid pairings of loose, shashed overblouses and flounded mid-calf shirts.

"UNIFORM" covers all kinds of shapes from military to workmen's clothes. It's broad enough to include a khaki bigdress that pops right over your head, and a beige surplice-wrap jumper on the longer side. "Uniforms" with an authentic attitude include an olive green shirt jacket and matching pocketed culottes, and khaki chino pants and dropped-shoulder shirt.

A dark blue bigtop middy pairs with long cuffed shorts in lighter blue, and metallic blue nylon cire makes a new kind of aviator's jacket.

Children's Issues

EAST LANSING — Sociology is about to shift its major attention to studies of interfaces between nations and peoples and cultures, and the social problems of children already beset by the changing lifestyles of adults.

The prediction was made by Dr. Ruth Hill Useem, Michigan State university professor of sociology and of the Institute for International Studies in Education. She spoke at a colloquy at the MSU University club.

"We have crises brewing in both of these areas," she said, "and our concepts are primitive for studying and understanding them.

"Their complexities are so great that we will need to build on all of our prior knowledge," she said.

"We need to rub elbows with renegades from economics and geology and physics and chemistry. I'm not at all sure that we will be able to pull it off but if we do, it will be global in its conception. The meeting of minds in this field will take place outside the United States, perhaps in the Intercontinental Hotel of Iran, flown by Pan Am."

Dr. Useem has for many years concerned herself with those American child nationals who live abroad with their parents who serve in diplomatic, military, religious, educational and technical assistance programs and business enterprises.

Changes and revolutions in social sciences, the professor explained, are more related to the happenings of society than to the internal questions raised by the discipline itself.

"Revolutions and crises in society come faster than they did. The radical generation is now over 30 and can no longer feel at ease with the new generation coming into sociology as undergraduates.

"Publications on women have multiplied vastly and have challenged the middle-range theories of earlier time. Blacks and Chicanos are being trained to look at ethnic groups. Controversey rages among the various approaches and no longer can one department cover the whole of the field of sociology as it could before World War II.

Changes which occurred before the war were highlighted by the arrival in America of anti-fascist emigres and the "unexpectedly receptive atmosphere for many ideas which had been regarded with hostility and suspicion in Europe."

Style Show Set

BENEFIT: Proceeds from the Berrien Springs Jaycee Auxiliary's spring style show, scheduled for Tuesday, March 11, will be donated to the Berrien County Cancer Service. The show, which will feature fashions from the Clothesline, St. Joseph, will begin at 7:30 p.m. at United Methodist church, Berrien Springs. Tickets are $1.50 and may be purchased from any auxiliary member, at the Clothesline, or at the door. Models will be auxiliary members. Mrs. Bruce Thomas, left, models pale blue 100 per cent polyester double knit pants with front buckle. The tailored blouse is blue print and 100 per cent nylon. The outfit is machine washable. Mrs. Paul Pantaleo III is wearing an apple green 100 per cent polyester pantsuit, with slightly flared slacks. The jacket features two patch pockets, contrast stitching and tie belt. It is also machine washable. Children's clothes will also be shown. (Saff Photos)

Lenten Meditation

By Dr. William Clyde Donald II
First Congregational Church, Benton Harbor
Today's Scripture: Psalm 42:1-2

The Psalmist is expressing here a thirst for God and a longing to find fellowship in the associations of the Temple. As a deer longs for a stream of cold water, so the Psalmist longs to have a spiritual thirst quenched by coming into the presence of the living God through the worship experience.

Loneliness is also one of the most common emotions of modern life. It seems that as the population increases man's loneliness keeps pace.

The cause of much loneliness, psychologists say, is an estrangement or separation from one's own self.

A cure for such loneliness then is not more friends on the outside, but a better friend on the inside. Let the "false" you get to know the "real" you. However, since we are most naturally social beings, we also need others.

Dr. Menninger, founder of the Topeka Clinic that bears his name, feels that the churches are still the most likely place for people to find friends. Also in the fellowship one may discover life's Greatest Friend.

These Lenten Meditations are coordinated by the Berrien County Council of Churches.

Meat Extender For More Servings

Are hamburgers, meatloaf and meatballs appearing on your dinner table more frequently these days?

It's a good bet they are, for according to reports from the United States Department of Agriculture, Americans are consuming more ground beef than ever before.

With the budget so hard pressed, the reason for this popularity is obvious — ground beef mixed with an inexpensive meat extender can make more servings of a variety of different dishes. And, in addition to performing as a "stretcher," a good meat extender can serve many other functions.

Oatmeal, for example, is a favorite with thrifty homemakers for the past century, gives interesting texture to ground beef dishes and extends their protein value too. High in cereal protein, natural oatmeal when combined with hamburger, "beefs up" its protein content. And, oatmeal is still one of the least expensive sources of cereal protein. An ounce of the old fashioned or quick cooking varieties costs only about three cents.

The proportions recommended by the home economists are ¾ of a cup of uncooked oatmeal to 1½ pounds of ground beef. Whether for hamburgers or meatloaf, that quantity will make about eight hearty servings. Salmon loaf, too, benefits from the addition of oatmeal. Use two-thirds of a cup to a one pound can of salmon for tasty and nourishing results.

The economy has also been the impetus for more home baking and here, too, oatmeal can be a useful ingredient. Try it in breads, rolls, muffins and, of course, cookies.

COMMUNITY CONCERTS

Duo Project Warmth

By SAN DEE WALLACE
Staff Writer

Addiss and Crofut are billed as folk singers — but they are more — much more.

True, they do play and sing folk music — but they do it with more talent and finesse than classical artists.

They are truly great artists and they present music of the people — the common people.

Providing the third concert of the current Community Concerts association season Sunday at St. Joseph high school auditorium, Steve Addiss and Bill Crofut established a camaraderie with the audience that lasted throughout the program.

The result was that the audience did not want them to leave — asking and getting — encores.

The warmth the duo projected was returned by the audience and after the concert Addiss remarked on the wonderful response of the audience.

Currently on their sixth full concert tour of the United States, Addiss and Crofut are no strangers to the twin cities and about 12 years ago performed at The Unicorn, a former coffee house in Benton Harbor.

The first portion of their program was a preview of a concert they are preparing for the United States Bicentennial and was a history of the country in music.

The dates for the "history" was presented in presidential campaign songs.

The two folk singers are masters of their instruments with Addiss on guitar and Crofut on banjo and their voices are excellent combining in a perfect blend with one complementing the other.

They demonstrated how a simple melody used in nursery rhymes can be found throughout the world. It may be changed, slowed or in minor key, but still is the same tune. They took one such rhyme and sang it in Sicilian, Ukranian and Israeli. They said in trying to locate the source of the tune, the oldest they could find was in an Austrian hymn.

Much of the folk music we know was written or composed in difficult times, they said. Some has become so familiar we forget what the words originally meant. One such song is "Rock Candy Mountain," now known as a children's song, but was originally a bobo dream song.

They presented songs from various parts of the country, "Git Along Little Doggie," West; "No More Auction Block For Me," South; and "Old Man's Lament," Appalachia.

Both men have toured the world extensively and in their program touched on folk usic from other parts of the world. They superbly presented a Southeast Asian Flute Medley with Addiss on the soprano recorder and Crofut on banjo.

Addiss deftly switched from guitar to piano for "Piano Variations" by Mozart.

Crofut has transcribed some of Bartok's piano works for banjo and gave an expert demonstration of two of the works.

Crofut sang one of the most beautiful pieces presented during the program — a song he composed for the words of a poem by John Clare, a 19th Century English bucolic poet.

Among the most popular portions of the program were the sing-a-longs — when they asked the audience to join them in "Hobo's Lullaby," "No More Auction Block For Me," "Amazing Grace" and "America, The Beautiful."

And, although a blizzard raged outside, the audience went home — humming and smiling.

Nursing Opportunities Expand

By MARY CAMPBELL
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Women's lib may have turned some girls away from entering such a "traditional woman's career" as nursing, but Dean Loretta Ford of the University of Rochester's School of Nursing says that women's lib has helped the nursing profession also.

"Women's lib has expanded the opportunities in nursing. In the last 10 years we've had a couple of developments that have been noteworthy — the practitioner movement and masters' degree specialists.

"The practitioner nurses work, for instances, in out-patient clinics. They do a very good job assessing the actual or potential health needs of people. They do a head-to-toe examination of the person, identifying with that person his health problems. They help him manage his daily living patterns. If he needs medical resources, they may consult on it.

"A nurse might manage most of the health care problems of a chronically ill person, for instance, following his diagnosis. He needs to maintain as much health as he has.

"If he is diabetic, has high blood pressure or arthritis, a lot of his problems are related to how he lives every day. A nurse can generate ideas for that person and help him adapt. She can provide for a plan of care that will maintain his level of health.

"This becomes an effective health dimension and also an economic one. If he doesn't use his resources well, he ends up in a hospital.

"One of the problems today is that people don't take care of their health. They give the care of it over to somebody else."

Dean Ford continues, "Another exciting area that women's lib has helped us along with is that of nurses developing specialties at the graduate level. They then work with children's hospitals, children in family settings, adult care, etc.

"This takes five forms.

"A nurse gives expert, direct care to people in the area of her specialty — for instance cardiovascular nursing.

"She teaches patients and their families about their particular disease and about how they may live most healthfully every day.

"She teaches nurses — staff or students.

"She offers consultation to agencies and individuals in her major area of interest.

"She conducts research or studies related to nursing problems."

She says, "A lot of nurses went in to nurse patients. Then they became managers. They had to. They graduated from nursing patients to a desk — ordering supplies, doing paperwork, seeing that meal trays were delivered.

"Here in Rochester we're really nursing the patients. We're putting our best-qualified nurses close to the patients and bringing in other people to do nonnursing functions.

"We look on the nurse as concerned about the person in health and illness — in preventing illness, taking care of patients and as interested in recuperation as in giving the ill person care."

Another plus from women's lib, Dean Ford says, is what it has done for men. "Men have wanted to be nurses and some haven't because it wasn't socially acceptable. Now it has become okay in society for men to apply to nursing schools and be nurses. Of course we encourage this: We're interested in the kind of person who wants to be a good nurse.

"Women's lib has liberated everybody to do his thing and to be pretty vocal about it."

DEAN, NURSE, BABY: Dean Loretta Ford of the University of Rochester's School of Nursing believes in a nurse being with patients, not sitting at a desk in a hospital corridor ordering supplies and writing on charts. Dean Ford also believes that women's lib has been good for nursing, expanding opportunities in the field and making it acceptable for men to be nurses.

Display French Paintings

The Detroit Institute of Arts' "Show of the Year" opens to the public for a nine-week run beginning Wednesday, March 5.

Direct from the Louvre in Paris, the unprecedented loan of masterpieces from French national museums requires 11 galleries for display at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

Formally Titled "French Paintings 1774-1830: The Age of Revolution," the exhibition also marks the first official event of the Bicentennial celebration in Detroit.

The paintings include Delacroix's "Liberty Leading the People," making its first visit to the United States; David's "Death of Socrates"; Ingres' "Napoleon on his Imperial Throne," the official portrait of the Emperior loaned by the French War Musuem, and Fragonard's "The Lock," just acquired by the Louvre.

The French exhibition will be open six days weekly, Tuesdays through Sundays, 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m., until Sunday, May 4. The museum will also be open on Friday evenings, excepting Good Friday, until 9 p.m.

Haydn Oratorio At AU

JAMES HANSON

BERRIEN SPRINGS — The 110-voice Andrews university Chorale will perform the "Creation," an oratorio by Franz Joseph Haydn, Saturday, March 8, at 3:30 p.m. in the university church.

James Hanson will direct the Chorale in the second of its three major performances this year.

Stanley Ware, tenor, a voice teacher at Oakwood college, Huntsville, Ala., will be guest soloist. He has taken graduate work at Julliard School of Music under Hans Heintz.

Rudolf Srukoff, assistant professor of music and director of the University Singers, will be bass soloist.

Susan La Rosa and Devvie Washington, senior voice majors at AU, will be soprano soloists.

Professor Warren Becker will accompany at the organ.

Haydn composed the "Creation" in 1797, using a German translation compiled by Lidley from Milton's "Paradise Lost."

The "Creation" was first performed in Vienna in 1798.

Club Circuit

ST. JOSEPH AUXILIARY to Child and Family Services of Michigan will meet at 1 p.m. Friday, March 7, at the home of Mrs. Gene Robinson, 1965 Valley Ciew drive, St. Joseph. Other committee members are Mrs. Ralph Simons Jr., Mrs. John Schrieber, Mrs. Louis Schroeder and Mrs. Ralph Simons.

Camera Exhibit Set At LMC

"The Camera and Eye," a traveling exhibition of nearly 40 photographs from leading American and European photographers from 1925 to the present, will be on display March 13-26 in the Lake Michigan college library.

The exhibit, to be sent to LMC from the Detroit Institue of Arts, is the fourth event of the current semester sponsored by the LMC Cultural Events committee, according to William Hessel, dean of libraries and committee chairman.

The photo exhibit will be divided into eight major sections, including: nature, individuals, form, poetic images, documenting, documentaries, urban scenes and news events.

The exhibition will be open to the public free of charge from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m., Mondays through Thursdays; from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., Fridays, and 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturdays.

Medicine Folk Lore Program Thursday

KEELER — Southwest Hartford Thursday club will meet at 2 p.m. Thursday, March 16, at the home of Mrs. Carlton Kronewetter, 77th avenue.

Mrs. Dora Kaucher will present a program on "Folk Medicines," which will include folk lore and kitchen remedies to modern medicines and how many superstitions have proven false.

Mrs. Henry Dentler will give the meditations and Mrs. Ruth White will be in charge of the social hour.

Uncollected Royalties

NEW YORK (AP) — John Philip Sousa III, the march king's grandson, has formed a corporation for the purpose of collecting royalties on some 80 titles written by Sousa still protected by federal copyright laws.

Many people think that all of Sousa's music is in the public domain, his grandson says.

"Stars and Stripes Forever," the most celebrated of Sousa's works, no longer is covered by copyright in the United States. But "Washington Post March," "El Capitan," "Hands Across the Sea" and many others are.

Some sheet music printers who sell to school marching bands don't pay required royalties. The corporation is going to determine whether it is getting a fair shake from publishers.

John Philip Sousa III believes that more than $1 million has been lost in uncollected royalties.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

He Hates Smoking Women

Dear Ann: It always amazes me how a lady who wants to be sweet as a flower manages to botch it up. She starts off by bathing in a bubble bath, pats herself with a scented powder, sprays herself with expensive perfume, brushes her teeth with a mint-flavored toothpaste and gargles so her breath will be fresh and kissable. Then she spoils it all by sticking a stinking cigaret in her mouth.

I happen to be a guy who wouldn't marry a girl who smokes and there are many more like me. Before anyone calls me a miserable old sourpuss, let me confide, Ann, that when I was in my prime, I received 13 proposals. My first wife died when I was 62. Within the year I got three more proposals and later married the one who didn't smoke.

P.S. I'm nothing special. Just an average guy from — Martin's Ferry

'Other Woman'

Dear Ann Landers: A line in a recent letter from "The Other Woman" caught my eye. She wrote, "He sleeps with his wife because he HAS to." Obviously, he told her that. I wonder if it ever occurred to the lamebrain that he is telling his wife he really loves her, that "The Other Woman" means nothing to him — she was just there, he was a little drunk. The affair is about to fold up and he is begging her to please be patient.

Which of these lucky ladies is getting the truth? I wonder, too, if the female who carries on with a married man would still feel she is creating a "heaven" for him if she knew the hell she was creating in that man's house?

His kids are becoming emotionally disturbed because they sense their mother is miserable. Their dad isn't at home as many evenings and weekends as he used to be. They miss him. Such a woman can't care much about the man — or anything except herself. — Trying to Pick Up the Pieces

Dear Trying: Thank you for the rebuttal. I wonder how many Other Women are itching to know what city your letter came from. I'll save you all some postage. Don't bother to write. I'll never tell.

Homey Hints

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell "Harpooned" to stop crying "quietly in her pillow." Tell her to cry LOUD — so he can hear. Then explain why she is crying, and get some dialogue going.

Also, here are a few questions "Harpooned" should be asking herself:

ANN LANDERS

(1) How long has it been since you told him you loved him?

(2) When did you last ask his advice about something because you value his opinion?

(3) When did you last make a pass at him because he's so attractive you find him irresistible?

These three questions can put a whole new face on a marriage. Sign me — Extra Zest

Dear Zest: You're a smart lady. Thank you for some homey hints on how to pump some life into a moribund marriage. (P.S. Notice, students, I said moribund — not dead.)

CONFIDENTIAL to Plotzing For Orange Blossoms: Let him stay with his mother. A bargain he isn't.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers's booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Opening lead — Q ♦

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Four hearts is a mighty fine contract. Against any opening lead but a diamond, it is practically a lay down. But as is so frequently the case, West is unkind enough to lead the queen of diamonds.

You decide to duck the first diamond on general principles. Sometimes your opponents shift, but West continues with the jack and you are in dummy with the ace.

You toy with the idea of leading a club. If the man with the ace of clubs started with just two diamonds, you will be able to discard dummy's last diamond on your third club. But you abandon this idea because you have decided that diamonds are going to break 4-3.

So you lead the 10 of trumps from dummy. East follows low.

Should you take the trump finesse now? If it works you are home; if it loses you are going to be one down.

If you refuse the trump finesse and go up with the ace you may drop the singleton king from West. If you don't you can try the spade finesse. If that loses, you will be two down but the combination play is still worth while.

The reason is that you have a 13 per cent chance to drop that singleton king, which is just too much extra percentage to be wasted.

A — Pass. You have a minimum hand and your partner has made a minimum response. Don't panic because you only have three clubs.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Instead of bidding two clubs your partner has jumped to three clubs. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

Braised Celery Wedges

Remove leaves and trim roots from 1 large stalk celery. Cut stalk into 6 wedges.

In medium skillet melt 3 tablespoons corn oil margarine. Add 1 tablespoon minced onion; saute until tender. Add just enough chicken or beef bouillon to cover the bottom of skillet. Add celery, salt and ground black pepper to taste, allowing for the seasoning in the bouillon.

Cook, covered, over low heat until tender, about 15 to 20 minutes. Yield: 6 portions.

PISCES

FOR WEDNESDAY, MARCH 5, 1975

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) Another good day! Excellent for furthering business and financial affairs, strengthening personal relationships. You should do well now.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21) You may face some unexpected situations, some unforeseen changes. Accept all in your inherently gracious manner. They could turn out surprisingly well.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) Organizational work, relations with the public, special events, unique projects highly favored. Capitalize on your versatility.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) Extra responsibilities indicated. Tackle regular duties first, then take on what you can — within reason. Don't overcrowd your schedule.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) A time for broadening your mental horizons. Don't let yourself get bogged down in a sea of trivia. You should feel capable of BIG things now.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Don't cross others without ample reason. It may be better to wait a bit before making decisions, give time for added factors to appear.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Avoid a tendency to let others take over your responsibilities. Achievement, no matter how small, can only be gained by your own consistent performance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) Some precautions needed. Be especially careful with figures, accounts, estimates, in handling the affairs of others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) A good day for attaining some of your lofty ambitions, even though certain projects may seem to be stymied for the moment. Press on!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Stellar influences indicate new activities, intriguing experiences and the imaginative revitalization of all your interests. Enjoy your day!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) One of those mixed periods which can bring both the everyday and the unusual. Seek expert advice and opinions to cope with the latter.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Look deep into all situations. Surface appearances may be misleading. Here is where the Piscean's native intuition should be a big aid.

YOU BORN TODAY are a steadfast individual, persevering and meticulous in handling details. You would make an excellent secretary, scientist, entertainer, dramatic critic or writer. Highly individualistic, you dislke being told how to do things, but when in a position where following orders is a "must," you do so conscientiously. You are imaginative, resourceful and shrewd. Birthdate of: Rex Harrison, Eng. stage and screen star.

Dr. Lester Coleman

I had an attack of shingles four months ago. Since then I have persistent pain in my back. Because the pain has lasted so long I wonder if some other condition could be responsible for my misery.

Mr. T.K.T., Miss.

Dear Mr. T.:

Many patients recover from a bout of shingles without any lasting or persistent pain. Others have a neuralgia which may last for many months.

Shingle, or "herpes zoster," is an infection of the nervous system. Tiny blisters and neuralgic pains, distributed over skin area, establish the diagnosis of shingles. The condition is caused by a virus, and occurs chiefly around the waste and over the chest wall.

Cortisone used in the early stages can reduce the severity and duration of this distressing condition. Some doctors find that large doses of vitamin B12 are effective.

Even though your pain persists you must be patient. You can be sure that your doctor has eliminated all other conditions as a possible cause for your persistent pain.

Should a child with a heart murmur be told about it? Should he be limited in his activities in school?

Mrs. G.F., N.J.

Dear Mrs. F.:

Some children are born with a heart murmur which does not reflect disease of the heart, the valves, or the blood vessels. This is known as a "functional" heart murmur.

Once the diagnosis is established that there is no underlying heart disease, the murmur should not be a cause of emotional distress. A child with such a functional, unimportant murmur should not be deprived of the fun and advantages of healthful sports.

He must not be made to feel that he is an invalid, nor that his activities should be restricted. When the child is old enough to understand what a heart murmur is, the doctor can explain this to him, with diagrams. In this way, he readily knows that this will not affect his health as an adolescent or an adult.

Psychological fears unnecessarily implanted in children about unimportant heart murmurs too often leave residual emotional scars that are important.

WHITE FOR TEENS

Crisp, white-cotton denim short jacket over matching halter and shorts — all nail studded, with a star or flower pattern on the back of jacket — goes anywhere she goes.

Teens Choose 'Country-Look'

NEW YORK — This spring teenage girls will wear a "farmer's daughter" pinafore one day, a workman's uniform the next.

Clothes that go back to basics suit today's casual way of life, says the March "Seventeen." The country look evokes a rural Americana in calicos, ginghams, patchworks, small-scale prints and sturdy solids. The uniform look reaches its height this season, with lots of khaki and olive drab in bigtops, shorts, culottes and pants.

COUNTRY-BRED CLOTHES are keynoted by pinafores and aprons that often are ankle-length for an effect similar to the ones farm women used to wear. Most have the authentic look of provincial prints, shoulder ruffles, square necklines and bows that tie in back. Another down-home idea with a right now twist: print and solid pairings of loose, slashed overblouses and flounded mid-calf shirts.

"UNIFORM" covers all kinds of shapes from military to workmen's clothes. It's broad enough to include a khaki bigdress that pops right over your head, and a beige surplice-wrap jumper on the longer side. "Uniforms" with an authentic attitude include an olive green shirt jacket and matching pocketed culottes, and khaki chino pants and dropped-shoulder shirt.

A dark blue bigtop middy pairs with long cuffed shorts in lighter blue, and metallic blue nylon eire makes a new kind of aviator's jacket.

Children's Issues

EAST LANSING — Sociology is about to shift its major attention to studies of interfaces between nations and peoples and cultures, and the social problems of children already beset by the changing lifestyles of adults.

The prediction was made by Dr. Ruth Hill Useem, Michigan State university professor of sociology and of the Institute for International Studies in Education. She spoke at a colloquy at the MSU University club.

"We have crises brewing in both of these areas," she said, "and our concepts are primitive for studying and understanding them.

"Their complexities are so great that we will need to build on all of our prior knowledge," she said.

"We need to rub elbows with renegades from economics and geology and physics and chemistry. I'm not at all sure that we will be able to pull it off but if we do, it will be global in its conception. The meeting of minds in this field will take place outside the United States, perhaps in the Intercontinental Hotel of Iran, flown by Pan Am."

Dr. Useem has for many years concerned herself with those American child nationals who live abroad with their parents who serve in diplomatic, military, religious, educational and technical assistance programs and business enterprises.

Changes and revolutions in social sciences, the professor explained, are more related to the happenings of society than to the internal questions raised by the discipline itself.

"Revolutions and crises in society come faster than they did. The radical generation is now over 30 and can no longer feel at ease with the new generation coming into sociology as undergraduates.

"Publications on women have multiplied vastly and have challenged the middle-range theories of earlier time. Blacks and Chicanos are being trained to look at ethnic groups. Controversey rages among the various approaches and no longer can one department cover the whole of the field of sociology as it could before World War II.

Changes which occurred before the war were highlighted by the arrival in America of anti-fascist emigres and the "unexpectedly receptive atmosphere for many ideas which had been regarded with hostility and suspicion in Europe."

Style Show Set

BENEFIT: Proceeds from the Berrien Springs Jaycee Auxiliary's spring style show, scheduled for Tuesday, March 11, will be donated to the Berrien County Cancer Service. The show, which will feature fashions from the Clothesline, St. Joseph, will begin at 7:30 p.m. at United Methodist church, Berrien Springs. Tickets are $1.50 and may be purchased from any auxiliary member, at the Clothesline, or at the door. Models will be auxiliary members. Mrs. Bruce Thomas, left, models pale blue 100 per cent polyester double knit pants with front buckle. The tailored blouse is blue print and 100 per cent nylon. The outfit is machine washable. Mrs. Paul Pantaleo III is wearing an apple green 100 per cent polyester pantsuit, with slightly flared slacks. The jacket features twe patch pockets, contrast stitching and tie belt. It is also machine washable. Children's clothes will also be shown. (Saff Photos)

Lenten Meditation

By Dr. William Clyde Donald II
First Congregational Church, Benton Harbor
Today's Scripture: Psalm 42:1-2

The Psalmist is expressing here a thirst for God and a longing to find fellowship in the associations of the Temple. As a deer longs for a stream of cold water, so the Psalmist longs to have a spiritual thirst quenched by coming into the presence of the living God through the worship expertence.

Loneliness is also one of the most common emotions of modern life. It seems that as the population increases man's loneliness keeps pace.

The cause of much loneliness, psychologists say, is an estrangement or separation from one's own self.

A cure for such loneliness then is not more friends on the outside, but a better friend on the inside. Let the "false" you get to know the "real" you. However, since we are most naturally social beings, we also need others.

Dr. Menninger, founder of the Topeka Clinic that bears his name, feels that the churches are still the most likely place for people to find friends. Also in the fellowship one may discover life's Greatest Friend.

These Lenten Meditations are coordinated by the Berrien County Council of Churches.

Meat Extender For More Servings

Are hamburgers, meatloaf and meatballs appearing on your dinner table more frequently these days?

It's a good bet they are, for according to reports from the United States Department of Agriculture, Americans are consuming more ground beef than ever before.

With the budget so hard pressed, the reason for this popularity is obvious — ground beef mixed with an inexpensive meat extender can make more servings of a variety of different dishes. And, in addition to performing as a "stretcher," a good meat extender can serve many other functions.

Oatmeal, for example, is a favorite with thrifty homemakers for the past century, gives interesting texture to ground beef dishes and extends their protein value too. High in cereal protein, natural oatmeal when combined with hamburger, "beefs up" its protein content. And, oatmeal is still one of the least expensive sources of cereal protein. An ounce of the old fashioned or quick cooking varieties costs only about three cents.

The proportions recommended by the home economists are ¾ of a cup of uncooked oatmeal to 1½ pounds of ground beef. Whether for hamburgers or meatloaf, that quantity will make about eight hearty servings. Salmon loaf, too, benefits from the addition of oatmeal. Use two-thirds of a cup to a one pound can of salmon for tasty and nourishing results.

The economy has also been the impetus for more home baking and here, too, oatmeal can be a useful ingredient. Try it in breads, rolls, muffins and, of course, cookies.

OIL SUMMIT ARRIVAL: Sheik Sabah Salem as Sabah, the Emir of Kuwait, gestures as he walks with Algerian President Houari Boumedienne on arriving at Algiers airport Monday. Oil Ministers Deny Any Unity Threat To Group

ALGIERS (AP) — The non-Communist world's major oil exporters open their first summit conference today with five of the 13 chiefs of state not present and their oil ministers declaring that a major threat to their unity doesn't exist.

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries scheduled an afternoon plenary session to launch the three-day conference with Algerian President Houari Boumedienne as the opening speaker. But officials said the meeting might be delayed by private conferences of the leaders.

King Faisal of Saudi Arabia was the chief absentee. His country is OPEC's biggest oil producer. Col. Mohammed Khadafy of Libya and the presidents of Iraq, Nigeria and Indonesia also decided to stay away.

Most of the meeting was expected to be held behind closed doors as the leaders considered documents drafted by their finance, oil and foreign ministers on long-term production and price policies and future relationships with the nations that buy their oil.

The chief task of the meeting is to try to put together a unified policy for the future dialogue negotiations with the consumer nations. A preparatory meeting for this is scheduled April 7 in Paris.

Informed sources said the ministers at their meeting Monday agreed to shelve the controversial issue of apportioning production cutbacks if the world surplus continues to threaten the OPEC price structure.

The sources said the ministers got around this problem by declaring it did not exist. They decided that the industrialized countries are making such vigorous efforts to revive their economies that the oil surplus will soon disappear and they can sell all they can produce.

"We do not think there is a need at this time for a production cutback program to protect our revenues," one source said.

Last week the OPEC oil ministers at a meeting in Vienna agreed that Abu Dhabi could cut the premium it was charging on its high-grade oil because of the drop in demand for it. But this was a special case involving a comparatively small amount of oil.

Four OPEC members — Saudi Arabia, Iran, Venezuela and Algeria — have been invited to a preparatory meeting opening in Paris on April 7. But Algeria has called for a boycott of the meeting unless it is expanded to cover raw materials other than oil.

Diplomatic sources said Algeria demanded that the three other developing countries invited to the Paris talks — India, Brazil and Zaire — be increased to six, including Pakistan, another African country and another from Latin America.

The others invited are the United States, which is strongly opposed to talking about anything but oil, Japan and the European Economic Community.

Officials said Algeria also is demanding that Saudi Arabia, Iran and Venezuela agree there will be no discussion of price cuts at the Paris talks. The sources said Saudi Arabia objected strongly.

Faisal is represented at the summit by his half-brother, Deputy Premier Farhed Ibn Abdelaziz. Others attending are Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi of Iran, Presidents Carlos Andres Perez of Venezuela, Guillermo Rodriguez Lara of Ecuador and Bernard Albert Bongo of Gabon, Sheik Sabah Salem as-Sabah of Kuwait, Emir Hamad al-Than Qatar, Emir Zayed al-Nahyane of the United Arab Emirates, Vice President Saddam Hussein of Iraq, Premier Abdessalam Jalloud of Libya, Foreign Minister Chief Arikpo of Nigeria and Foreign Minister Adam Malik of Indonesia.

Four Fact-Finders Favor Additional Cambodia Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some members of the congressional fact-finding delegation to Indochina are prepared to recommend additional U.S. military aid to Cambodia.

Members of the delegation of seven House members and one senator were expected to present their advice today to the House Appropriations subcommittee that is considering President Ford's request for $222 million more in military aid to Cambodia.

Four of the legislators made public statements firmly in favor of more arms aid, two said they were undecided and two said they opposed more military assistance. However, there was agreement that more medical and food supplies should be sent.

The Ford administration has warned that Cambodia will fall to Communist-led insurgents unless additional U.S. arms aid is sent.

The lawmakers returned Monday from their tour amid indications that some of them had changed their views as a result of their experiences in Vietnam and Cambodia.

Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., an outspoken opponent of U.S. involvement in Indochina when he ran for the GOP presidential nomination in 1972, said he favors more military assistance.

"I'm not prepared to just abandon that permimeter (around the capital of Phnom Penh) and those people without food or medicine or ammunition," he said after the delegation met Monday to discuss recommendations.

"I think we owe them that much as a result of what we've done to them."

He contended it was the United States that involved the Cambodians in the Indochina fighting.

He also said he had concluded that Cambodia's fall to the insurgents would result in a bloodbath.

McCloskey said he would vote to give Cambodia ammunition, food and medicine until the rainy season begins there around June 1.

McCloskey's sentiments generally were supported by Reps. Bill Chappell Jr., D-Fla., John P. Murtha, D-Pa., and Sen. Dewey F. Bartlett, R-Okla.

Rep. Millicent Fenwick, R-N.J., indicated she was leaning in favor of more military aid but said she was undecided, while Rep. John J. Flynt, D-Ga., leader of the mission, said he had no inclinations either way.

Ford May Postpone Tariffs

Energy Compromise Near?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is described as ready to postpone part of his oil tariffs and the decontrol of domestic oil prices in an effort to forge an energy policy compromise with congressional Democrats.

White House sources indicated he would take these steps perhaps at the same time he vetoes a bill the Democrats pushed through Congress to delay the entire tariff program. Today is Ford's deadline for vetoing the bill.

It was thought that by offering to postpone part of the tariff program, Ford might gain enough votes in the Senate to sustain his veto.

These sources indicate the President would delay for 60 days two scheduled monthly $1-a-barrel tariff hikes and his plan to remove price controls on domestic crude oil April 1.

The bill he has promised to veto would delay the tariff for 90 days and also would apply to the first $1-a-barrel levy imposed Feb. 1.

Many Democrats have opposed both the tariff increase and the end of oil price controls. Those two measures would increase the consumer price of petroleum products.

The Democratic alternatives, led by an increase of at least five cents a gallon in the four-cent gasoline tax, also would raise consumer prices.

Both Ford's and the Democrats' plans are designed to reduce consumption of imported oil, but the Democrats claim that Ford's proposals would do so in a way that would aggravate the economic recession.

By granting the 60-day delay, the White House would be acceding to Democratic insistence that the administration allow time for Congress to develop an energy program. At the same time, Ford would be taking the edge off the drive to override his veto, especially in the Senate, where nose counts indicate a close vote. The delaying bill originally passed 66 to 28 in the Senate.

The veto vote will come regardless of whether Ford defers the second and third stages of his tariff hikes.

"This passed so big that members are demanding a vote on the veto," said Speaker Carl Albert. "They are going to get to vote on it."

The delaying bill passed the House last month by a 309 to 114 margin.

Congressional Democrats thus far have produced two energy plans designed to serve as alternatives to Ford's plan.

The Democratic leadership in the House and Senate has called for a gasoline tax increase of five cents a gallon; the creation of an independent agency with a standby authority for oil import quotas; and tax incentives to encourage the purchase of autos with high fuel efficiency.

The second program, announced over the weekend by Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, calls for a gradual tax hike of 40 cents a gallon, with a tax refund covering a certain basic amount of fuel.

Rock Island Awaits Worker's Reaction

CHICAGO (AP) — Officials of the Rock Island Line are awaiting the reaction of 10,000 hourly workers to a plan to keep the railroad's rolling stock on the move, while facing another financial crisis Wednesday.

President John W. Ingram has asked hourly workers of the nation's 13th largest railroad to forego 10 per cent of their pay until the line is back on a sound financial footing, when withheld funds would be paid.

Ingram said the leaders of 17 rail unions, in a meeting with company executives Monday, had agreed to push the plan, which Ingram described as a voluntary employe loan program.

But there was no indication as of Monday night how many of Rock Island's hourly workers would agree to the voluntary pay cut, which is mandatory for the railroad's 700 management employes, including Ingram.

Wages and salaries for employes of the railroad — the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Co. — range from $8,000 a year to Ingram's $80,000. His salary will drop to $72,000.

In Washington, attorneys for the railroad told the Interstate Commerce Commission that a serious cash flow problem could cause the line to run out of money by Wednesday.

"We could turn into a negative cash position as early as Wednesday," Rock Island attorney Martin Cassell told ICC officials.

The railroad's board of directors will meet Wednesday to determine if the railroad can continue operations.

The Rock Island's attorneys also discussed the possibility of the ICC ordering another carrier to assume operation of the Rock Island system should the company be forced to shut down its operations.

The ICC, which last year approved a merger of the Rock Island and the Union Pacific, has the authority, to order another railroad to operate the Rock Island's 7,500 miles of track for a period of eight months.

The Rock Island, which trimmed 450 employes from its payroll Saturday, serves 1,700 grain elevators, 4,900 factories and 23 major utilities. Its main lines run from Chicago to New Mexico; Minneapolis to the Gulf of Mexico; Memphis to Amarillo, Tex.; and St. Louis to Denver.

Although it has operated in the red for the past eight years with a record loss of $23.1 million in 1974, the Rock Island was faced with an immediate financial crisis last week when the U.S. Railway Association rejected a request for $100 million in loans.

"I feel like we've been led down the garden path," said Ingram.

He said he couldn't reconcile the USRA decision with federal aid to the Penn Central and other financially ailing railroads.

The USRA said it turned down the loans because the Rock Island couldn't assure repayment.

"The time to stop another Penn Central is before bankruptcy when it costs a heckuva a lot less to save a railroad," Ingram told newsmen. "The USRA should help us before they send the ambulance to the door."

Meanwhile, the Rock Island reached agreement with Texaco, Inc., on a prepayment plan for diesel fuel for the line's commuter train service in the Chicago area, which carries 26,000 passengers a day.

Texaco, which had cut off deliveries over the weekend for nonpayment, delivered 7,000 gallons of fuel Monday. Texaco said deliveries will continue "to the extent of mutually satisfactory financial arrangements."

Ex-Housing Chief Is Dead At 84

GROSSE POINTE FARMS, Mich. (AP) — Raymond H. Foley, former head of the Federal Housing Administration under President Harry Truman, is dead at the age of 84.

Foley, of Grosse Pointe and a former Michigan newspaper man, died Sunday in a local hospital. Cause of death was not disclosed.

Foley was appointed to head the FHA by Truman in 1945 with instructions to give new scope and direction to the agency. In two years, the FHA had widened its responsibilities to include almost all aspects of public and privately financed housing.

Foley served as managing editor of the Pontiac (Mich.) Press in the 1920s and also worked as a reporter for the Detroit News.

Funeral services are scheduled Wednesday morning. His survivors include two sons and a daughter.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

He Hates Smoking Women

Dear Ann: It always amazes me how a lady who wants to be sweet as a flower manages to botch it up. She starts off by bathing in a bubble bath, pats herself with a scented powder, sprays herself with expensive perfume, brushes her teeth with a mint-flavored toothpaste and gargles so her breath will be fresh and kissable. Then she spoils it all by sticking a stinking cigaret in her mouth.

I happen to be a guy who wouldn't marry a girl who smokes and there are many more like me. Before anyone calls me a miserable old sourpuss, let me confide, Ann, that when I was in my prime, I received 13 proposals. My first wife died when I was 62. Within the year I got three more proposals and later married the one who didn't smoke.

'Other Woman'

Dear Ann Landers: A line in a recent letter from "The Other Woman" caught my eye. She wrote, "He sleeps with his wife because he HAS to." Obviously, he told her that. I wonder if it ever occurred to the lamebrain that he is telling his wife he really loves her, that "The Other Woman" means nothing to him — she was just there, he was a little drunk. The affair is about to fold up and he is begging her to please be patient.

Which of these lucky ladies is getting the truth? I wonder, too, if the female who carries on with a married man would still feel she is creating a "heaven" for him if she knew the hell she was creating in that man's house?

His kids are becoming emotionally disturbed because they sense their mother is miserable. Their dad isn't at home as many evenings and weekends as he used to be. They miss him. Such a woman can't care much about the man — or anything except herself. — Trying to Pick Up the Pieces

Dear Trying: Thank you for the rebuttal. I wonder how many Other Women are itching to know what city your letter came from. I'll save you all some postage. Don't bother to write. I'll never tell.

Homey Hints

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell "Harpooned" to stop crying "quietly in her pillow." Tell her to cry LOUD — so he can hear. Then explain why she is crying, and get some dialogue going.

Also, here are a few questions "Harpooned" should be asking herself:

ANN LANDERS

(1) How long has it been since you told him you loved him?

(2) When did you last ask his advice about something because you value his opinion?

(3) When did you last make a pass at him because he's so attractive you find him irresistible?

These three questions can put a whole new face on a marriage. Sign me — Extra Zest

Dear Zest: You're a smart lady. Thank you for some homey hints on how to pump some life into a moribund marriage. (P.S. Notice, students, I said moribund — not dead.)

CONFIDENTIAL to Plotzing For Orange Blossoms: Let him stay with his mother. A bargain he isn't.

Are your parents too strict? Hard to reach? Ann Landers's booklet, "Bugged By Parents? How to Get More Freedom," could help you bridge the generation gap. Send 50 cents in coin with your request and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120.

Opening lead — Q ♦

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Four hearts is a mighty fine contract. Against any opening lead but a diamond, it is practically a lay down. But as is so frequently the case, West is unkind enough to lead the queen of diamonds.

You decide to duck the first diamond on general principles. Sometimes your opponents shift, but West continues with the jack and you are in dummy with the ace.

You toy with the idea of leading a club. If the man with the ace of clubs started with just two diamonds, you will be able to discard dummy's last diamond on your third club. But you abandon this idea because you have decided that diamonds are going to break 4-3.

So you lead the 10 of trumps from dummy. East follows low. Should you take the trump finesse now? If it works you are home; if it loses you are going to be one down.

If you refuse the trump finesse and go up with the ace you may drop the singleton king from West. If you don't you can try the spade finesse. If that loses, you will be two down but the combination play is still worth while.

The reason is that you have a 13 per cent chance to drop that singleton king, which is just too much extra percentage to be wasted.

Braised Celery Wedges

Remove leaves and trim roots from 1 large stalk celery. Cut stalk into 6 wedges.

In medium skillet melt 3 tablespoons corn oil margarine. Add 1 tablespoon minced onion; saute until tender. Add just enough chicken or beef bouillon to cover the bottom of skillet. Add celery, salt and ground black pepper to taste, allowing for the seasoning in the bouillon.

Cook, covered, over low heat until tender, about 15 to 20 minutes. Yield: 6 portions.

PISCES

FOR WEDNESDAY, MARCH 5, 1975

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20) Another good day! Excellent for furthering business and financial affairs, strengthening personal relationships. You should do well now.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21) You may face some unexpected situations, some, unforeseen changes. Accept all in your inherently gracious manner. They could turn out surprisingly well.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21) Organizational work, relations with the public, special events, unique projects highly favored. Capitalize on your versatility.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23) Extra responsibilities indicated. Tackle regular duties first, then take on what you can — within reason. Don't overcrowd your schedule.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23) A time for broadening your mental horizons. Don't let yourself get bogged down in a sea of trivia. You should feel capable of BIG things now.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23) Don't cross others without ample reason. It may be better to wait a bit before making decisions, give time for added factors to appear.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23) Avoid a tendency to let others take over your responsibilities. Achievement, no matter how small, can only be gained by your own consistent performance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 22) Some precautions needed. Be especially careful with figures, accounts, estimates, in handling the affairs of others.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21) A good day for attaining some of your lofty ambitions, even though certain projects may seem to be stymied for the moment. Press on!

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) Stellar influences indicate new activities, intriguing experiences and the imaginative revitalization of all your interests. Enjoy your day!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) One of those mixed periods which can bring both the everyday and the unusual. Seek expert advice and opinions to cope with the latter.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Look deep into all situations. Surface appearances may be misleading. Here is where the Piscean's native intuition should be a big aid.

YOU BORN TODAY are a steadfast individual, persevering and meticulous in handling details. You would make an excellent secretary, scientist, entertainer, dramatic critic or writer. Highly individualistic, you dislike being told how to do things, but when in a position where following orders is a "must," you do so conscientiously. You are imaginative, resourceful and shrewd. I had an attack of shingles four months ago. Since then I have persistent pain in my back. Because the pain has lasted so long I wonder if some other condition could be responsible for my misery.

Mr. T.K.T., Miss.

Dear Mr. T.:

Many patients recover from a bout of shingles without any lasting or persistent pain. Others have a neuralgia which may last for many months.

Shingle, or "herpes zoster," is an infection of the nervous system. Tiny blisters and neuralgic pains, distributed over skin area, establish the diagnosis of shingles. The condition is caused by a virus, and occurs chiefly around the waste and over the chest wall.

Cortisone used in the early stages can reduce the severity and duration of this distressing condition. Some doctors find that large doses of vitamin B12 are effective.

Even though your pain persists you must be patient. You can be sure that your doctor has eliminated all other conditions as a possible cause for your persistent pain.

Should a child with a heart murmur be told about it? Should he be limited in his activities in school?

Mrs. G.F., N.J.

Dear Mrs. F.:

Some children are born with a heart murmur which does not reflect disease of the heart, the valves, or the blood vessels. This is known as a "functional" heart murmur.

Once the diagnosis is established that there is no underlying heart disease, the murmur should not be a cause of emotional distress. A child with such a functional, unimportant murmur should not be deprived of the fun and advantages of healthful sports.

He must not be made to feel that he is an invalid, nor that his activities should be restricted. When the child is old enough to understand what a heart murmur is, the doctor can explain this to him, with diagrams. In this way, he readily knows that this will not affect his health as an adolescent or an adult.

Psychological fears unnecessarily implanted in children about unimportant heart murmurs too often leave residual emotional scars that are important.

Older Doctor Hits Rising Rates

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A semi-retired Holt physician wants legislators to stabilize malpractice insurance rates "so we older doctors will not have to retire."

Dr. Franklin Troost told a public hearing of the House Insurance Committee Monday that "Five years ago I was paying $126 for malpractice insurance. Last year I paid $700."

Troost, who has practiced since 1930, added:

"I've never been threatened with a lawsuit, but I pay the same premium as the general group (in his classification).

"I am charging the same fees I did five years ago but of course I'm not treating as many patients," he added.

Monday marked the second and final hearing the committee, chaired by Rep. Matthew McNeely, D-Detroit, has held to gather information for possible malpractice insurance legislation.

The Michigan State Medical Society says Michigan doctors will pay $36 million for malpractice insurance this year compared to $11 million last year due to rate increases granted the Medical Protective of Fort Wayne, Ind., and to Shelby Mutual, Shelby, Ohio.

The two firms cover most Michigan doctors. Shelby has said it may stop coverage in Michigan due to rising numbers of malpractice cases and steadily-increasing settlement levels.

Physicians claim they either cannot get their insurance renewed or can't afford the rates.

Jack Dodge of the Physicians Crisis Committee told the hearing that changes in both the medical and legal professions are necessary to handle the problem. "The bad physician must be removed, but something also has to be done about the legal system," he said.

He urged regulation of the contingency fee system. Under that system lawyers for plaintiffs in malpractice suits get as their fees a percentage of the amount of award the plaintiff receives.

Doctors contend the going rate for contingency fees is 50 per cent, which they say is a higher fee than most doctors can afford to pay their lawyers in malpractice suits.

But Mike Frank of the State Bar of Michigan said solid facts aren't yet available on contingency fees.

He criticized the Physicians Crisis Committee for its proposal for contractual binding arbitration between doctors and patients.

Under that proposal a doctor could require a patient to promise that any malpractice claims would be settled out of court by an arbitrator. If the patient refused, the doctor could refuse treatment. If the patient agreed, he would have 15 days to change his mind.

Frank called the proposed system "compulsory." "What about a woman with a lump in her breast, parents whose child has a high fever, a man with kidney stone pains. This is a way of using the patient's pain and fear to get him to agree to go out of the court system he is constitutionally guaranteed."

Citizen Action Urged To Reduce Crime

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Several of the nation's top law enforcement officers and civil rights leaders Monday agreed that increased citizen involvement is crucial to reducing crime and violence.

Participants in a workshop on the "nature and causes of violence in America," said neither crime nor violence would stop until the community became further involved with the police forces.

Reginald Eaves, commissioner of public safety for Atlanta, Ga., said citizen involvement meant making police forces reflect the makeup of the community, citizen advisory boards, and a community demand for excellence from its law enforcers.

Eaves said improved community relations is simply "window dressing" and called for direct participation.

Detroit Police Commissioner Phillip Tannian emphasized community relations. He pointed to the "mini-stations" opened around Detroit as an effort to improve relations with the community.

"If the community won't help the police, we cannot possibly enforce the law," Tannian said. "If community relations between citizens and police are bad, we get little or no cooperation and we can't solve the crime."

Col. George Halverson, director of the Michigan State Police, said citizen involvement programs often are "greeted with apathy." He called crime an "environmental problem," lamenting that it does not get the same attention as pollution.

Most participants in the workshop endorsed gun control as a method of curbing crime, particularly homicides, the victims of which often are family members or friends.

Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., said the United States is a "gun-totting society whose entire history is based on violence."

Conyers also championed the elimination of racism as the sole long-range solution to crime. Referring to the recession he said there is a "very clear and consistent relationship between no work and the fact that crime is rampant in those areas of a city where unemployment is worst."

Rep. Andrew Young, D-Ga., and Coretta Scott King, wife of slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., also advocated a reordering of priorities giving more emphasis to fighting crime.

Power Consumers Fight Rate Hike

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP) — A 37 per cent rate increase request by the Upper Peninsula Power Co. has crystalized an active campaign of consumer resistance.

Thirty-two municipalities in UP Power's service area each have contributed 50 cents per resident to hire a lawyer and rate expert to take the fight against the Houghton-based company to Lansing.

Veterans at the Michigan Public Service Commission say it's the first time an entire area has chipped in voluntarily to battle its local utility over rates. The area includes Ontonagon, Hancock, Laurium and Calumet.

All together, organizers have raised some $23,000 for their fight, and the company only serves 40,000 homes and businesses.

They appear to be getting their money's worth in legal activity. Their lawyer, Al Briggs of Ontonagon, recently finished his 10th day of cross-examining a company witness, another apparent first in PSC proceedings.

The attorney general's office represents the public in major rate cases but hasn't intervened directly in the UP Power dispute. The attorney general's office is helping Briggs, but says it doesn't have the staff or money to get heavily involved in such a relatively small case.

Since filling its $5 million rate increase request, UP Power has filed a Federal Power Commission case indicating the company needs only $2.8 million.

A company spokesman says UP Power has decided to make no comment on the case.

The firm serves much of the western Upper Peninsula, excluding larger cities like Escanaba and Marquette, which have municipally owned electric systems.

'Market Basket' Bonus Announced

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Tickets go on sale today for a three-week lottery bonus offering $3,000 worth of food each for an estimated 75 lottery ticket buyers.

The "Market Basket Bonus" was announced Monday by the Bureau of State Lottery which also disclosed a new system for the six-digit million dollar drawing.

The bureau said, the "Market Basket Bonus" applies to green 50-cent tickets only for the March 13, March 20 and March 27 drawing dates, the bureau said.

A ticket having two of the three bonus numbers drawn on a particular date qualifies for a bonus prize.

Holders of winning tickets must appear in person at the lottery claim center to pick up their prize.

The bureau said an account will be established at a business of the winner's choice where he can take as long as desired to spend the $3,000.

Meanwhile, Lottery officials said starting Thursday they will draw a separate six-digit million dollar number at each weekly drawing.

The Bureau announced the new system Monday after some ticket holders expressed confusion over the original weekly million dollar number drawing system.

When the bureau began its weekly million dollar number drawing program last Thursday, the million dollar number was formed by hitching together sequence drawn the two three-digit numbers selected.

"There was some misapprehension on the part of some people about this," spokesman Dave Hanson said. "It was hard to explain to them why we were doing it and what it did to their chances."

At Thursday's weekly drawing and for every week thereafter, the bureau will draw the customary two three-digit numbers, Hanson explained. Then a separate, brand-new six-digit million dollar number will be drawn, he added.

Hanson said the confusion over the method used last week apparently will not cause trouble.

He said two of the four people who last week matched the million dollar number already have been in touch with the bureau. The bureau expects the other two to reveal themselves soon, he added.

Actress Says Jewels Missing

TORONTO (AP) — Actress Anne Baxter reported $10,000 worth of jewelry missing from her hotel room, police said.

The police said the American actress left the room for about 45 minutes Monday afternoon and returned to find the jewels gone. They said they had no suspects.

OIL SUMMIT ARRIVAL: Sheik Sabah Salem as Sabah, the Emir of Kuwait, gestures as he walks with Algerian President Houari Boumedienne on arriving at Algiers airport Monday. The Emir came to attend the summit meeting of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) which opens Tuesday. (AP Wirephoto)

Oil Ministers Deny Any Unity Threat To Group

ALGIERS (AP) — The non-Communist world's major oil exporters open their first summit conference today with five of the 13 chiefs of state not present and their oil ministers declaring that a major threat to their unity doesn't exist.

The Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries scheduled an afternoon plenary session to launch the three-day conference with Algerian President Houari Boumedienne as the opening speaker. But officials said the meeting might be delayed by private conferences of the leaders.

King Faisal of Saudi Arabia was the chief absentee. His country is OPEC's biggest oil producer. Col. Mohammed Khadafy of Libya and the presidents of Iraq, Nigeria and Indonesia also decided to stay away.

Most of the meeting was expected to be held behind closed doors as the leaders considered documents drafted by their finance, oil and foreign ministers on long-term production and price policies and future relationships with the nations that buy their oil.

The chief task of the meeting is to try to put together a unified policy for the future dialogue negotiations with the consumer nations. A preparatory meeting for this is scheduled April 7 in Paris.

Informed sources said the ministers at their meeting Monday agreed to shelve the controversial issue of apportioning production cutbacks if the world surplus continues to threaten the OPEC price structure.

The sources said the ministers got around this problem by declaring it did not exist. They decided that the industrialized countries are making such vigorous efforts to revive their economies that the oil surplus will soon disappear and they can sell all they can produce.

"We do not think there is a need at this time for a production cutback program to protect our revenues," one source said.

Last week the OPEC oil ministers at a meeting in Vienna agreed that Abu Dhabi could cut the premium it was charging on its high-grade oil because of the drop in demand for it. But this was a special case involving a comparatively small amount of oil.

Four OPEC members — Saudi Arabia, Iran, Venezuela and Algeria — have been invited to a preparatory meeting opening in Paris on April 7. But Algeria has called for a boycott of the meeting unless it is expanded to cover raw materials other than oil.

Diplomatic sources said Algeria demanded that the three other developing countries invited to the Paris talks — India, Brazil and Zaire — be increased to six, including Pakistan, another African country and another from Latin America.

The others invited are the United States, which is strongly opposed to talking about anything but oil, Japan and the European Economic Community.

Officials said Algeria also is demanding that Saudi Arabia, Iran and Venezuela agree there will be no discussion of price cuts at the Paris talks. The sources said Saudi Arabia objected strongly.

Faisal is represented at the summit by his half-brother, Deputy Premier Farhed Ibn Abdelaziz. Others attending are Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi of Iran, Presidents Carlos Andres Perez of Venezuela, Guillermo Rodriguez Lara of Ecuador and Bernard Albert Bongo of Gabon, Sheik Sabah Salem as-Sabah of Kuwait, Emir Hamad al-Than Qatar, Emir Zayed al-Nahyane of the United Arab Emirates, Vice President Saddam Hussein of Iraq, Premier Abdessalam Jalloud of Libya, Foreign Minister Chief Arikpo of Nigeria and Foreign Minister Adam Malik of Indonesia.

Four Fact-Finders Favor Additional Cambodia Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some members of the congressional fact-finding delegation to Indochina are prepared to recommend additional U.S. military aid to Cambodia.

Members of the delegation of seven House members and one senator were expected to present their advice today to the House Appropriations subcommittee that is considering President Ford's request for $222 million more in military aid to Cambodia.

Four of the legislators made public statements firmly in favor of more arms aid, two said they were undecided and two said they opposed more military assistance. However, there was agreement that more medical and food supplies should be sent.

The Ford administration has warned that Cambodia will fall to Communist-led insurgents unless additional U.S. arms aid is sent.

The lawmakers returned Monday from their tour amid indications that some of them had changed their views as a result of their experiences in Vietnam and Cambodia.

Rep. Paul N. McCloskey, R-Calif., an outspoken opponent of U.S. involvement in Indochina when he ran for the GOP presidential nomination in 1972, said he favors more military assistance.

"I'm not prepared to just abandon that permimeter (around the capital of Phnom Penh) and those people without food or medicine or ammunition," he said after the delegation met Monday to discuss recommendations.

"I think we owe them that much as a result of what we've done to them."

He contended it was the United States that involved the Cambodians in the Indochina fighting.

He also said he had concluded that Cambodia's fall to the insurgents would result in a bloodbath.

McCloskey said he would vote to give Cambodia ammunition, food and medicine until the rainy season begins there around June 1.

McCloskey's sentiments generally were supported by Reps. Bill Chappell Jr., D-Fla., John P. Murtha, D-Pa., and Sen. Dewey F. Bartlett, R-Okla.

Rep. Millicent Fenwick, R-N.J., indicated she was leaning in favor of more military aid but said she was undecided, while Rep. John J. Flynt, D-Ga., leader of the mission, said he had no inclinations either way.

Ford May Postpone Tariffs

Energy Compromise Near?

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford is described as ready to postpone part of his oil tariffs and the decontrol of domestic oil prices in an effort to forge an energy policy compromise with congressional Democrats.

White House sources indicated he would take these steps perhaps at the same time he vetoes a bill the Democrats pushed through Congress to delay the entire tariff program. Today is Ford's deadline for vetoing the bill.

It was thought that by offering to postpone part of the tariff program, Ford might gain enough votes in the Senate to sustain his veto.

These sources indicate the President would delay for 60 days two scheduled monthly $1-a-barrel tariff hikes and his plan to remove price controls on domestic crude oil April 1.

The bill he has promised to veto would delay the tariff for 90 days and also would apply to the first $1-a-barrel levy imposed Feb. 1.

Many Democrats have opposed both the tariff increase and the end of oil price controls. Those two measures would increase the consumer price of petroleum products.

The Democratic alternatives, led by an increase of at least five cents a gallon in the four-cent gasoline tax, also would raise consumer prices.

Both Ford's and the Democrats' plans are designed to reduce consumption of imported oil, but the Democrats claim that Ford's proposals would do so in a way that would aggravate the economic recession.

By granting the 60-day delay, the White House would be acceding to Democratic insistence that the administration allow time for Congress to develop an energy program. At the same time, Ford would be taking the edge off the drive to override his veto, especially in the Senate, where nose counts indicate a close vote. The delaying bill originally passed 66 to 28 in the Senate.

The veto vote will come regardless of whether Ford defers the second and third stages of his tariff hikes.

"This passed so big that members are demanding a vote on the veto," said Speaker Carl Albert. "They are going to get to vote on it."

The delaying bill passed the House last month by a 309 to 114 margin.

Congressional Democrats thus far have produced two energy plans designed to serve as alternatives to Ford's plan.

The Democratic leadership in the House and Senate has called for a gasoline tax increase of five cents a gallon; the creation of an independent agency with a standby authority for oil import quotas; and tax incentives to encourage the purchase of autos with high fuel efficiency.

The second program, announced over the weekend by Rep. Al Ullman, D-Ore., chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, calls for a gradual tax hike of 40 cents a gallon, with a tax refund covering a certain basic amount of fuel.

Ex-Housing Chief Is Dead At 84

GROSSE POINTE FARMS, Mich. (AP) — Raymond H. Foley, former head of the Federal Housing Administration under President Harry Truman, is dead at the age of 84.

Foley, of Grosse Pointe and a former Michigan newspaper man, died Sunday in a local hospital. Cause of death was not disclosed.

Foley was appointed to head the FHA by Truman in 1945 with instructions to give new scope and direction to the agency. In two years, the FHA had widened its responsibilities to include almost all aspects of public and privately financed housing.

Foley served as managing editor of the Pontiac (Mich.) Press in the 1920s and also worked as a reporter for the Detroit News.

Funeral services are scheduled Wednesday morning. His survivors include two sons and a daughter.

Rock Island Awaits Worker's Reaction

CHICAGO (AP) — Officials of the Rock Island Line are awaiting the reaction of 10,000 hourly workers to a plan to keep the railroad's rolling stock on the move, while facing another financial crisis Wednesday.

President John W. Ingram has asked hourly workers of the nation's 13th largest railroad to forego 10 per cent of their pay until the line is back on a sound financial footing, when withheld funds would be paid.

Ingram said the leaders of 17 rail unions, in a meeting with company executives Monday, had agreed to push the plan, which Ingram described as a voluntary employe loan program.

But there was no indication as of Monday night how many of Rock Island's hourly workers would agree to the voluntary pay cut, which is mandatory for the railroad's 700 management employes, including Ingram.

Wages and salaries for employes of the railroad — the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad Co. — range from $8,000 a year to Ingram's $80,000. His salary will drop to $72,000.

In Washington, attorneys for the railroad told the Interstate Commerce Commission that a serious cash flow problem could cause the line to run out of money by Wednesday.

"We could turn into a negative cash position as early as Wednesday," Rock Island attorney Martin Cassell told ICC officials.

The railroad's board of directors will meet Wednesday to determine if the railroad can continue operations.

The Rock Island's attorneys also discussed the possibility of the ICC ordering another carrier to assume operation of the Rock Island system should the company be forced to shut down its operations.

The ICC, which last year approved a merger of the Rock Island and the Union Pacific, has the authority to order another railroad to operate the Rock Island's 7,500 miles of track for a period of eight months.

The Rock Island, which trimmed 450 employes from its payroll Saturday, serves 1,700 grain elevators, 4,900 factories and 23 major utilities. Its main lines run from Chicago to New Mexico; Minneapolis to the Gulf of Mexico; Memphis to Amarillo, Tex.; and St. Louis to Denver.

Although it has operated in the red for the past eight years with a record loss of $23.1 million in 1974, the Rock Island was faced with an immediate financial crisis last week when the U.S. Railway Association rejected a request for $100 million in loans.

"I feel like we've been led down the garden path," said Ingram. I

He said he couldn't reconcile the USRA decision with federal aid to the Penn Central and other financially ailing railroads.

The USRA said it turned down the loans because the Rock Island couldn't assure repayment.

"The time to stop another Penn Central is before bankruptcy when it costs a heckuva a lot less to save a railroad," Ingram told newsmen. "The USRA should help us before they send the ambulance to the door."

Meanwhile, the Rock Island reached agreement with Texaco, Inc., on a prepayment plan for diesel fuel for the line's commuter train service in the Chicago area, which carries 26,000 passengers a day.

Texaco, which had cut off deliveries over the weekend for nonpayment, delivered 7,000 gallons of fuel Monday. Texaco said deliveries will continue "to the extent of mutually satisfactory financial arrangements."

ALL ABOUT FOODS
"MEAT SELECTION"

I dedicate today's column to the new bride who wants to please her man with meals, "like mother used to cook"... but doesn't know nearly as much as she'd like to about selecting and preparing different cuts of meat.

This could be confusing, because there are actually more different cuts and kinds of meat than there are days in a year. But fortunately, there are really only a few basic retail cuts — whether you're talking about beef, pork, veal, or lamb — and they are fairly easy to identify. These are the breast cuts, the shoulder arm cuts, and shoulder blade cuts, the rib cuts, the loin cuts, the sirloin cuts and the leg, round, and ham cuts.

There is one way to learn what you need to know about these basic cuts of meat and that is to see our butcher some time and ask him for a few pointers. He'll be glad to explain, meat identification, meat buying, care, storage and freezing of meats.

Also important to the new bride are her sources of information on meat cooking. Unlike the meat "mother used to cook," twenty years ago, meat today is brought to the market younger and it's more tender. So make sure your cookbook is new or updated.

Meat buying and meal planning can be a real pleasure, once you are sure you know how to prepare your meat choice.

In addition to the hundreds of cookbooks you can buy today, remember your local gas and electric utilities generally are most anxious to answer your questions about cooking.

And of course, all of us at SCHNECK'S will be glad to help too, in any way we can. If you ever have a question about meat or any other grocery item, we hope you'll feel free to ask.

Older Doctor Hits Rising Rates

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A semi-retired Holt physician wants legislators to stabilize malpractice insurance rates "so we older doctors will not have to retire."

Dr. Franklin Troost told a public hearing of the House Insurance Committee Monday that "Five years ago I was paying $126 for malpractice insurance. Last year I paid $700."

Troost, who has practiced since 1930, added:

"I've never been threatened with a lawsuit, but I pay the same premium as the general group (in his classification).

"I am charging the same fees I did five years ago but of course I'm not treating as many patients," he added.

Monday marked the second and final hearing the committee, chaired by Rep. Matthew McNeely, D-Detroit, has held to gather information for possible malpractice insurance legislation.

The Michigan State Medical Society says Michigan doctors will pay $36 million for malpractice insurance this year compared to $11 million last year due to rate increases granted the Medical Protective of Fort Wayne, Ind., and to Shelby Mutual, Shelby, Ohio.

The two firms cover most Michigan doctors. Shelby has said it may stop coverage in Michigan due to rising numbers of malpractice cases and steadily-increasing settlement levels.

Physicians claim they either cannot get their insurance renewed or can't afford the rates.

Jack Dodge of the Physicians Crisis Committee told the hearing that changes in both the medical and legal professions are necessary to handle the problem. "The bad physician must be removed, but something also has to be done about the legal system," he said.

He urged regulation of the contingency fee system. Under that system lawyers for plaintiffs in malpractice suits get as their fees a percentage of the amount of award the plaintiff receives.

Doctors contend the going rate for contingency fees is 50 per cent, which they say is a higher fee than most doctors can afford to pay their lawyers in malpractice suits.

But Mike Frank of the State Bar of Michigan said solid facts aren't yet available on contingency fees.

He criticized the Physicians Crisis Committee for its proposal for contractual binding arbitration between doctors and patients.

Under that proposal a doctor could require a patient to promise that any malpractice claims would be settled out of court by an arbitrator. If the patient refused, the doctor could refuse treatment. If the patient agreed, he would have 15 days to change his mind.

Frank called the proposed system "compulsory." "What about a woman with a lump in her breast, parents whose child has a high fever, a man with kidney stone pains. This is a way of using the patient's pain and fear to get him to agree to go out of the court system he is constitutionally guaranteed."

A REAL PUSSYCAT NOW: Staten Island, N.Y. Zoo Curator Bill Summerville cautiously checks a two-year-old lion Monday after shooting a tranquilizing drug into the animal. Summerville was called in after police responding to complaints by neighbors found the lion in the back yard of an abandoned Staten Island house. Neighbors said occupants of the house had abandoned it, leaving the lion behind. A police van took the lion to the zoo. (AP Wirephoto)

Citizen Action Urged To Reduce Crime

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Several of the nation's top law enforcement officers and civil rights leaders Monday agreed that increased citizen involvement is crucial to reducing crime and violence.

Participants in a workshop on the "nature and causes of violence in America," said neither crime nor violence would stop until the community became further involved with the police forces.

Reginald Eaves, commissioner of public safety for Atlanta, Ga., said citizen involvement meant making police forces reflect the makeup of the community, citizen advisory boards, and a community demand for excellence from its law enforcers.

Eaves said improved community relations is simply "window dressing" and called for direct participation.

Detroit Police Commissioner Phillip Tannian emphasized community relations. He pointed to the "mini-stations" opened around Detroit as an effort to improve relations with the community.

"If the community won't help the police, we cannot possibly enforce the law," Tannian said. "If community relations between citizens and police are bad, we get little or no cooperation and we can't solve the crime."

Col. George Halverson, director of the Michigan State Police, said citizen involvement programs often are "greeted with apathy." He called crime an "environmental problem," lamenting that it does not get the same attention as pollution.

Most participants in the workshop endorsed gun control as a method of curbing crime, particularly homicides, the victims of which often are family members or friends.

Rep. John Conyers, D-Mich., said the United States is a "gun-totting society whose entire history is based on violence."

Conyers also championed the elimination of racism as the sole long-range solution to crime. Referring to the recession he said there is a "very clear and consistent relationship between no work and the fact that crime is rampant in those areas of a city where unemployment is worst."

Rep. Andrew Young, D-Ga., and Coretta Scott King, wife of slain civil rights leader Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., also advocated a reordering of priorities giving more emphasis to fighting crime.

Power Consumers Fight Rate Hike

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP) — A 37 per cent rate increase request by the Upper Peninsula Power Co. has crystalized an active campaign of consumer resistance.

Thirty-two municipalities in UP Power's service area each have contributed 50 cents per resident to hire a lawyer and rate expert to take the fight against the Houghton-based company to Lansing.

Veterans at the Michigan Public Service Commission say it's the first time an entire area has chipped in voluntarily to battle its local utility over rates. The area includes Ontonagon, Hancock, Laurium and Calumet.

All together, organizers have raised some $23,000 for their fight, and the company only serves 40,000 homes and businesses.

They appear to be getting their money's worth in legal activity. Their lawyer, Al Briggs of Ontonagon, recently finished his 10th day of cross-examining a company witness, another apparent first in PSC proceedings.

The attorney general's office represents the public in major rate cases but hasn't intervened directly in the UP Power dispute. The attorney general's office is helping Briggs, but says it doesn't have the staff or money to get heavily involved in such a relatively small case.

Since filling its $5 million rate increase request, UP Power has filed a Federal Power Commission case indicating the company needs only $2.8 million.

A company spokesman says UP Power has decided to make no comment on the case.

The firm serves much of the western Upper Peninsula, excluding larger cities like Escanaba and Marquette, which have municipally owned electric systems.

'Market Basket' Bonus Announced

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Tickets go on sale today for a three-week lottery bonus offering $3,000 worth of food each for an estimated 75 lottery ticket buyers.

The "Market Basket Bonus" was announced Monday by the Bureau of State Lottery which also disclosed a new system for the six-digit million dollar drawing.

The bureau said, the "Market Basket Bonus" applies to green 50-cent tickets only for the March 13, March 20 and March 27 drawing dates, the bureau said.

A ticket having two of the three bonus numbers drawn on a particular date qualifies for a bonus prize.

Holders of winning tickets must appear in person at the lottery claim center to pick up their prize.

The bureau said an account will be established at a business of the winner's choice where he can take as long as desired to spend the $3,000.

Meanwhile, Lottery officials said starting Thursday they will draw a separate six-digit million dollar number at each weekly drawing.

The Bureau announced the new system Monday after some ticket holders expressed confusion over the original weekly million dollar number drawing system.

When the bureau began its weekly million dollar number drawing program last Thursday, the million dollar number was formed by hitching together sequence drawn the two three-digit numbers selected.

"There was some misapprehension on the part of some people about this," spokesman Dave Hanson said. "It was hard to explain to them why we were doing it and what it did to their chances."

At Thursday's weekly drawing and for every week thereafter, the bureau will draw the customary two three-digit numbers, Hanson explained. Then a separate, brand-new six-digit million dollar number will be drawn, he added.

Hanson said the confusion over the method used last week apparently will not cause trouble.

He said two of the four people who last week matched the million dollar number already have been in touch with the bureau. The bureau expects the other two to reveal themselves soon, he added.

Actress Says Jewels Missing

TORONTO (AP) — Actress Anne Baxter reported $10,000 worth of jewelry missing from her hotel room, police said.

The police said the American actress left the room for about 45 minutes Monday afternoon and returned to find the jewels gone. They said they had no suspects.

South Haven River Plan Given Council

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — A proposal to beautify the Black river shoreline in South Haven was presented to the city council last night by a citizens task force.

The task force, an idea initiated by Mayor Elizabeth Davis and appointed by the planning commission, has been working since last October on a long-range plan aimed at restoring the Black river as a focus of interest for the community.

Task force chairman Vincent Schumacker said the plan focuses on water-related activities.

"It (the plan) represents a reasonable plan of what the city of South Haven could look like," said Schumacker.

The report includes many long-range ideas including the creation of several public areas along the riverfront.

The task force suggested several steps that deserve the immediate attention of the city in the near future.

The steps include demolition of the old power plant near the south beach, improvement of Water street along the south side of the river and creation of a park on city-owned land east of the Coast Guard station.

The citizens group also suggested that the city end its lease to rent riverfront property near the Dyckman avenue bridge to the South Haven Redi-Mix company for its cement mixing plant.

The group urged the council to take steps to seek funding from the state to complete construction of the municipal marina. Council followed the recommendation later in the meeting by authorizing city manager Albert Pierce to file an application for the project.

The city was also urged to acquire the abandoned railroad right-of-way along the riverfront for future use.

Assessed Values Are Realigned In Pine Grove

GOBLES — The assessed value of roughly 98 per cent of the property in Pine Grove township has been raised, Supervisor Marshall Howrigan told the Pine Grove township board last night.

Howrigan said an estimated 1,000 letters notifying property owners of a boost in property values have been sent out.

He said the property value increases were made at the direction of the state tax commission which threatened to conduct its own reappraisal of property in the township1State law now requires that by 1976 assessed valuation equal 50 per cent of the market value of all property, the basis of equalized property value. The increase in assessed valuations does not necessarily mean a property tax increase in all cases because taxes are based on equalized value.

Howrigan said he is expecting long lines at the first tax assessment board of review meeting today where owners can appeal the increases.

In other business last night, Howrigan and other board members discussed the possibility of hiring a township manager.

Howrigan, in asking township board members for nominations to fill the post, said it is believed there may be federal funds available to pay the salary of a township administrator.

The nominations are to be submited prior to the annual township meeting April 5.

The township's attorney was instructed to initiate legal action to force occupants of three mobile homes to either bring the homes into compliance with township zoning and building codes or move from the homes. Names of the mobile home owners were not mentioned in the public session.

Also last night, Mrs. Gerald Rendel was appointed an alternate delegate to the Lake View Community hospital board at the request of regular delegate Mrs. Duane Smith.

The township board also appointed Mrs. Herman Koehn as the township's delegate to the county bicentennial committee.

Mayors Push For U.S. Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax rebates being considered by Congress will be wiped out by municipal tax increases unless cities get emergency federal aid, says a spokesman for the nation's mayors.

The warning was issued Monday as the U.S. Conference of Mayors urged Congress and President Ford to provide at least $5 billion to bail out cities hardest hit by the recession.

South Haven Still Spurns Gas Station

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — City council last night refused to reconsider its decision not to allow the location of a new gas station on business loop I-196 near the Central school.

Council in February voted unanimously not to allow the Progressive Oil company to build a service station on the southeast corner of Erie street and Broadway avenue.

The company sought to locate the station as a conditional use of the city's zoning ordinance. The proposal was endorsed by the city planning commission, but opposed in a petition signed by 67 people.

Attorney David Grier of South Haven asked the council to reconsider its position, saying his client did not have an opportunity to present his position at the February meeting.

Second Ward Alderman Norman Books, a nearby resident of the proposed station and a prime mover against the idea, said provisions of the zoning ordinance would prevent the city council from reconsidering its position for a period of one year from the time it made its initial decision.

Books said the only way by which the council could reconsider sooner would be if new evidence in support of the proposal were presented.

Mayor Elizabeth Davis reported the city attorney had ruled that the council had acted in a proper manner in considering the request.

Stanley (Jack) Johnston of South Haven, owner of the lot, noted that the property has a long history of being used for commercial purposes. He said he purchased the property in 1968 and removed a dilapidated building that once housed a grocery store and restaurant. He also reminded councilmen that another gas station is located adjacent to his property.

A motion to reconsider the request at the next meeting of the council was defeated 4-3. Opposed to the motion were Aldermen Wilbur Ingrham, Books, Donald Goodwillie, Sr. and Matthew Goerg. In favor were Mayor Davis and Aldermen Robert Warren and Rex Lineberry.

In other areas, council voted to proceed with the filing of an application to the Michigan Waterways commission for funding to enlarge the city's marina. Existing marina, constructed in 1969, was designed for 84 slips, but because bids for construction were higher than anticipated 20 slips along the river bank were deleted.

The city has a long waiting list for the marina and officials believe it will be a minimum of two to three years before funding from the state would be available.

In a related matter council voted to defy a state regulation that city residents cannot be given a priority above other Michigan residents when seeking to rent slips at the marina. Manager Albert Pierce had indicated that the Michigan Waterways commision would not allow the city to continue its previous policy of favoring city residents when considering applicants for marina slips. The state agency would allow the city to give Michigan residents priority over non-Michigan residents.

Warren led the council's eventual decision to defy the state agency, saying it was time that the city set its own standards for projects even though they had been partially funded by the state or federal government.

The motion to adopt the policy favoring city residents passed 5-2. In favor were Warren, Books, Goerg, Ingrham and Goodwillie. Opposed were Mayor Davis and Lineberry.

Council approved new seasonal and transient rates for 1975 users of the marina. The rate for boats docked the entire summer will be $9 per lineal foot. Rates for transient boats will range from $2 to $13.50 per night depending on the size of the vessel.

Council approved new prices for the sale of lots at city-owned Lakeview cemetery and the cost for interment fees. Cost of lots was increased $25 to $125. Interment fee for city residents was increased $25 to $125 and for non-city residents $75 to $175. It is the first time the city has had a different interment fee for city and non-city residents.

Pierce presented a report on how budget expenditures for the current fiscal year are being reduced to lessen the effects of an anticipated deficit.

Even with anticipated cutbacks Pierce predicted a $20,313 deficit. The cutbacks trimmed $39,686 from the originally anticipated $60,000 deficit.

Among the major savings proposed by the city manager are the elimination of overtime for street, parks and police personnel, especially for snow removal, $10,000; delaying the purchase of a new dump truck and two police cars, $20,399, elimination of capital outlay and contractural services in several departments, $9,287.

Pierce noted that salary increases for employes and administrators brought about the anticipated deficit. He said additional substantial savings would not be possible without a major layoff of employes.

Council accepted the low $3,825 bid of Decker Olds-Cadillac of South Haven for a new one-ton truck for the water and sewer departments.

Alpha Engineering, Inc. of South Haven was authorized to provide services required to design plans for the complete renovation of restroom buildings on the city's north and south beaches.

City has been ordered by the Van Buren health department to upgrade facilities. City officials indicated last night that funding from the state might be possible for the $26,000 project.

Council tabled action on an opinion by the city attorney that the city treasurer should have custody of all funds generated by the city's housing commission. Presently, the housing commission, by action of the city council, administers its own funds.

Council asked the citizens task force for riverfront development to prepare guidelines for operating the new boat launching facility.

Council set a hearing for 7:15 p.m. March 17 in council chambers to consider its position toward the renewal of a state liquor license to the Cisco bar.

Chicagoan Demands Examination

PAW PAW — Gilbert William Hennigton, 43, Chicago, demanded preliminary examination on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon when arraigned yesterday in Seventh district court here.

Hennigton was arrested by state police from Paw Paw Sunday after troopers had stopped a car for speeding on I-94 in Lawrence township. A .38-caliber revolver was found during a search of the car, police said.

In another case, John Thrasher, 33, route 1, 35th street, Gobles, demanded preliminary examination on a charge of resisting arrest.

Thrasher is accused of resisting Tpr. John Kenny as the officer tried to take him into custody on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants Sunday near Paw Paw.

Preliminary examinations for both men were scheduled for March 13. Hennigton was freed after posting $500 bond and Thrasher released on his own recognizance.

ALL ABOUT FOODS
"MEAT SELECTION"

I dedicate today's column to the new bride who wants to please her man with meals, "like mother used to cook"... but doesn't know nearly as much as she'd like to about selecting and preparing different cuts of meat.

This could be confusing, because there are actually more different cuts and kinds of meat than there are days in a year. But fortunately, there are really only a few basic retail cuts — whether you're talking about beef, pork, veal, or lamb — and they are fairly easy to identify. These are the breast cuts, the shoulder arm cuts, and shoulder blade cuts, the rib cuts, the loin cuts, the sirloin cuts and the leg, round, and ham cuts.

There is one way to learn what you need to know about these basic cuts of meat and that is to see our butcher some time and ask him for a few pointers. He'll be glad to explain, meat identification, meat buying, care, storage and freezing of meats.

Also important to the new bride are her sources of information on meat cooking. Unlike the meat "mother used to cook," twenty years ago, meat today is brought to the market younger and it's more tender. So make sure your cookbook is new or updated.

Meat buying and meat planning can be a real pleasure, once you are sure you know how to prepare your meat choice.

In addition to the hundreds of cookbooks you can buy today, remember your local gas and electric utilities generally are most anxious to answer your questions about cooking.

And of course, all of us at SCHNECK'S will be glad to help out, in any way we can. If you ever have a question about meat or any other grocery item, we hope you'll feel free to ask.

Dowagiac To Get Dial-A-Ride If State OKs Changes

DOWAGIAC — A proposed dial-a-ride transportation system, tabled twice by the Dowagiac city council, was adopted in an amended form last night.

If the state approves the amendments, two, 12-passenger vans will provide transportation throughout the city, from doorstep to destination at a 50 cent fare, city officials said.

State and federal grants will pay for the equipment for the first year with the city becoming responsible for equipment and operations thereafter.

There was no timetable from city officials on when the service might be expected to begin.

Among the amendments made a part of the program by the city council are those that would guarantee the city would spend no more than $5,000 of its own funds during the first year; a fee of 150 per cent of the base fare for those just outside the city limits; no service to those a mile outside city limits; and elimination of half-fare fee systems favored by the state for certain groups.

The council also voted to place the dial-a-ride issue on the ballot at the next general election so that voters can decide whether the program will be supported by city taxpayer funds in the future.

In other areas last night, Robert Bernstein told the council that Alden Cable television hopes to make good on its promises of services to Dowagiac customers.

Bernstein said Alden is in the process of trying to refinance operations for the Dowagiac branch and if successful some $100,000 would be used for local improvements of service.

City councilmen, apparently impressed with Bernstein's pledge, changed from March 15 to April 15 the deadline for the company to initiate improvements in its lines and customer service.

Also last night the council voted to buy now, before prices go up again, 2,000 feet of sanitary sewer pipe and 1,970 feet of water line pipe to run city water and sewer services to the Big D industrial park on the southwest limits.

City officials said there will be no hookups to the lines, once installed, until industrial park tenants have reahed agreement with the city on hookup and monthly service rates.

The concrete pipe was purchased at a cost of $5.80 per foot from U.S. Concrete of Sylvania, Ohio, and the water lines for $4.42 a foot from Ellis and Ford of Grand Rapids.

The city also adopted a resolution urging that federal officials not allow Penn Central railroad to abandon several rail routes that serve buisness and industry in Dowagiac.

FOSTER PARENTS: For the past two decades, Harold and Idla Slaughter, of Grand Rapids, Mich., have been foster parents for 86 children. Because of their dedication to children in need, they've been named Foster Parents of the Year by the Michigan State Foster Parents Association. MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Luis Echeverria urged the second Latin American Population Conference to work out plans for restraining population growth in their area. But he warned against allowing their nations to be turned into "human laboratories for experimentation."

South Haven Tot's Death

Mother Pleads Innocent

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A South Haven woman charged in connection with the Nov. 16 drowning death of her 13-month-old son pleaded innocent to a charge of manslaughter when arraigned yesterday in Van Buren circuit court.

Mrs. Alice Harbison, 20, was arrested by state police at South Haven following an investigation into the death of her son, Johnny Lee Harbison, at the family trailer on Airport road.

Police said Mrs. Harbison originally told them that the boy drowned after falling into a toilet bowl. Police said their investigation showed that the infant drowned in a five gallon water can being used to clean a floor in the trailer.

In other cases, Lawrence Marr, 18, 208 Souh Haven street, South Haven, pleaded innocent to charges of delivering mescaline and marijuna Dec. 13 outside L.C. Mohr high school, where he is a senior.

Kevin A. Moore, 17, route 3, Watervliet, pleaded innocent to charges of armed robbery and carrying a concealed weapon stemming from a Feb. 3 robbery at Brian's Kawasaki Sales, Breedsville. A 15-year-old Coloma juvenile was also arrested in connection with the case. Confiscated were a .38-caliber revolver, an automatic pistol, a sawedoff shotgun, a carbine, and two knives, police said.

James Silas Kirby, 23, Decatur, pleaded innocent to a charge of feloniously assaulting Cass county sheriff's Sgt. Norman Bannow Jan. 19, after the officer had stopped a weaving car near Decatur. The driver allegedly threatened Bannow with a knife. Billy Hugh Harris, 23, Three Mile Lake trailer park, Paw Paw, pleaded innocent to supplemental information charging him with being a second felony offender. Harris was convicted by a Van Buren circuit court jury in February on a charge of child abuse. The supplemental information alleges that he was convicted earlier of breaking and entering a Lawrence service station May 3, 1968. A conviction on the supplemental information could lengthen any prison term for child abuse.

Ernest Mullins, 26, route 2, 47th avenue, Paw Paw, pleaded innocent to two counts of indecent exposure Feb. 3 and Feb. 7 in Paw Paw.

Danny Morrison, 17, route 1, 39th avenue, Paw Paw, pleaded innocent to two counts of uttering and publishing a forged check. The first count alleges that he cashed a forged check for $48 at the First State Bank, Decatur, on Dec. 3. The second count charges that he wrote a forged check to Ed's Butcher Shop, Paw Paw, for $62 on Jan. 23.

Anthony Heard, also known as Anthony Wayne Lewis, 23, Chicago, pleaded guilty to absconding on a $2,500 bond Aug. 12 while awaiting sentencing on a conviction of breaking and entering Paw Paw Honda and Marine.

Ronald Lee Wilson, 24, 410 Edgell, South Haven, was sentenced to serve from 18 months to four years in state prison on his guilty plea to a charge of larceny in a building. Judge David Anderson, Jr. imposed the sentence. The charge stemmed from a Dec. 18 break-in at Hale's department store, South Haven.

Michael J. Harris, 23, 521 North Kalamazoo, Paw Paw, was sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail on a charge of resisting arrest in October. Harris allegedly resisted Paw Paw village police officers George Fadel and Norman Krajewski as they tried to take him into custody on a charge of being a disorderly person. He pleaded guilty Jan. 2 to the charge.

Bridgman School Electric Cost Up

BRIDGMAN — The electric bill for the Bridgman school system is apparently going to be about double this year over what it was last year, the Bridgman school board learned last night.

Supt. Dr. David B. Lechner said the electric bill for the first seven school months has amounted to about $67,000 and will be about $100,000 at the end of the school year, about double what it was for the 1973-74 school year. The bill last year was $61,000, Lechner said.

Three major reasons for the big increase, he said, were the operation of the school's swimming pool; a basic rate increase of about 30 to 35 per cent; and fuel adjustment increases being passed on to customers by electric companies.

Lechner's comments came during a regular school board meeting during which the board adopted a preliminary 1975-76 school budget of $1,628,275.

The preliminary budget is about $267,131 above the present budget of $1,361,144.

The preliminary budget is adopted for use by the Berrien county allocation board for its annual distribution of non-voted tax funds to schools, townships and county government.

Also last night, the board set the 1975-76 school calendar with school slated to begin Sept. 3 and end, for seniors, on June 8, and on June 9 for the rest of the students.

The superintendent said receipts from basketball games this year amounted to $4,412, with a profit of $1,801 going towards school athletic programs.

CRITICISM: Mounts against Argentine President Maria Estela Person's private secretary who many have likened to a 20th-century Rasputin bu isolating the president from political leaders. A magazine urging the resignation of the secretary, Jose Lopez Rega, who also served Mrs. Peron's husband, has been ordered closed by the government.

'Return Address' Probe Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The ranking Republican member of a House panel says he will ask the Postal Service to look into the use of "Congress of the United States" in the return address of a group opposed to gun control.

Rep. Robert McClory of Illinois, member of a panel holding gun control hearings, said the practice of using such a return address on a mailed fund solicitation is "very deceptive" and possibly "an illegal solicitation."

Old School Owner Appeals Township Zoning Ruling

BUCHANAN — George Beach, owner of the former Wagner school property, appeared before the Buchanan township board last night to appeal the township planning commission's recommendation the property not be rezoned from agricultural to indusrial.

Ivan Price, township supervisor, told Beach and Max Drietzler, who appeared with Beach, that the township board would make the final decision on Beach's request during its April 7 meeting. He said the county planning commission would review the proposal in the meantime.

Beach has requested the former school building, located on Wagner road, be rezoned so that Drietzler's welding firm can move to the structure. Drietzler and Son, incorporated is currently located at 121 South Oak street in Buchanan.

In other areas, the board instructed Charles Rehmel of Gardner road, to contact the county road commission about removing trees along Wagner road near his farm. Rehmel told the commission the closeness of the trees was damaging the pavement.

The board agreed to name a township resident to the Buchanan Area Recreation board at the request of the Buchanan city commission. The board said it would name the township representative at a later date.

Mrs. Brenda Darnell was told by the board that trustees would contact the township zoning appeals board about the size of sign located in her front yard at Red Bud trail south. Mrs. Darnell asked the board that she be allowed to continue to use the 30 by 30-foot sign advertising a beauty shop located in her home, despite being ordered to remove it because it was too large.

South Haven River Plan Given Council

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — A proposal to beautify the Black river shoreline in South Haven was presented to the city council last night by a citizens task force.

The task force, an idea initiated by Mayor Elizabeth Davis and appointed by the planning commission, has been working since last October on a long-range plan aimed at restoring the Black river as a focus of interest for the community.

Task force chairman Vincent Schumacker said the plan focuses on water-related activities.

"It (the plan) represents a reasonable plan of what the city of South Haven could look like," said Schumacker.

The report includes many long-range ideas including the creation of several public areas along the riverfront.

The task force suggested several steps that deserve the immediate attention of the city in the near future.

The steps include demolition of the old power plant near the south beach, improvement of Water street along the south side of the river and creation of a park on city-owned land east of the Coast Guard station.

The citizens group also suggested that the city end its lease to rent riverfront property near the Dyckman avenue bridge to the South Haven Redi-Mix company for its cement mixing plant.

The group urged the council to take steps to seek funding from the state to complete construction of the municipal marina. Council followed the recommendation later in the meeting by authorizing city manager Albert Pierce to file an application for the project.

The city was also urged to acquire the abandoned railroad right-of-way along the riverfront for future use.

South Haven Still Spurns Gas Station

By TOM RENNER
South Haven Correspondent

SOUTH HAVEN — City council last night refused to reconsider its decision not to allow the location of a new gas station on business loop I-196 near the Central school.

Council in February voted unanimously not to allow the Progressive Oil company to build a service station on the southeast corner of Erie street and Broadway avenue.

The company sought to locate the station as a conditional use of the city's zoning ordinance. The proposal was endorsed by the city planning commission, but opposed in a petition signed by 67 people.

Attorney David Grier of South Haven asked the council to reconsider its position, saying his client did not have an opportunity to present his position at the February meeting.

Second Ward Alderman Norman Books, a nearby resident of the proposed station and a prime mover against the idea, said provisions of the zoning ordinance would prevent the city council from reconsidering its position for a period of one year from the time it made its initial decision.

Books said the only way by which the council could reconsider sooner would be if new evidence in support of the proposal were presented.

Mayor Elizabeth Davis reported the city attorney had ruled that the council had acted in a proper manner in considering the request.

Stanley (Jack) Johnston of South Haven, owner of the lot, noted that the property has a long history of being used for commercial purposes. He said he purchased the property in 1968 and removed a dilapidated building that once housed a grocery store and restaurant. He also reminded councilmen that another gas station is located adjacent to his property.

A motion to reconsider the request at the next meeting of the council was defeated 4-3. Opposed to the motion were Aldermen Wilbur Ingrham, Books, Donald Goodwillie, Sr. and Matthew Goerg. In favor were Mayor Davis and Aldermen Robert Warren and Rex Lineberry.

In other areas, council voted to proceed with the filing of an application to the Michigan Waterways commission for funding to enlarge the city's marina. Existing marina, constructed in 1969, was designed for 84 slips, but because bids for construction were higher than anticipated 20 slips along the river bank were deleted.

The city has a long waiting list for the marina and officials believe it will be a minimum of two to three years before funding from the state would be available.

In a related matter council voted to defy a state regulation that city residents cannot be given a priority above other Michigan residents when seeking to rent slips at the marina. Manager Albert Pierce had indicated that the Michigan Waterways commision would not allow the city to continue its previous policy of favoring city residents when considering applicants for marina slips. The state agency would allow the city to give Michigan residents priority over non-Michigan residents.

Warren led the council's eventual decision to defy the state agency, saying it was time that the city set its own standards for projects even though they had been partially funded by the state or federal government.

The motion to adopt the policy favoring city residents passed 5-2. In favor were Warren, Books, Goerg, Ingrham and Goodwillie. Opposed were Mayor Davis and Lineberry.

Council approved new seasonal and transient rates for 1975 users of the marina. The rate for boats docked the entire summer will be $9 per lineal foot. Rates for transient boats will range from $2 to $13.50 per night depending on the size of the vessel.

Council approved new prices for the sale of lots at city-owned Lakeview cemetery and the cost for interment fees. Cost of lots was increased $25 to $125. Interment fee for city residents was increased $25 to $125 and for non-city residents $75 to $175. It is the first time the city has had a different interment fee for city and non-city residents.

Pierce presented a report on how budget expenditures for the current fiscal year are being reduced to lessen the effects of an anticipated deficit.

Even with anticipated cutbacks Pierce predicted a $20,313 deficit. The cutbacks trimmed $39,686 from the originally anticipated $60,000 deficit.

Among the major savings proposed by the city manager are the elimination of overtime for street, parks and police personnel, especially for snow removal, $10,000; delaying the purchase of a new dump truck and two police cars, $20,399, elimination of capital outlay and contractural services in several departments, $9,287.

Pierce noted that salary increases for employes and administrators brought about the anticipated deficit. He said additional substantial savings would not be possible without a major layoff of employes.

Council accepted the low $3,825 bid of Decker Olds-Cadillac of South Haven for a new one-ton truck for the water and sewer departments.

Alpha Engineering, Inc. of South Haven was authorized to provide services required to design plans for the complete renovation of restroom buildings on the city's north and south beaches.

City has been ordered by the Van Buren health department to upgrade facilities. City officials indicated last night that funding from the state might be possible for the $26,000 project.

Council tabled action on an opinion by the city attorney that the city treasurer should have custody of all funds generated by the city's housing commission. Presently, the housing commission, by action of the city council, administers its own funds.

Council asked the citizens task force for riverfront development to prepare guidelines for operating the new boat launching facility.

Council set a hearing for 7:15 p.m. March 17 in council chambers to consider its position toward the renewal of a state liquor license to the Cisco bar.

Assessed Values Are Realigned In Pine Grove

GOBLES — The assessed value of roughly 98 per cent of the property in Pine Grove township has been raised, Supervisor Marshall Howrigan told the Pine Grove township board last night.

Howrigan said an estimated 1,000 letters notifying property owners of a boost in property values have been sent out.

He said the property value increases were made at the direction of the state tax commission which threatened to conduct its own reappraisal of property in the township. State law now requires that by 1976 assessed valuation equal 50 per cent of the market value of all property, the basis of equalized property value. The increase in assessed valuations does not necessarily mean a property tax increase in all cases because taxes are based on equalized value.

Howrigan said he is expecting long lines at the first tax assessment board of review meeting today where owners can appeal the increases.

In other business last night, Howrigan and other board members discussed the possibility of hiring a township manager.

Howrigan, in asking township board members for nominations to fill the post, said it is believed there may be federal funds available to pay the salary of a township administrator.

The nominations are to be submited prior to the annual township meeting April 5.

The township's attorney was instructed to initiate legal action to force occupants of three mobile homes to either bring the homes into compliance with township zoning and building codes or move from the homes. Names of the mobile home owners were not mentioned in the public session.

Also last night, Mrs. Gerald Rendel was appointed an alternate delegate to the Lake View Community hospital board at the request of regular delegate Mrs. Duane Smith.

The township board also appointed Mrs. Herman Koehn as the township's delegate to the county bicentennial committee.

Mayors Push For U.S. Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — Tax rebates being considered by Congress will be wiped out by municipal tax increases unless cities get emergency federal aid, says a spokesman for the nation's mayors.

The warning was issued Monday as the U.S. Conference of Mayors urged Congress and President Ford to provide at least $5 billion to bail out cities hardest hit by the recession.

Chicagoan Demands Examination

PAW PAW — Gilbert William Hennigton, 43, Chicago, demanded preliminary examination on a charge of carrying a concealed weapon when arraigned yesterday in Seventh district court here.

Hennigton was arrested by state police from Paw Paw Sunday after troopers had stopped a car for speeding on I-94 in Lawrence township. A .38-caliber revolver was found during a search of the car, police said.

In another case, John Thrasher, 33, route 1, 35th street, Gobles, demanded preliminary examination on a charge of resisting arrest.

Thrasher is accused of resisting Tpr. John Kenny as the officer tried to take him into custody on a charge of driving under the influence of intoxicants Sunday near Paw Paw.

Preliminary examinations for both men were scheduled for March 13. Hennigton was freed after posting $500 bond and Thrasher released on his own recognizance.

Lake Petitions Open Annexation Battle

By STEPHEN BANYON
Staff Writer

BRIDGMAN — Ground work has been laid by Lake township to fight the proposed annexation of the $800 million Cook nuclear plant and other property in the township by Bridgman.

Township Supervisor Wade Shuler said last night during the township's regular board meeting that a petition drive opposing the annexation had been launched and the response had been "terrific."

The township board has also scheduled an informational meeting for March 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the Bridgman high school auditorium for area residents to review the city's bid for part of the township and reaction to it.

Last month, the Bridgman city commission formally petitioned the state boundary commission to annex an area of the township bounded by Lake Michigan, a section line located on the Cook plant property, the centerline of I-94 and the northern city limits.

Petitions opposing the annexation were being circulated both in the proposed annexation area and the remainder of the township, Shuler said. These petitions will be sent to the state boundary commission, he added.

The informational meeting was called by the township officials to discuss the aspects of the annexation. Co-operative services now provided between governmental units will also be discussed, according to the supervisor.

The township provides the city with cemetery lots and an ambulance service and both muncipalities' fire departments assist in fire protection in both localities, he added.

"Things that have happened during the past month have changed people's viewpoints" regarding the the city's and township's relationship, Shuler noted.

Ronald Gelesko, a Bridgman city commissioner, had said that the city needs $6.5 million for improvements, and obtaining the necessary tax base is the reason for attempting to annex the Cook plant.

An attorney for the city indicated that it is a lengthy process before the boundary commission makes a decision concerning annexation, and added that either side can appeal the commission's decision in court, which could take even longer.

In other areas, the township board tabled action on restoring approximately 400 feet of drain tile about a half mile north of Browntown road on the east side of California road; tabled action on a donation to the Bridgman public library; approved using the county's computer system for preparing the 1975 tax rolls for 36.5 cents per description; and instructed the supervisor to seek legal action, if necessary, to have property on Red Arrow highway brought up to the township building code.

Ronald Germain, township treasurer, reported that 99 per cent of the township property taxes have been collected and approximately $12,080 remains outstanding for 1974. Last year at this time, 97 per cent of the taxes had been collected, Germain said.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Vandals Break SJHS Windows

Thirteen windows at St. Joseph high school were shot out with a BB gun, St. Joseph police reported.

Police said someone apparently drove around the school in a car and shot at the windows. The vandalism was reported to police Monday morning, but apparently occurred over the weekend, police said. State police of the Benton Harbor post said shattered windshields and door windows were shattered on five vehicles parked at Freeway Truck Service, 1244 M-139, Benton township. No estimate of the replacement cost was reported.

Two 16-year-old girls were apprehended after a K-mart security guard allegedly saw them filling two large purses with merchandise.

Benton Harbor police said women's slacks, blouses and other items valued at a total of $92 were recovered.

The girls were arrested on charges of petty larceny at 7:40 p.m. at K-Mart, 455 Riverview drive. They will be petitioned to juvenile court, police said.

State Trooper Michael Harbaugh of the Benton Harbor post reported his coat and sunglasses, valued at a total of $105, were stolen from Ritter's restaurant, Red Arrow highway, Stevensville. The theft occurred over the weekend, state police said.

Thefts reported to Benton Harbor police were:

—A microphone transmitter valued at $150, two gold chalices, a radio and several sets of keys from St. John's Catholic church, 600 Columbus. One chalice, the radio and some of the keys were later recovered.

—A cornet and valued at $330, which belonged to Dan Graybell, 144 Downey avenue, Fairplain. The instrument was stolen from a locker at Benton Harbor high school.

—A purse containing $208, owned by Patsy Haine, of Gary, Ind., from a hallway at Mercy hospital. The purse was later found in the hospital parking lot.

St. Joseph city police reported a carpet shampoo machine and a wringer pail valued at a total of $170 were stolen from the rear of a pickup truck owned by Daniel Olvitt, 913 State street.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said burglars entered an unoccuppied ice shanty owned by Richard Hiler, Box 312 Dannafel road, Watervliet, and stole a propane stove, an ice spear, tools and other items valued at a total of $100.

St. Joseph township police said a radio valued at $90 was stolen from the home of Jim Matheu, 1901 North Valley View drive.

A Benton Harbor man was treated at Mercy hospital Monday after three men attacked him for no apparent reason, Benton Harbor police said.

Girl Said Accosted; SJ Man Arrested

St. Joseph police said Lowell Victor Munson, 23, of 814 State street, was booked at Berrien county jail Monday on a charge of enticing a minor female.

Police said the arrest was made after a 9-year-old girl told her mother that she had been accosted while walking home from school. Police said the alleged incident was reported at 3:55 p.m. and a description of a car was obtained. Munson was stopped in a car about 5 p.m., according to police.

Robbery Suspect Tackled By Nun

CHICAGO (AP) — Paul Dismuke, 28, was held on a robbery charge today after, police said, he tried to get away from a Roman Catholic church office with some $2,500 and was tackled by a nun.

Police said Dismuke, of no known address, entered the Corpus Christi Church parish office Monday and asked to see a priest. He was told none was immediately available. Nearby, Sister Ann Rubly and two parishioners were counting church receipts.

Dismuke then grabbed a canvas bag with money, threatened the group and fled. As he left, Sister Ann followed and tackled him on the sidewalk. He was held by the nun and several passersby until two policewomen in a passing car stopped and took him into custody.

Four Allegan Townships Vote Today

ALLEGAN — Voters in four Allegan county townships went to the polls in a special election today to elect a district commissioner to the Allegan county board of commissioners.

Candidates were Republican Robert Immink of Hamilon and John Funk, a Dorr Democrat.

Immink is an incumbent, having been appointed to the board following the November death of the district commissioner, Kenneth Rynbrandt of Dorr.

Immink defeated fellow Republican Marvin Brower, Overisel township supervisor, in a Feb. 4 GOP primary election for nomination to the district five seat.

Casting ballots in today's election were residents of Salem, Overisel, Heath and Valley townships.

Immink, 49, is a farmer and a member of the Allegan county farm bureau and was chairman of the county planning commission at his appointment to the county board. He is married and has five children.

Funk, 64, a Salem township farmer, formerly served on the rural Plainview school board and was a member of the directors of the Farmers Home administration in the county. He is a member of the county farm bureau and has served on the Salem township board of review. He is married and has a grown son.

Economic Blues Can Be Lifted

incomes for food to feed their families, for gasoline and other energy to heat and light homes.

"As a consequence, there is less discretionary spending for new automobiles, housing or appliances. This decline in the ability to buy so-called hard goods is at the heart of our present inflationary recession."

Bowles was critical of business and government leaders who fail to discern the interrelationship between inflation and recession, "and their refusal to give equal attention to both problems."

This, he said, "is one principal reason the American people are confused and demoralized, and why their confidence in the future of the economy is at a low ebb."

When they recognize this relationship, "and once the American people know the government has a handle on things," it may be surprising how fast consumer morale will improve, Bowles said.

Whatever tax program is enacted, he continued, must be aimed at underlying weaknesses. He proposed a "selective fiscal policy" to help areas of highest unemployment and economic disruption. He would seek through fiscal means to raise agricultural and industrial capacity.

Combined with fiscal aid to correct inadequacies in the system, he would seek a moderately stimulative monetary policy "which falls short of producing an uncontrolled demand surge which would aggravate shortages and prices."

"The federal government must not simply increase investment tax credit incentives; it must be selective as it places incentives.

'LOVING' MAIL

KANSAS CITY (AP) — It is still possible, say Hallmark experts, to have envelopes containing Valentines franked in such placed as Lovelady, Tex., Eros, La., Valentines, Va., or Sweet, Idaho. Such mail can still be sent to the postmaster of any appropriately named community with a request that it be hand-stamped and forwarded.

Petition Still Not Presented

A petition seeking to lift the closed campus rule during lunch periods at St. Joseph high school had not been presented to Principal Richard Higgs as of this morning. A group of students calling themselves Concerned Students Taking Action (CSTA) said last Thursday they were seeking 700 signatures before presenting the petition to Higgs. Higgs said this morning he had not been contacted by students circulating the petition. The principal explained earlier that changing the closed campus policy would be up to the board of education.

Clyde, Ganges Get Federal Aid For Proposed Sewer Project

FENNVILLE — Federal funds will pay for 80 per cent of the cost of a proposed sewer system for Clyde and Ganges township, according a Grand Rapids engineer.

Ed Fleis, from the Williams and Works engineering firm, told representatives from the two townships last night during the Fennville city commission that the area for the proposed sewer system must first be defined before a cost estimate can be made.

The engineer told the representatives that the townships could hook up with the city's lagoon and spray irrigation system. Under the planning, the township lines would be hooked into the city system for disposal.

The area under consideration for a sewer system is in the Hutchins lake vicinity.

In other areas, the city commission agreed to seek bids for paving North and Elizabeth streets near the new high school building.

The commission also hired Jim Moeller as a policeman for $3.85 per hour and John Hagger for the maintenance department for $3.38 per hour under the comprehensive employment training act.

Stevensville Man Charged With Threatening Witness

Clinton Roscoe Gray, 51, of 604 West John Beers road, Stevensville, demanded preliminary examination Monday in Berrien Fifth District court on a charge of threatening a witness. Gray is charged with threatening James Tull, 18, of Baldwin road, Bridgman, on March 2. According to Fred Reeves, Berrien sheriff's detective, Tull is the complainant in a case against Gray now in Berrien Circuit court. Gray is charged with carrying a concealed weapon. The alleged threat took place at a Stevensville service station where Tull is employed, Reeves said. Gray was jailed in lieu of $20,000 bond following arraignment.

Dowagiac To Get Dial-A-Ride If State OKs Changes

DOWAGIAC — A proposed dial-a-ride transportation system, tabled twice by the Dowagiac city council, was adopted in an amended form last night.

If the state approves the amendments, two, 12-passenger vans will provide transportation throughout the city, from doorstep to destination at a 50 cent fare, city officials said.

State and federal grants will pay for the equipment for the first year with the city becoming responsible for equipment and operations thereafter.

There was no timetable from city officials on when the service might be expected to begin.

Among the amendments made a part of the program by the city council are those that would guarantee the city would spend no more than $5,000 of its own funds during the first year; a fee of 150 per cent of the base fare for those just outside the city limits; no service to those a mile outside city limits; and elimination of half-fare fee systems favored by the state for certain groups.

The council also voted to place the dial-a-ride issue on the ballot at the next general election so that voters can decide whether the program will be supported by city taxpayer funds in the future.

In other areas last night, Robert Bernstein told the council that Alden Cable television hopes to make good on its promises of services to Dowagiac customers.

Bernstein said Alden is in the process of trying to refinance operations for the Dowagiac branch and if successful some $100,000 would be used for local improvements of service.

City councilmen, apparently impressed with Bernstein's pledge, changed from March 15 to April 15 the deadline for the company to initiate improvements in its lines and customer service.

Also last night the council voted to buy now, before prices go up again; 2,000 feet of sanitary sewer pipe and 1,970 feet of water line pipe to run city water and sewer services to the Big D industrial park on the southwest limits.

City officials said there will be no hookups to the lines, once installed, until industrial park tenants have reahed agreement with the city on hookup and monthly service rates.

The concrete pipe was purchased at a cost of $5.80 per foot from U.S. Concrete of Sylvania, Ohio, and the water lines for $4.42 a foot from Ellis and Ford of Grand Rapids.

The city also adopted a resolution urging that federal officials not allow Penn Central railroad to abandon several rail routes that serve buisness and industry in Dowagiac.

FOSTER PARENTS: For the past two decades, Harold and Idla Slaughter, of Grand Rapids, Mich., have been foster parents for 86 children. Because of their dedication to children in need, they've been named Foster Parents of the Year by the Michigan State Foster Parents Association. They opened their home and 80-acre farm outside Lamont, Mich., in 1955 after reading about the need for foster parents. (AP Wirephoto)

Population Restraint

MEXICO CITY (AP) — President Luis Echeverria urged the second Latin American Population Conference to work out plans for restraining population growth in their area. But he warned against allowing their nations to be turned into "human laboratories for experimentation."

South Haven Tot's Death

Mother Pleads Innocent

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — A South Haven woman charged in connection with the Nov. 16 drowning death of her 13-month-old son pleaded innocent to a charge of manslaughter when arraigned yesterday in Van Buren circuit court.

Mrs. Alice Harbison, 20, was arrested by state police at South Haven following an investigation into the death of her son, Johnny Lee Harbison, at the family trailer on Airport road.

Police said Mrs. Harbison originally told them that the boy drowned after falling into a toilet bowl. Police said their investigation showed that the infant drowned in a five gallon water can being used to clean a floor in the trailer.

In other cases, Lawrence Marr, 18, 206 South Haven street, South Haven, pleaded innocent to charges of delivering mescaline and marijuna Dec. 13 outside L.C. Mohr high school, where he is a senior.

Kevin A. Moore, 17, route 3, Watervliet, pleaded innocent to charges of armed robbery and carrying a concealed weapon stemming from a Feb. 3 robbery at Brian's Kawasaki Sales, Breedsville. A 15-year-old Coloma juvenile was also arrested in connection with the case. Confiscated were a .38-caliber revolver, an automatic pistol, a sawedoff shotgun, a carbine, and two knives, police said.

James Silas Kirby, 23, Decatur, pleaded innocent to a charge of feloniously assaulting Cass county sheriff's Sgt. Norman Bannow Jan. 19, after the officer had stopped a weaving car near Decatur. The driver allegedly threatened Bannow with a knife. Billy Hugh Harris, 23, Three Mile Lake trailer park, Paw Paw, pleaded innocent to supplemental information charging him with being a second felony offender. Harris was convicted by a Van Buren circuit court jury in February on a charge of child abuse. The supplemental information alleges that he was convicted earlier of breaking and entering a Lawrence service station May 3, 1968. A conviction on the supplemental information could lenghthen any prison term for child abuse.

Ernest Mullins, 26, route 2, 47th avenue, Paw Paw, pleaded innocent to two counts of indecent exposure Feb. 3 and Feb. 7 in Paw Paw.

Danny Morrison, 17, route 1, 39th avenue, Paw Paw, pleaded innocent to two counts of uttering and publishing a forged check. The first count alleges that he cashed a forged check for $48 at the First State Bank, Decatur, on Dec. 3. The second count charges that he wrote a forged check to Ed's Butcher Shop, Paw Paw, for $62 on Jan. 23.

Anthony Heard, also known as Anthony Wayne Lewis, 23, Chicago, pleaded guilty to absconding on a $2,500 bond Aug. 12 while awaiting sentencing on a conviction of breaking and entering Paw Paw Honda and Marine.

Ronald Lee Wilson, 24, 410 Edgell, South Haven, was sentenced to serve from 18 months to four years in state prison on his guilty plea to a charge of larceny in a building. Judge David Anderson, Jr. imposed the sentence. The charge stemmed from a Dec. 18 break-in at Hale's department store, South Haven.

Michael J. Harris, 23, 521 North Kalamazoo, Paw Paw, was sentenced to serve 60 days in the county jail on a charge of resisting arrest in October. Harris allegedly resisted Paw Paw village police officers George Fadel and Norman Krajewski as they tried to take him into custody on a charge of being a disorderly person. He pleaded guilty Jan. 2 to the charge.

Bridgman School Electric Cost Up

BRIDGMAN — The electric bill for the Bridgman school system is apparently going to be about double this year over what it was last year, the Bridgman school board learned last night.

Supt. Dr. David B. Lechner said the electric bill for the first seven school months has amounted to about $67,000 and will be about $100,000 at the end of the school year, about double what it was for the 1973-74 school year. The bill last year was $61,000, Lechner said.

Three major reasons for the big increase, he said, were the operation of the school's swimming pool; a basic rate increase of about 30 to 35 per cent; and fuel adjustment increases being passed on to customers by electric companies.

Lechner's comments came during a regular school board meeting during which the board adopted a preliminary 1975-76 school budget of $1,628,275.

The preliminary budget is about $267,131 above the present budget of $1,361,144.

The preliminary budget is adopted for use by the Berrien county allocation board for its annual distribution of non-voted tax funds to schools, townships and county government.

Also last night, the board set the 1975-76 school calendar with school slated to begin Sept. 3 and end, for seniors, on June 8, and on June 9 for the rest of the students.

The superintendent said receipts from basketball games this year amounted to $4,412, with a profit of $1,801 going towards school athletic programs.

'Return Address' Probe Sought

WASHINGTON (AP) — The ranking Republican member of a House panel says he will ask the Postal Service to look into the use of "Congress of the United States" in the return address of a group opposed to gun control.

Rep. Robert McClory of Illinois, member of a panel holding gun control hearings, said the practice of using such a return address on a mailed fund solicitation is "very deceptive" and possibly "an illegal solicitation."

CRITICISM: Mounts against Argentine President Maria Estela Person's private secretary who many have likened to a 20th-century Rasputin bu isolating the president from political leaders. A magazine urging the resignation of the secretary, Jose Lopez Rega, who also served Mrs. Peron's husband, has been ordered closed by the government.

Old School Owner Appeals Township Zoning Ruling

BUCHANAN — George Beach, owner of the former Wagner school property, appeared before the Buchanan township board last night to appeal the township planning commission's recommendation the property not be rezoned from agricultural to industrial.

Ivan Price, township supervisor, told Beach and Max Drietzler, who appeared with Beach, that the township board would make the final decision on Beach's request during its April 7 meeting. He said the county planning commission would review the proposal in the meantime.

Beach has requested the former school building, located on Wagner road, be rezoned so that Drietzler's welding firm can move to the structure. Drietzler and Son, incorporated is currently located at 121 South Oak street in Buchanan.

In other areas, the board instructed Charles Rehmel of Gardner road, to contact the county road commission about removing trees along Wagner road near his farm. Rehmel told the commission the closeness of the trees was damaging the pavement.

The board agreed to name a township resident to the Buchanan Area Recreation board at the request of the Buchanan city commission. The board said it would name the township representative at a later date.

Mrs. Brenda Darnell was told by the board that trustees would contact the township zoning appeals board about the size of sign located in her front yard at Red Bud trail south. Mrs. Darnell asked the board that she be allowed to continue to use the 30 by 30-foot sign advertising a beauty shop located in her home, despite being ordered to remove it because it was too large.

Baroda And Lake OK Joint Police Force

Resolutions approving the formation of a new Baroda-Lake police department were approved by both the Baroda township police village council and the Lake township board last night.

The new department will serve Baroda ownship as well as Baroda village and Lake township. The Baroda township board has already approved formation of the department.

Named as police chief was John Harner, former Baroda village marshal. Gary Pope of Sodus was hired as a fulltime officer and Ronald Schalon and Douglas Tiefenbach were hired as part-time officers. Both Schalon and Tiefenbach are Berrien county sheriff's officers.

Salaries and other benefits will be paid by a federal CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training act) grant given to Baroda village and township. Lake township, whose application for the federal grant was denied, will contribute $250 per month for its share of the operating costs.

Still to be completed is a contract for services to be provided by the sheriff's department. Such services will include central dispatching, computer-stored information and records, according to Berrien Undersheriff Edward Sandera.

Baroda township Supervisor Orland Mead said the sheriff will also be asked to determine if officers the force proposes to hire are qualified, and if they are, certify them as such.

A seven-member police board will govern the department, with two members named from each governmental unit and a seventh advisor from the county sheriff's department, Harner said.

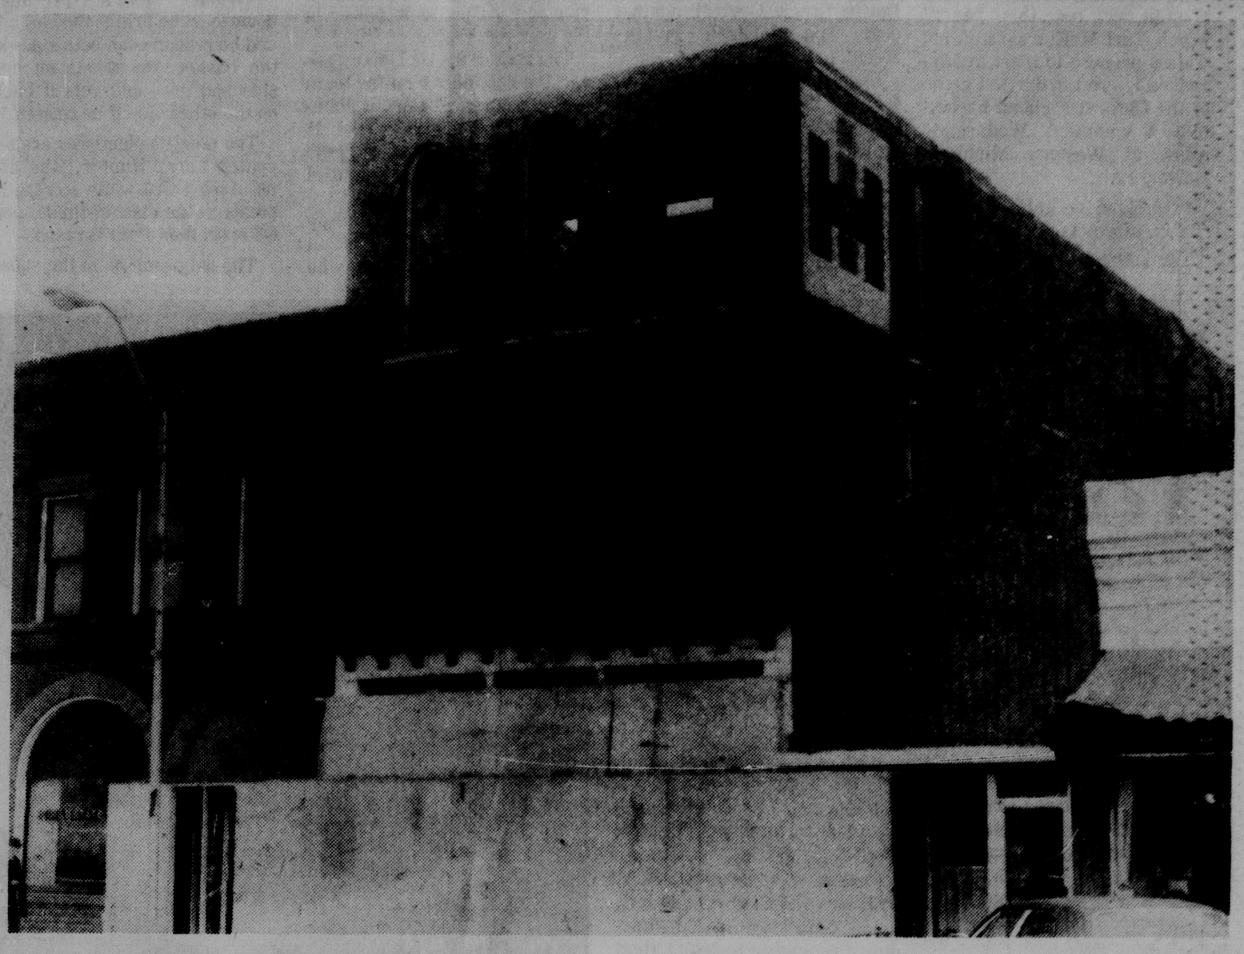
Named to the police board by their respective units were Ronald Miller and Ronald Zordell, Baroda village; Orland Mead and Donald Gast, Baroda township, and Ronald Germain and Lawrence Ott, Lake township.

The Baroda village council said last night that the federal grant funding the village's and township's share of the department will continue through June and is for $10,830. Resolutions approving the new police department also run through June, the council said, when a 13-month second grant will be sought.

The three governments have already approved the purchase of a police cruiser from Harner at a cost of $4,000. The vehicle was used by Harner when he was Baroda marshal.

During last night's meeting, the Baroda village council approved the transfer of $3,000 from the general fund to the police fund to help pay for costs of the department.

During a special meeting of the village council on Feb. 17, the council voted to include Lake township in the department because it had participated in part-time police protection with the other two units.



BANK EXPANDING: First State Bank of Decatur is in process of remodeling old Gale's Farm store building in downtown Decatur. Located next door to three-story structure, bank plans on knocking down top floor of building it purchased two years ago and will expand bank's offices on first floor. Second floor will be remodeled for storage area. Alfred Osmick, bank president said cost of remodeling will run around $40,000. He said building was built around turn of century and is only three-story structure in village. (Staff photo)

Bill Promotes Fraud: Kennedy

LANSING — State Rep. Bela Kennedy (R-Bangor) has criticized a House-passed workmen's compensation bill he says would be unfair to employers and promotes fraud by legislation.

The Van Buren county legislator said that under HB 4097, an injured employe would be given 70 per cent of the compensation awarded by a referee during delays caused by an employer's appeal.

That portion of the bill is "...fine and right on target," Kennedy said. But he added that if the amount of the award is overturned by the appeal or reduced, the employe is not required to pay back any overpayment.

Instead, the employer or insurance carrier would be reimbursed by the "Second Injury Fund" into which the employer has already contributed payments.

In essence, he said, employers would contribute to a fund to pay themselves back for overcompensation on claims, and employes could accept money to which they were not entitled.

"We have fraud and illegitimacy in too many of our departments without promoting more by legislation," Kennedy said.

The bill was sent to the Senate labor committee following its passage by the House.

Niles Votes On Millage For School

NILES — Niles voters were balloting today to renew a 19.5 mill Niles community school property tax levy in a special election here.

Polls at seven schools opened at 7 a.m. and will be open to 8 p.m.

Charles Miller, business manager for the school district, said the 19.5 mill local operating levy has not been raised since 1969. He said total school millage would be 31.6 mills if voters approve the renewal request.

Soil Porosity Test Vital, 1 Out Of 6 Sadly Learn

Ninety-six properties in Berrien county were denied permits for sewage disposal systems during 1974, according to the Berrien county health department.

These denials, because of lack of sufficient porosity of soil or high water table, represented about one of every six applications. Some 600 applications were made to the department's environmental health division. A county regulation requires health department approval before a septic tank system can be installed.

Local governmental units that issue building permits require issuance of the sewage permit by the health department before they will grant the building permit.

According to Elda Dwan, research assistant for the health department, the denials last year involved rural property that had been purchased for construction without first getting the soil checked.

Mrs. Dwan urged that prospective property purchasers contact the health department before they complete the deal on property that does not have access to a municipal sewage system. Environmental health workers will check the soil for porosity and water table for a $10 charge. This charge is the same whether the test is made before or after purchase. If the soil is adequate for disposal, another $5 is charged for a final inspection when the system is completed.

Mrs. Dwan said most real estate dealers now routinely have the health department check the soil before closing property sales.

Mobile Help For Teachers

SOUTH HAVEN — A mobile resource center is scheduled to beat South Haven schools Thursday to help elementary teachers make career education information a part of the regular instruction. The mobile unit is part of the Indiana Career Resource Center which has its headquarters in South Bend, according to G. Maurice Carroll, director of elementary instruction at South Haven. Committees will be working in the mobile unit from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 to 3:30 p.m., he said.

Dowagiac Woman Winner Of $2,000 Per Month

DOWAGIAC — Mrs. Sadie Vincent, 57, rural Dowagiac, won $2,000 a month for a year in a state lottery drawing at Jackson Livonia, Friday, according to lottery officials. Mrs. Vincent, retired from Whirlpool Corp., in St. Joseph, is a widow with four grown children. She was one of 12 persons vying for Check-A-Month prizes of $2,000 monthly, $1,000 monthly and $500-a-month. Mrs. Vincent declined to comment on her lottery prize.

Three Alternatives Face Murch Plant

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — The president of the firm which owns the A.F. Murch company, a fruit-processing plant here, said the company was considering at least three alternatives on how to resolve "problem" with the plant's operations.

Paul Smucker, board chairman and president of J. M. Smucker company, said under study were the alternatives of continuing operation of the Paw Paw plant it acquired in 1972; turning the operation over to a co-op group of growers; or, selling it outright to another firm.

A decision is probably several months away, Smucker said in a telephone interview yesterday from the company's corporate headquarters in Orrville, Ohio.

He did not identify the prodlems he said have been troubling the operation of the Paw Paw plant.

"I truthfully wish I had an answer for you, but frankly, I just don't have it," Smucker said.

The Smucker corporation has 12 plants and produces preserves, jellies, ice cream toppings and fruit syrups.

The Murch company was founded in 1959 by Andrew F. Murch and has been a buyer of fruit crops for the production of fruit concentrates and fruit drinks.

Smucker confirmed that both Robert McLean, Murch president, and Thomas Murch, sales administrator and the son of the company's founder, had submited their resignations effective with the end of February.

McLean is to continue with the parent firh as a consultant, Smucker said.

The Murch plant employes 56 people in the winter months but increases the number during the processing season, Smucker said.

Fireman Relayed Information

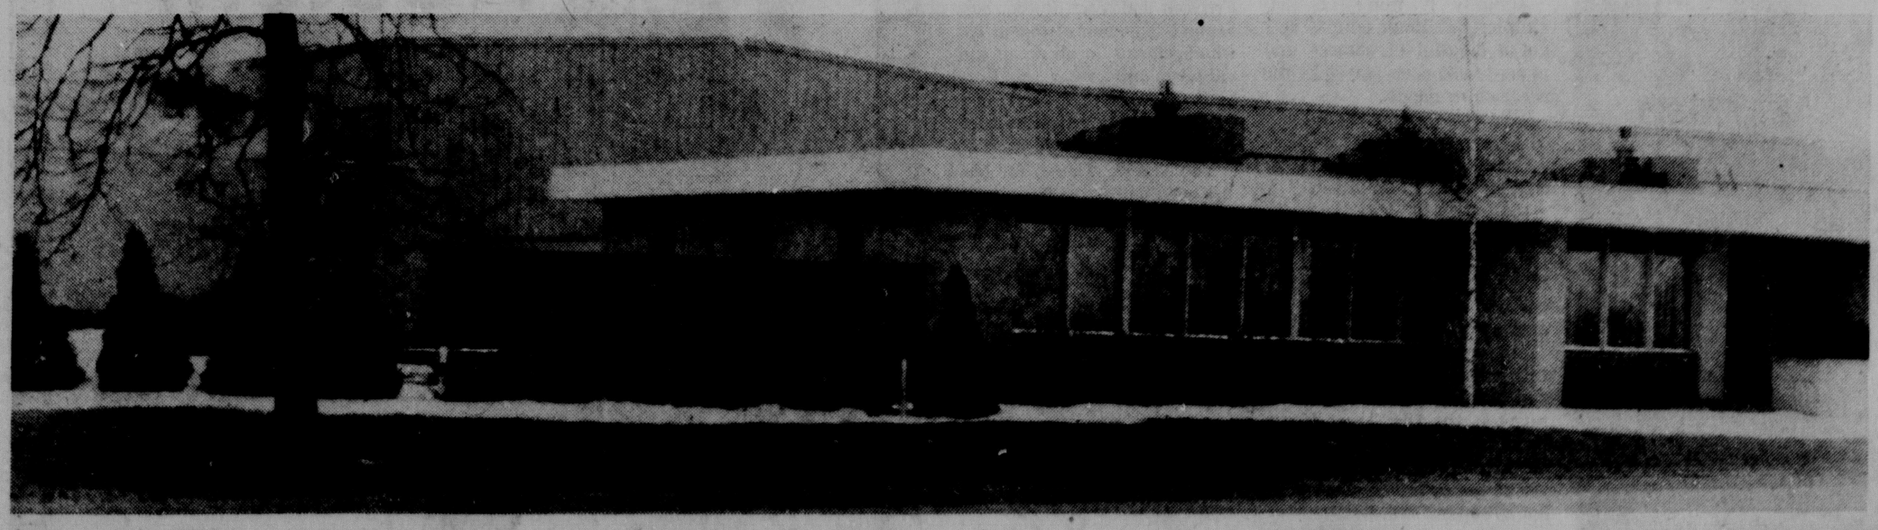
BUCHANAN — A Buchanan fireman identified by this newspaper Feb. 19 as having reported that three people escaped from a burning apartment Feb. 15, said he had been given the information by other people at the fire scene.

The fireman, George Burns, made the statement because it developed later that only two people were in the apartment when the blaze broke out.

Burns said he had no personal knowledge of who was in the apartment, but simply related information he had obtained from another person who reached the fire scene before he did.

The fire occurred in an apartment above the Red Bud Inn on Red Bud trail north of Buchanan about 8 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 15.

FULFILLING: His fantasy, State Sen. Jack Faxon of Michigan portrays the foppish prince in the Strauss operetta "Die Fledermaus" presented by a Detroit opera house. The 38-year-old Democrat from Detroit said he had always wanted to perform in an opera and jumped at the opportunity.



PROBLEMS: A.F. Murch company of Paw Paw has some problems and its operations are being re-evaluated by parent firm, J.M. Smucker company of Orrville, Ohio. Paul Smucker, president of Ohio-based firm, declined to identify problems but said decision on how to resolve them is not expected for several months. There has been no mention of closing plant that employs about 56 people in winter months and more during fruit-processing season. (Staff photo)

Covert Board Awards $3.3 Million In School Construction Contracts

COVERT — School building construction contracts amounting to an estimated $3,335,589 were awarded by the Covert school board during a special meeting last night.

Contracts awarded are for construction of a new high school, middle school rooms, five elementary school rooms and a bus garage facility, Covert Supt. William W. Randall said today.

In all cases but one the contract went to the low bidder, Randall said. The school's architects had reviewed the 77 bids submitted to the school in February.

Awarded the general construction contract of $822,100 was Erhardt Construction company of Grand Rapids. The board did not take the low bid of $769,813 from Lakewood Construction of Holland because of what Randall termed the firm's lack of experience in projects the size of Covert's.

Other contracts awarded, including alternates, according to Randall, were:

Masonary, $408,498, Lamar Construction, Holland; heating, electric and air conditioning, $1,306,540, Bosch Plumbing and Heating of Grand Rapids; electric, $281,150, Parkway Electric, Holland; roofing, $151,622, Mooi Roofing, Holland.

Acoustical ceiling, $37,323, Sluiter Plastering and Acoustical, Zeeland; food service equipment, $89,031, Starks of Battle Creek; landscaping, $30,085, Katerberg Verhage Landscape, Grand Rapids; asphalt paving, $96,023, Klett Construction of Hartford; demolition of the old high school, $23,800, Cannon Wrecking, Dorr.

Contract for the bus garage construction went to Lamar Construction of Holland at a low bid of $89,417, Randall said.

The superintendent also said that persons interested in applying for work on the construction project may contact the superintendent's office for the address of construction companies for purposes of referral only.

The referral is not to be considered a recommendation or a promise of employment, Randall said.

Covert school district voters in March, 1974, approved a $4,795,000 bond issue to finance construction projects.

Contracts for a physical education facility, including a swimming pool and auditorium, are still to be advertised and awarded.

Lake Petitions Open Annexation Battle

By STEPHEN BANYON
Staff Writer

BRIDGMAN — Ground work has been laid by Lake township to fight the proposed annexation of the $800 million Cook nuclear plant and other property in the township by Bridgman.

Township Supervisor Wade Shuler said last night during the township's regular board meeting that a petition drive opposing the annexation had been launched and the response had been "terrific."

The township board has also scheduled an informational meeting for March 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the Bridgman high school auditorium for area residents to review the city's bid for part of the township and reaction to it.

Last month the Bridgman city commission formally petitioned the state boundary commission to annex an area of the township bounded by Lake Michigan, a section line located on the Cook plant property, the centerline of I-94 and the northern city limits.

Petitions opposing the annexation were being circulated both in the proposed annexation area and the remainder of the township, Shuler said. These petitions will be sent to the state boundary commission, he added.

The informational meeting was called by the township officials to discuss the aspects of the annexation. Co-operative services now provided between governmental units will also be discussed, according to the supervisor.

The township provides the city with cemetery lots and an ambulance service and both muncipalities' fire departments assist in fire protection in both localities, he added.

"Things that have happened during the past month have changed people's viewpoints" regarding the the city's and township's relationship, Shuler noted.

Ronald Gelesko, a Bridgman city commissioner, had said that the city needs $6.5 million for improvements, and obtaining the necessary tax base is the reason for attempting to annex the Cook plant.

An attorney for the city indicated that it is a lengthy process before the boundary commission makes a decision concerning annexation, and added that either side can appeal the commission's decision in court, which could take even longer.

In other areas, the township board tabled action on restoring approximately 400 feet of drain tile about a half mile north of Browntown road on the east side of California road; tabled action on a donation to the Bridgman public library; approved using the county's computer system for preparing the 1975 tax rolls for 36.5 cents per description; and instructed the supervisor to seek legal action, if necessary, to have property on Red Arrow highway brought up to the township building code.

Ronald Germain, township treasurer, reported that 99 per cent of the township property taxes have been collected and approximately $12,080 remains outstanding for 1974. Last year at this time, 97 per cent of the taxes had been collected, Germain said.

POLICE ROUNDUP

Vandals Break SJHS Windows

Charlie Byrd, 24, of 159 Kline street, told police he was walking north on Pipestone street at 4:30 p.m. when three men jumped on him and began hitting him. Byrd was treated for a swollen eye, a cut lip and a swollen ear, police said. Police have no suspects in the assault.

Thirteen windows at St. Joseph high school were shot out with a BB gun, St. Joseph police reported.

Police said someone apparently drove around the school in a car and shot at the windows. The vandalism was reported to police Monday morning, but apparently occurred over the weekend, police said. State police of the Benton Harbor post said shattered windshields and door windows were shattered on five vehicles parked at Freeway Truck Service, 1244 M-139, Benton township. No estimate of the replacement cost was reported.

Two 16-year-old girls were apprehended after a K-mart security guard allegedly saw them filling two large purses with merchandise.

Benton Harbor police said women's slacks, blouses and other items valued at a total of $92 were recovered.

The girls were arrested on charges of petty larceny at 7:40 p.m. at K-Mart, 455 Riverview drive. They will be petitioned to juvenile court, police said.

State Trooper Michael Harbaugh of the Benton Harbor post reported his coat and sunglasses, valued at a total of $105, were stolen from Ritter's restaurant, Red Arrow highway, Stevensville. The theft occurred over the weekend, state police said.

Thefts reported to Benton Harbor police were:

—A microphone transmitter valued at $150, two gold chalices, a radio and several sets of keys from St. John's Catholic church, 600 Columbus. One chalice, the radio and some of the keys were later recovered.

—A cornet and valued at $330, which belonged to Dan Graybell, 144 Downey avenue, Fairplain. The instrument was stolen from a locker at Benton Harbor high school.

—A purse containing $208, owned by Patsy Haine, of Gary, Ind., from a hallway at Mercy hospital. The purse was later found in the hospital parking lot.

St. Joseph city police reported a carpet shampoo machine and a wringer pail valued at a total of $170 were stolen from the rear of a pickup truck owned by Daniel Olvitt, 913 State street.

Berrien sheriff's deputies said burglars entered an unoccuppied ice shanty owned by Richard Hiler, Box 312 Dannafel road, Watervliet, and stole a propane stove, an ice spear, tools and other items valued at a total of $100.

St. Joseph township police said a radio valued at $90 was stolen from the home of Jim Matheu, 1901 North Valley View drive.

A Benton Harbor man was treated at Mercy hospital Monday after three men attacked him for no apparent reason, Benton Harbor police said.

Petition Still Not Presented

A petition seeking to lift the closed campus rule during lunch periods at St. Joseph high school had not been presented to Principal Richard Higgs as of this morning. A group of students calling themselves Concerned Students Taking Action (CSTA) said last Thursday they were seeking 700 signatures before presenting the petition to Higgs. Higgs said this morning he had not been contacted by students circulating the petition. The principal explained earlier that changing the closed campus policy would be up to the board of education.

Girl Said Accosted; SJ Man Arrested

St. Joseph police said Lowell Victor Munson, 23, of 814 State street, was booked at Berrien county jail Monday on a charge of enticing a minor female.

Police said the arrest was made after a 9-year-old girl told her mother that she had been accosted while walking home from school. Police said the alleged incident was reported at 3:55 p.m. and a description of a car was obtained. Munson was stopped in a car about 5 p.m., according to police.

Robbery Suspect Tackled By Nun

CHICAGO (AP) — Paul Dismuke, 28, was held on a robbery charge today after police said, he tried to get away from a Roman Catholic church office with some $2,500 and was tackled by a nun.

Police said Dismuke, of no known address, entered the Corpus Christi Church parish office Monday and asked to see a priest. He was told none was immediately available. Nearby, Sister Ann Rubly and two parishioners were counting church receipts.

Dismuke then grabbed a canvas bag with money, threatened the group and fled. As he left, Sister Ann followed and tackled him on the sidewalk. He was held by the nun and several passersby until two policewomen in a passing car stopped and took him into custody.

Four Allegan Townships Vote Today

ALLEGAN — Voters in four Allegan county townships went to the polls in a special election today to elect a district commissioner to the Allegan county board of commissioners.

Candidates were Republican Robert Immink of Hamilon and John Funk, a Dorr Democrat.

Immink is an incumbent, having been appointed to the board following the November death of the district commissioner, Kenneth Rynbrandt of Dorr.

Immink defeated fellow Republican Marvin Brower, Overisel township supervisor, in a Feb. 4 GOP primary election for nomination to the district five seat.

Casting ballots in today's election were residents of Salem, Overisel, Heath and Valley townships.

Immink, 49, is a farmer and a member of the Allegan county farm bureau and was chairman of the county planning commission at his appointment to the county board. He is married and has five children.

Funk, 64, a Salem township farmer, formerly served on the rural Plainview school board and was a member of the directors of the Farmers Home administration in the county. He is a member of the county farm bureau and has served on the Salem township board of review. He is married and has a grown son.

Economic Blues Can Be Lifted

incomes for food to feed their families, for gasoline and other energy to heat and light homes.

"As a consequence, there is less discretionary spending for new automobiles, housing or appliances. This decline in the ability to buy so-called hard goods is at the heart of our present inflationary recession."

Bowles was critical of business and government leaders who fail to discern the interrelationship between inflation and recession, "and their refusal to give equal attention to both problems."

This, he said, "is one principal reason the American people are confused and demoralized, and why their confidence in the future of the economy is at a low ebb."

When they recognize this relationship, "and once the American people know the government has a handle on things," it may be surprising how fast consumer morale will improve, Bowles said.

Whatever tax program is enacted, he continued, must be aimed at underlying weaknesses. He proposed a "selective fiscal policy" to help areas of highest unemployment and economic disruption. He would seek through fiscal means to raise agricultural and industrial capacity.

Combined with fiscal aid to correct inadequacies in the system, he would seek a moderately stimulative monetary policy "which falls short of producing an uncontrolled demand surge which would aggravate shortages and prices."

"The federal government must not simply increase investment tax credit incentives; it must be selective as it places incentives.

BANGOR — Mrs. Walter J. (Frieda R.) Eisner, 65, of Route 1, Grand Junction, died Monday morning in Borgess hospital, Kalamazoo.

Mrs. Eisner had resided in the area since 1959 and was employed by Adams Electronics Company.

Surviving besides her husband are four sons, Walter Jr., Rockford, Ill., Robert and Richard, Bangor and Raymond of Grand Junction; four daughters, Mrs. Dolores Kufrin, Chicago, Mrs. Gloria Blackwell, Addison, Ill., Mrs. Arlene Radny, and Mrs. Marlou Madison, both of Grand Junction; three sisters, Mrs. Clara Kurr, Knox, Ill., Mrs. Edna Templin, Culver, Ind., and Mrs. Stella Freeman, Florida.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in the McKane funeral home, Bangor. Burial will be in Monk cemetery.

Alphaus Beals

BLOOMINGDALE — Alphaus G. "Al" Beals, 70, Bloomingdale, died early today in Lakeview Community hospital, Paw Paw.

Mr. Beals had been a partner in the Village Market several years and had also served on the Bloomingdale School board. He was a 32nd degree mason and a member of the Bloomingdale lodge No. 221, F&AM.

Surviving are his widow Barbara; a son James, Kalamazoo; three sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Scott and Mrs. Ramah Conley, both of Kalamazoo and Mrs. Madaline Wall, Pullman; a brother Jesse Beals, Kalamazoo.

Funeral services will be held at 1 p.m. Thursday in the Bloomingdale chapel Robbins funeral home. Burial will be in Robinson cemetery.

'LOVING' MAIL

KANSAS CITY (AP) — It is still possible, say Hallmark experts, to have envelopes containing Valentines franked in such placed as Lovelady, Tex., Eros, La., Valentines, Va., or Sweet, Idaho. Such mail can still be sent to the postmaster of any appropriately named community with a request that it be hand-stamped and forwarded.

Clyde, Ganges Get Federal Aid For Proposed Sewer Project

FENNVILLE — Federal funds will pay for 80 per cent of the cost of a proposed sewer system for Clyde and Ganges township, according a Grand Rapids engineer.

Ed Fleis, from the Williams and Works engineering firm, told representatives from the two townships last night during the Fennville city commission that the area for the proposed sewer system must first be defined before a cost estimate can be made.

The engineer told the representatives that the townships could hook up with the city's lagoon and spray irrigation system. Under the planning, the township lines would be hooked into the city system for disposal.

The area under consideration for a sewer system is in the Hutchins lake vicinity.

In other areas, the city commission agreed to seek bids for paving North and Elizabeth streets near the new high school building.

The commission also hired Jim Moeller as a policeman for $3.85 per hour and John Hagger for the maintenance department for $3.38 per hour under the comprehensive employment training act.

Stevensville Man Charged With Threatening Witness

Clinton Roscoe Gray, 51, of 694 West John Beers road, Stevensville, demanded preliminary examination Monday in Berrien Fifth District court on a charge of threatening a witness. Gray is charged with threatening James Tull, 18, of Baldwin road, Bridgman, on March 2. According to Fred Reeves, Berrien sheriff's detective, Tull is the complainant in a case against Gray now in Berrien Circuit court. Gray is charged with carrying a concealed weapon. The alleged threat took place at a Stevensville service station where Tull is employed, Reeves said. Gray was jailed in lieu of $20,000 bond following arraignment.

Tax Explanation In SJ

An explanation of federal and state income taxes will be presented tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. in the library of Lake Michigan Catholic high school, St. Joseph. William A. Seeburger, CPA, will be the speaker. A question and answer period will follow his talk. There is no charge for the lecture which is being sponsored by the adult enrichment program of Tri-Parish Religious Education. The public is invited.

Tigers Out To Delay Everett's 'Tomorrow'

They're calling Lansing Everett the team of tomorrow, but Benton Harbor hopes to prove that isn't literally true.

"I hope they're the team of the future...not this year," coach Earl McKee says as his Tigers prepare to meet highly-ranked Everett in the first game of the Class A regional basketball tournament Wednesday night at Western Michigan University.

"I feel we've got as good a chance to win as they do."

The 7:00 p.m. battle between the champions of the Lake Michigan Athletic Conference and South Central Conference looms as the premier contest of a doubleheader that matches Battle Creek Central against surprising Jackson in the second game.

Everett (20-1) was ranked No. 4 in the final Associated Press Class A poll and now stands No. 2 with the district demise of No. 1 Cass Tech and No. 3 Detroit U-D. Benton Harbor (18-3) was 11th in the final poll and now is eighth among district survivors.

Everett has won 16 straight games since suffering its lone loss at the hands of Lansing Waverly (65-62) in mid-December and with three sophomores on the varsity is viewed as a probable power in the next two years.

The best of the sophomores — and the best player on the team — is 6-6 forward Earvin Johnson, who has averaged over 21 points and 18 rebounds a game and is considered a potential high school All-American.

"He reminds me of Campy Russell when he was a sophomore," says McKee, who coached the former University of Michigan All-American when he was an assistant at Pontiac Central.

"When there's pressure downcourt he brings the ball up, and he rebounds on both sides of the basket. He shoots on one side and goes and gets it back on the other side if he misses."

The other sophomores are 6-4 center Larry Hunter, who did not miss a shot while scoring 17 points in the district finals, and 6-6 sixth man Paul Dawson.

The only seniors on the squad — 6-3 forward Randy Shumway and 6-2 guard Dan Parks — are averaging 14 and 12 points respectively. Shumway, who is also averaging 10 rebounds a game, is the only starter back from the team that lost to Niles 62-49 in the regionals last year.

Benton Harbor will be spotting the Vikings slightly over an inch per man across the front line — even more when Dawson is in the game — and McKee considers this the biggest disadvantage his team must overcome.

"It looks like if we do well against them we've got to use our speed," he says. "That's the only thing we've got going for us — they've got the size. They don't appear to be runners, so we've got to make them run.

This means some kind of a press "or all kinds of a press," McKee adds.

"We have to play heads-up and control the pace of the game. If we let them control the pace of the game we could be in trouble."

If the Tigers go man-to-man on defense, Johnson will probably find himself matched against Benton Harbor senior Mike Howard, who is averaging 18.9 points, 14.6 rebounds and has held his own against bigger opponents throughout the season.

Edward Albert is the only other Tiger in double figures with a 13.0 average, but Russell Steele and Mike Larkin each are averaging 9.3 despite off-and-on starting status and Bennie Bowers and Ray Thompson also have made key contributions.

Improved free throw shooting has played a major role in the Tigers' current eight-game winning streak. They have hit 71 per cent from the foul line in the past 10 games and now are averaging 63 per cent for the season. From the field they have maintained a fairly steady 46 per cent pace.

"I think if we decide to run our offense all the time we can do even better," McKee says. "We're learning to respect each other better....the spirit of the team is pretty good.

"We should be ready to play now."

MSU Going To Tourney?

Spartans Nip Purdue On Furlow's Shot

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State basketball Coach Gus Ganakas thinks Monday's closing-seconds victory over Purdue all but guarantees his Spartans will get a post-season tourney bid.

However, that decision may have been made even before the two teams stepped on to the East Lansing court, where the Spartans won 84-82 on an arching, 40-foot shot by Big Ten scoring leader Terry Furlow.

Sources told the Associated Press that a National Invitational Tourney spokesman Monday called Fred Stabley, MSU's sports information director, requesting lengthy information about the school's team.

That request was interpreted as a likely prelude to a bid to the post-season go-round, which, coincidentally, was won last year by Monday's losers — Purdue.

"You have to give our team a lot of credit," Ganakas said after the victory. "There was a lot riding on this game for both teams. It was like two NBA teams vying for a playoff berth."

Ganakas credited his team for consistently coming from behind to finally edge into the lead and to victory.

"Hitting that last shot was justice for Terry (Furlow) after what happened a year ago against Notre Dame" when Furlow missed a long shot that could have won game, Ganakas said.

"I think the win earned us a tournament berth," Ganakas beamed. Then, apparently joking and with his eyes obviously on the NIT, Ganakas added:

"We have a lot to offer the NIT. We have a lot of blacks for the New York fans to watch. Our coaching staff is made up of an Italian and a black, and I'm Greek. We should be popular there."

Purdue Coach Fred Schaus, disappointed with the loss, blamed MSU's quickness, Furlow's hot hand, which netted him 27 points, and the Boilermakers' poor performance on the road.

"We haven't played well on the road this year and the kids know it, but we played well tonight. In fact, we played well enough to win," Schaus said.

"MSU's quickness and its play against our man-to-man defense forced us into the zone, which we don't often play. We just didn't have the quickness to match them."

"Furlow played a sensational game. He was the difference tonight."

"They're a fast team, the fastest in the Big Ten ... Their outside shooting was uncanny," Schaus said.

Purdue led at the half, 51-39, but MSU came back to lead with just less than six minutes remaining. Center Lindsay Hairston's free throw at 5:57 put MSU out front for the first time, 75-74.

With only 19 seconds remaining, the Boilermakers stole the ball and guard Bruce Parkinson hit a six-foot jumper to tie it at 82-all.

Furlow's winning bucket, with less than 10 seconds left, followed an MSU timeout. Purdue was unable to loft a final shot.

Forward Wayne Walls led Purdue with 24 points, Bill Glover added 21 for MSU.

The two teams, both 10-7 in the Big Ten, are tied for third in the league. MSU is 17-8 overall, the Boilermakers are 15-10 for the season.

Johnson, Kupec Pace Win Over Illinois

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A large sign in the Crisler Arena stands Monday night read: "Thank you Joe and C. J."

It was held by Michigan basketball fans as a farewell tribute to Joe Johnson and C. J. Kupec, the Wolverines' senior cocaptains who were playing in their last home game.

The pair received a standing ovation before the game and, as fate would have it, they were the heros at the end.

Johnson sank an 18-foot jumper with one second left to give the Wolverines a 77-75 Big Ten victory over last-place Illinois and keep Michigan on what apparently is the inside track for a National Collegiate Athletic Association playoff berth.

Kupec, meanwhile, led the balanced Michigan attack with 19 points and five assists.

Michigan remains tied with Minnesota for second place behind Indiana. Minnesota was victorious over Wisconsin, while Purdue dropped from second by losing to Michigan State.

Coach Johnny Orr's Wolverines have an 11-6 Big Ten record and 18-7 overall mark. Illinois dropped to 4-13 and 8-17.

"Joe hit the big basket in a clutch situation — and that's what winning teams do," said Illinois Coach Gene Bartow, whose team has lost nine of its last 10 games and 11 of the last 13.

"We outplayed them (the Wolverines), we feel, in everything but the final score," he said.

Illinois had only hit 42 per cent of its floor shots this season, but against Michigan the Illini swished the basket at a 59 per cent clip to only 41 for the Maize and Blue.

"We were flat. We couldn't come to life and get ignited," said Orr, whose team coasted past Purdue 93-76 Saturday.

"We've never played well on Monday," he said.

The Wolverines had lost four of their previous six Monday night matches.

Illinois, which got 27 points from Rick Schmidt, led 36-35 at halftime. The game was seesaw the rest of the way, with 19 lead changes and five ties. The final one came with 1:35 remaining when Otho Tucker sank a jumper for Illinois to knot the score 75-all.

Michigan stalled, then called time out with 56 seconds left. The stall continued before another time out with nine seconds left to set up the final shot, which guard Johnson eased in from near the key.

"On a play like that you don't say who is going to take the shot. You just get it to the open man," said Johnson, a 5-foot-11, 150-pounder from Detroit. "If it misses you go into overtime, but you don't want to do that. You try not to let the pressure affect you."

Counting their freshman games four years ago, Johnson and Kupec played for Michigan teams that won 41 games and lost only four in Crisler Arena.

Johnson was the only starter not in double figures against the Illini. He scored nine points. Junior Wayman Britt of Flint had 18, while sophomores John Robinson of Chicago and Steve Grote of Cincinnati added 15 and 14 respectively.

Mike Washington and Nate Williams scored 18 points each for Illinois, including 12 of its last 14 points. Their combined scoring average had been 18 points.

U.S. Women Steal Track Show

Francie Larrieu Sets Mile Record Against Soviets

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Once again the American women stole the show in the fourth USSR-USA indoor track meet, and garrulous Francie Larrieu admits there's an assault under way on running records held by men.

"Women and men are physiologically different, but anything is possible," she said after running the fastest women's mile in history by one-half second in Monday night's fourth annual meet between the two countries.

The Americans gained an overwhelming victory, 171-106, against an inexperienced Russian team that lacked many of that nation's world-class athletes.

Although there were fewer women's events, the U.S. women chalked up 73 of the Americans' total points, won nine of their 11 events, broke six records and tied another.

In men's competition, the Americans defeated the Russians in 12 of 15 events and piled up a 98-62 margin. Five records were broken and one tied, all but two by the Americans.

Also waving the women's banner was Joni Huntley, a petite 18-year-old freshman at the University of Oregon who broke her own American indoor high jump record by clearing 6-2½.

As the meet was in its final minutes, she failed in three attempts at 6-3¼, which would have been the highest ever by an American woman either indoors or out.

Miss Larrieu had little competition as she raced against the clock in the mile, finishing with a time of 4:28.5. Enroute, she also broke her own 1,500-meter mark with a clocking of 4:09.8.

As for the men, North Carolina Central's Charlie Foster tied the amateur world record of 6.8 seconds in the 60-yard hurdles and Vladimir Golubnichi, a 39-year-old Russian, set a world record in the three-mile walk in 19:46.2.

World 880 record holder Rick Wolhuter of Chicago, recipient of the Sullivan Award for his performances last year, won in 1:49.4, more than a second above his American indoor mark.

Another world record holder, Dwight Stones of Long Beach, Calif., took the high jump with a lackluster 7-3.

Besides Golubnichi, Valeri Boiko upped the pole vault record by 6½ inches to 17-3¼ and Irinia Bondarchuk ran a record 10:02.6 in the two-mile. But Olympic 1,500-meter champion Liudmilla Bragina was third as 18-year-old Kate Keyes of Los Angeles took second.

The other women record breakers were Cheryl Toussaint of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Robin Campbell of Washington, D. C.; Jane Frederick of Orinda, Calif., and a medley relay team of three 16-year-olds and Rosalyn Bryant of Chicago, who at 19 holds the world indoor 220 record.

Miss Toussaint ran the 880 in 2:08.6 and Miss Campbell the 440 in 55.1. Miss Frederick piled up 2,902 points in the triathlon. On the 3.25.3 relay team with Miss Bryant were Miss Campbell, Angel Doyle of Harrisburg, Pa., and Kathy Weston of Reno, Nev., the 880 runner-up.

Glenn Herold of Madison, Wis., clocking a 13:11.0 in the three-mile run, returned the record to the Americans in that event by surpassing the previous mark of 13:22.6 held by Rashide Sharafyetdinov, and the men's medley relay team lowered the standard to 3:01.1.

WORLD RECORD: Francie Larrieu hits finish line in mile run with time of 4:28.5 to set new world record during USA-USSR track meet Monday night in Richmond, Va. She set the old record of 4:29.0 earlier this year. (AP Wirephoto)

Houk To Rotate Players As DH

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — When Detroit Tiger Manager Ralph Houk needs a designated hitter this year, about all he'll have to do is reach into a hat and pull out any one of almost a half-dozen names.

Actually it won't be that simple. But Houk admits he's got a handful of choices and plans to use each player as the occasion demands.

"We won't have one designated hitter," Houk said. "We'll go with different guys, depending on a lot different situations."

Houk said he doesn't plan to use Willie Horton as the fulltime DH, which is just as well for Horton, who says he doesn't particularly want the job anyway.

"I think you're going to see Bill Freehan and Gates Brown and Ben Oglivie all take their turns as the DH," said Houk. "And don't forget about Dan Meyer — I've got a feeling you're going to see him in the lineup somewhere."

Meyer is reknowned for his hitting but his fielding needs considerable polishing, so the DH spot may be tailor-made for him.

"One way or another, we're not going to be able to keep him off this club," Houk said. "He's too good a hitter and we need that left-handed bat. We're short there."

If Freehan is used as a DH against left-handed pitchers, the Tigers could field an all right-handed lineup. Left-hitting Brown might be used as a DH only occasionally, as he is valuable in the pinch-hitting spot, where he holds an American League record.

While Houk ponders his open DH slot, a number of Tigers are starting another mental pursuit — Transcendental Meditation.

A dozen players, including Ron LeFlore, Mickey Lolich, Freehan and Vern Ruhle, have begun a four-hour course in TM, which claims to allow an individual to fully relax mind and body for short periods, thus leading to more self-confidence, control and stability.

The Tigers, who so far have not been hampered by injuries, open their Grapefruit League season Friday against Boston in Winter Haven. Houk claims to have picked his pitching rotation, with each hurler working three innings, for the first five games. As yet, Houk has not revealed who will work in which game.

Baroda And Lake OK Joint Police Force

Resolutions approving the formation of a new Baroda-Lake police department were approved by both the Baroda township police village council and the Lake township board last night.

The new department will serve Baroda ownship as well as Baroda village and Lake township. The Baroda township board has already approved formation of the department.

Named as police chief was John Harner, former Baroda village marshal. Gary Pope of Sodus was hired as a fulltime officer and Ronald Schalon and Douglas Tiefenbach were hired as part-time officers. Both Schalon and Tiefenbach are Berrien county sheriff's officers.

Salaries and other benefits will be paid by a federal CETA (Comprehensive Employment Training act) grant given to Baroda village and township. Lake township, whose application for the federal grant was denied, will contribute $250 per month for its share of the operating costs.

Still to be completed is a contract for services to be provided by the sheriff's department. Such services will include central dispatching, computer-stored information and records, according to Berrien Undersheriff Edward Sandera.

Baroda township Supervisor Orland Mead said the sheriff will also be asked to determine if officers the force proposes to hire are qualified, and if they are, certify them as such.

A seven-member police board will govern the department, with two members named from each governmental unit and a seventh advisor from the county sheriff's department, Harner said.

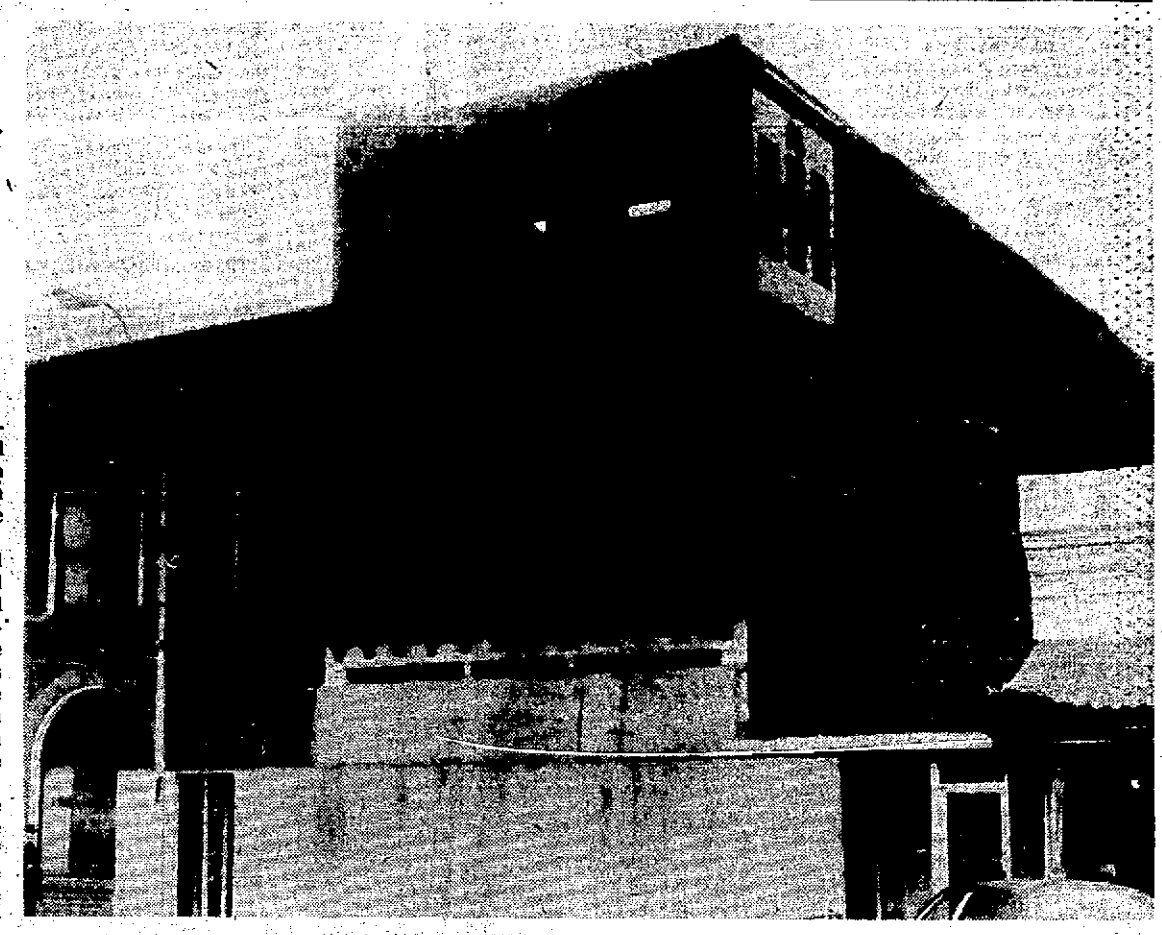
Named to the police board by their respective units were Ronald Miller and Ronald Zordell, Baroda village; Orland Mead and Donald Gast, Baroda township, and Ronald Germain and Lawrence Ott, Lake township.

The Baroda village council said last night that the federal grant funding the village's and township's share of the department will continue through June and is for $10,830. Resolutions approving the new police department also run through June, the council said, when a 13-month second grant will be sought.

The three governments have already approved the purchase of a police cruiser from Harner at a cost of $4,000. The vehicle was used by Harner when he was Baroda marshal.

During last night's meeting, the Baroda village council approved the transfer of $3,000 from the general fund to the police fund to help pay for costs of the department.

During a special meeting of the village council on Feb. 17, the council voted to include Lake township in the department because it had participated in part-time police protection with the other two units.



BANK EXPANDING: First State Bank of Decatur is in process of remodeling old Gale's Farm store building in downtown Decatur. Located next door to three-story structure, bank plans on knocking down top floor of building it purchased two years ago and will expand bank's offices on first floor. Second floor will be remodeled for storage area. Alfred Osmick, bank president said cost of remodeling will run around $40,000. He said building was built around turn of century and is only three-story structure in village. (Staff photo)

Bill Promotes Fraud: Kennedy

LANSING — State Rep. Bela Kennedy (R-Bangor) has criticized a House-passed workmen's compensation bill he says would be unfair to employers and promotes fraud by legislation.

The Van Buren county legislator said that under HB 4097, an injured employe would be given 70 per cent of the compensation awarded by a referee during delays caused by an employer's appeal.

That portion of the bill is "...fine and right on target," Kennedy said. But he added that if the amount of the award is overturned by the appeal or reduced, the employe is not required to pay back any overpayment.

Instead, the employer or insurance carrier would be reimbursed by the "Second Injury Fund" into which the employer has already contributed payments.

In essence, he said, employers would contribute to a fund to pay themselves back for overcompensation on claims, and employes could accept money to which they were not entitled.

"We have fraud and illegitimacy in too many of our departments without promoting more by legislation," Kennedy said.

The bill was sent to the Senate labor committee following its passage by the House.

Niles Votes On Millage For School

NILES — Niles voters were balloting today to renew a 19.5 mill Niles community school property tax levy in a special election here.

Polls at seven schools opened at 7 a.m. and will be open to 8 p.m.

Charles Miller, business manager for the school district, said the 19.5 mill local operating levy has not been raised since 1969. He said total school millage would be 31.6 mills if voters approve the renewal request.

Soil Porosity Test Vital, 1 Out Of 6 Sadly Learn

Ninety-six properties in Berrien county were denied permits for sewage disposal systems during 1974, according to the Berrien county health department.

These denials, because of lack of sufficient porosity of soil or high water table, represented about one of every six applications. Some 600 applications were made to the department's environmental health division. A county regulation requires health department approval before a septic tank system can be installed.

Local governmental units that issue building permits require issuance of the sewage permit by the health department before they will grant the building permit.

According to Elda Dwan, research assistant for the health department, the denials last year involved rural property that had been purchased for construction without first getting the soil checked.

Mrs. Dwan urged that prospective property purchasers contact the health department before they complete the deal on property that does not have access to a municipal sewage system. Environmental health workers will check the soil for porosity and water table for a $10 charge. This charge is the same whether the test is made before or after purchase. If the soil is adequate for disposal, another $5 is charged for a final inspection when the system is completed.

Mrs. Dwan said most real estate dealers now routinely have the health department check the soil before closing property sales.

Mobile Help For Teachers

SOUTH HAVEN — A mobile resource center is scheduled to beat South Haven schools Thursday to help elementary teachers make career education information a part of the regular instruction. The mobile unit is part of the Indiana Career Resource Center which has its headquarters in South Bend, according to G. Maurice Carroll, director of elementary instruction at South Haven. Committees will be working in the mobile unit from 9 to 11:30 a.m. and from 1 to 3:30 p.m., he said.

Dowagiac Woman Winner Of $2,000 Per Month

DOWAGIAC — Mrs. Sadie Vincent, 57, rural Dowagiac, won $2,000 a month for a year in a state lottery drawing at Jackson Livonia, Friday, according to lottery officials. Mrs. Vincent, retired from Whirlpool Corp., in St. Joseph, is a widow with four grown children. She was one of 12 persons vying for Check-A-Month prizes of $2,000 monthly, $1,000 monthly and $500-a-month. Mrs. Vincent declined to comment on her lottery prize.

Three Alternatives Face Murch Plant

By DENNIS COGSWELL
Paw Paw Bureau

PAW PAW — The president of the firm which owns the A.F. Murch company, a fruit-processing plant here, said the company was considering at least three alternatives on how to resolve "problem" with the plant's operations.

Paul Smucker, board chairman and president of J. M. Smucker company, said under study were the alternatives of continuing operation of the Paw Paw plant it acquired in 1972, turning the operation over to a co-op group of growers; or, selling it outright to another firm.

A decision is probably several months away, Smucker said in a telephone interview yesterday from the company's corporate headquarters in Orrville, Ohio.

He did not identify the problems he said have been troubling the operation of the Paw Paw plant.

"I truthfully wish I had an answer for you, but frankly, I just don't have it," Smucker said.

The Smucker corporation has 12 plants and produces preserves, jellies, ice cream toppings and fruit syrups.

The Murch company was founded in 1959 by Andrew F. Murch and has been a buyer of fruit crops for the production of fruit concentrates and fruit drinks.

Smucker confirmed that both Robert McLean, Murch president, and Thomas Murch, sales administrator and the son of the company's founder, had submited their resignations effective with the end of February.

McLean is to continue with the parent firh as a consultant, Smucker said.

The Murch plant employes 56 people in the winter months but increases the number during the processing season, Smucker said.

Fireman Relayed Information

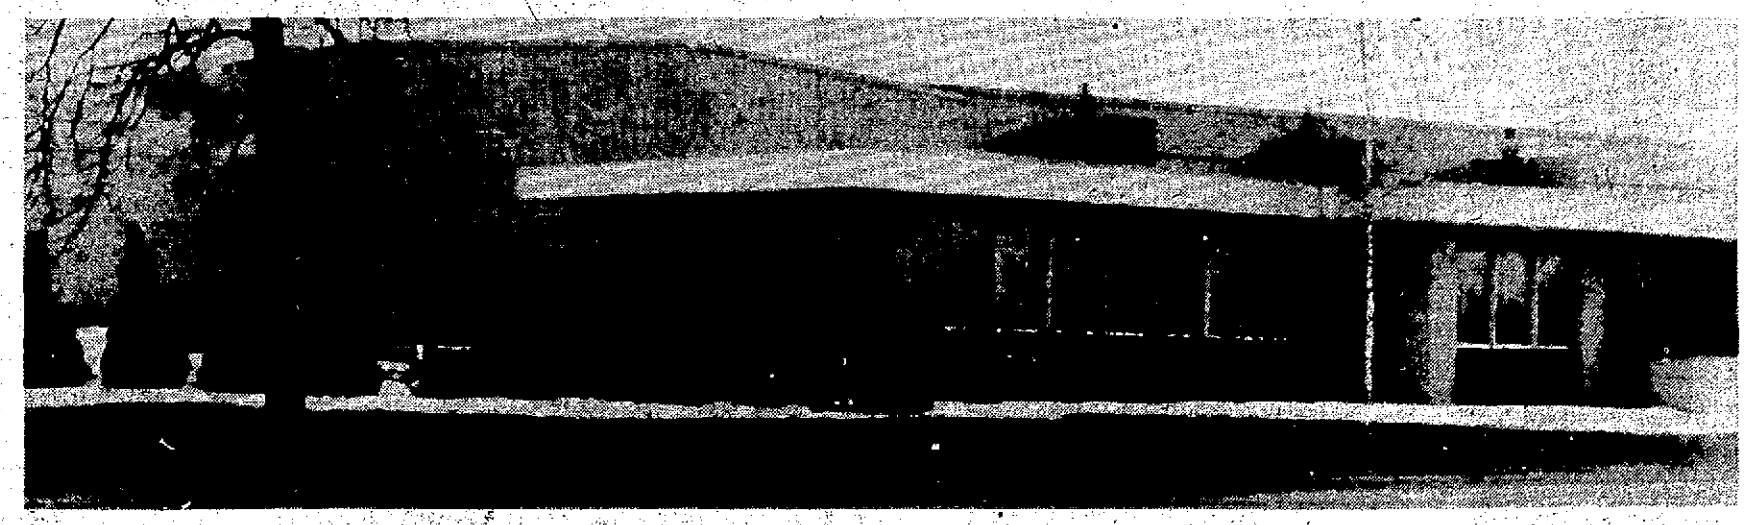
BUCHANAN — A Buchanan fireman identified by this newspaper Feb. 19 as having reported that three people escaped from a burning apartment Feb. 15, said he had been given the information by other people at the fire scene.

The fireman, George Burns, made the statement because it developed later that only two people were in the apartment when the blaze broke out.

Burns said he had no personal knowledge of who was in the apartment, but simply related information he had obtained from another person who reached the fire scene before he did.

The fire occurred in an apartment above the Red Bud Inn on Red Bud trail north of Buchanan about 8 a.m. Saturday, Feb. 15.

FULFILLING: His fantasy, State Sen. Jack Faxon of Michigan portrays the foppish prince in the Strauss operetta "Die Fledermaus" presented by a Detroit opera house. The 38-year-old Democrat from Detroit said he had always wanted to perform in an opera and jumped at the opportunity.



PROBLEMS: A.F. Murch company of Paw Paw has some problems and its operations are being re-evaluated by parent firm, J.M. Smucker company of Orrville, Ohio. Paul Smucker, president of Ohio-based firm, declined to identify problems but said decision on how to resolve them is not expected for several months. There has been no mention of closing plant that employs about 56 people in winter months and more during fruit-processing season. (Staff photo)

Covert Board Awards $3.3 Million In School Construction Contracts

COVERT — School building construction contracts amounting to an estimated $3,335,369 were awarded by the Covert school board during a special meeting last night.

Contracts awarded are for construction of a new high school, middle school rooms, five elementary school rooms and a bus garage facility, Covert Supt. William W. Randall said today.

In all cases but one the contract went to the low bidder, Randall said. The school's architects had reviewed the 77 bids submitted to the school in February.

Awarded the general construction contract of $822,100 was Erhardt Construction company of Grand Rapids. The board did not take the low bid of $709,813 from Lakewood Construction of Holland because of what Randall termed the firm's lack of experience in projects the size of Covert's.

Other contracts awarded, including alternates, according to Randall, were:

Masonary, $406,496, Lamar Construction, Holland; heating, electric and air conditioning, $1,306,540, Beech Plumbing and Heating of Grand Rapids; electric, $301,100, Parkway Electric, Holland; roofing, $151,622, Mooi Roofing, Holland.

Acoustical ceiling, $37,323, Sluiter Plastering and Acoustical, Zeeland; food service equipment, $80,031, Starks of Battle Creek; landscaping, $30,085, Katerberg Verhage Landscape, Grand Rapids; asphalt paving, $66,020, Kleit Construction of Hartford; demolition of the old high school, $23,000, Cannon Wrecking, Dorr.

Contract for the bus garage construction went to Lamar Construction of Holland at a low bid of $88,417, Randall said.

The superintendent also said that persons interested in applying for work on the construction project may contact the superintendent's office for the address of construction companies for purposes of referral only.

The referral is not to be considered a recommendation or a promise of employment, Randall said.

Covert school district voters in March, 1974, approved a $4,795,000 bond issue to finance construction projects.

Contracts for a physical education facility, including a swimming pool and auditorium, are still to be advertised and awarded.

Three Bud Teams Top Area Delegation In Regionals

The Blossomland conference banner will be flying high in this week's regional basketball tournaments.

The league's first three teams — Buchanan, Cassopolis and River Valley — are among a seven-team southwestern Michigan delegation at three tourney sites.

Blossomland champion Buchanan opens tonight against Otsego in a Western Michigan Class B doubleheader which also pits Wolverine champion Paw Paw against highly-touted Albion, the state's fifth-ranked team with just one loss.

Cassopolis, the area's highest scoring team, and River Valley, a tough defensive outfit, are in a strong Portage Northern Class C tournament which includes three teams which reached the regionals last March.

Meanwhile, Red Arrow co-champion Galien is in the Sturgis Class D regional with surprising Gobles, while LMAC titlist and 11th-rated Benton Harbor is in the Class A tourney at Western Michigan.

River Valley and Galien also open tonight, with the Mustangs facing a 13-10 Kalamazoo Hackett squad and Galien going against Camden-Frontier, the Southern Central League champion with a 17-4 record.

Buchanan will throw five double figure scorers, a 17-5 record, the state's No. 18 ranking and a six-game winning streak against a 15-7 Otsego squad which finished third in the Wolverine.

Ken Garrett is averaging 16.9, Mike McGuirt 13.7, Mark Jackson 10.6, Walt Vanderbush 10.4 and Mike Busby 10.3 on a Buchanan team which is third among area scorers at 74.1 per game. Busby led the Bucks through three district games with an 18.0 average.

Otsego, which reached the regionals by downing KVA champ Parchment 66-53 in a district final, could face rebounding problems against the Bucks' 6-5 Garrett and 6-4 Busby.

Joe Stout, a 6-4 sophomore center, is Otsego's tallest player. Bruce Esterline, a 6-2 senior, is the top pointmaker.

"They are a very sticky team...very sound fundamentally," says Buchanan coach Bill Wilson, "and outside shooting is one of their strengths."

Wilson hopes to keep pressure on Otsego's outside shooters while trying to get his foes in a running game. He also says his squad must get more consistent, especially if Otsego starts in a man-to-man defense.

Wilson jokingly calls his 7 p.m. contest the "jayvee game" with the "varsity game" of the doubleheader seeing Paw Paw pit a 19-3 record and a No. 15 ranking against 21-1 Albion and its super center — 6-6 senior Clarence Jackson. Albion is also the highest ranked team left alive in Class B.

Jackson, a three-year varsity player, is averaging 29 points and 21 rebounds per game this season for the Albion squad which has lost only to Bronson.

Larry Vasquez, a 5-6 guard, is the other double figures scorer on the Albion team which has scored high as 118 points this season while also owning a fine defensive mark of 54 points per game.

Paw Paw will counter with the high scoring senior trio of Rick Mitchell (22.3), Kevin Davis (16.7) and Ed Dow (15.2).

In Class C, River Valley will challenge Hackett with four twin digit scorers — Mitch Coffman (14.6), Greg Johnson (13.0), Mike White (12.3) and Kevin O'Connell (11.7). The other starter, Dave North, averaged 15.7 in the districts for the 17-6 Mustangs.

Hackett, which has won six in a row to move over .500 for the season, is paced by 6-2 Rick Barta and 6-4 Tommy Williams, who are averaging 14 and 13 points per game, respectively. The pair are also Hackett's leading rebounders.

"I saw them in the district finals," comments River Valley coach Jerry Schaffer. "They're good shooters and pretty quick."

River Valley is third in the area on defense while allowing just 55.6 per game with a man-to-man alignment, while Hackett has been stingy out of a 2-3 zone.

"They play real good competition...bigger schools than Class C," adds Schaffer on the Hackett club which has five victories over Class A foes.

Cass opens in Class C Wednesday against 14-8 Bronson, which lost this season to the Blossomland's Buchanan and Lakeshore.

"I think we are pretty evenly matched from what I've heard," says Cass coach Bob Follett. "Overall, I think we are a little quicker, and we should match up fairly well in size."

Bronson usually uses a zone press through out the game. It also relies on the scoring of 6-5 center Scott German.

"If we can get through the pressure and stop German, we should be able to win the ball game," says Follett.

Cassopolis, the highest ranked area team at No. 7 and the top scorer at 81.7, will test Bronson with a 20-3 record which includes six consecutive victories.

Southwestern Michigan scoring champion Roger Walters is averaging 27.0, Gary Young 15.8 and Mark Scott 15.1 for the Ranger squad which posted a 57 per cent shooting average over three district games.

The Sturgis Class D event sees Galien match an 18-4 record and a No. 22 ranking against Camden-Frontier.

Camden-Frontier is paced in the scoring department by Gary Fransom (16.7) and Brent Eby (13.5) while Stacey Tarr is the top rebounder.

Don Kooy tops the Gaels with a 16.0 mark, Dale Luther stands at 14.5 and Dave Rock at 10.9, including a career-high 25-point effort in the districts. Rock sprained his ankle in the district final but is expected to be ready tonight.

Galien coach Mike Heckathorn hopes the Gaels can keep up their balanced scoring which saw all five starters score in double figures for the first time this season in the district final. He also believes his Gaels must show some offensive improvement against man-to-man defenses.

Gobles will be the only area regional team with a losing record at 10-11 Brad Manley sparks Gobles scorers at 10.6 and Charlie Lynch stands at 10.1.

Gobles will be going up against an 11-9 Mendon team which lost out in the regional finals last season.

Predominately junior Mendon is topped by the 15 points per game scoring of 5-9 junior guard Dan Kennedy. Wayne McGlothlen, a 6-2 junior center, is the tallest Hornet.

Salary Wars Cause Expanded Slate

Losers Also Make Playoffs

Like the family farm and castor oil, the notion that a team should win to be successful in professional sport seems to have faded into nothing more than a memory. And a fond one, at that.

If you can think back a decade ago, you can remember when the World Series really meant something. Two teams were competing which had struggled through a long season, and they were the only two still playing.

The sports of basketball and hockey have taken a different course of late. Money is the reason.

This year, after umpteen expansions and new leagues, 38 out of 60 professional hockey and basketball teams will qualify for post-season playoffs.

One team currently in line for a spot in the playoffs has a 20-46 record, which works out to a .303 winning percentage.

If the playoffs began today, eight teams competing in the four basketball and hockey leagues would have losing records.

Why? Since when was there a reward for losing?

"It's simple," said a general manager of a pro basketball team. "There are so many teams in the playoffs because we need the money. Almost everybody is losing money. We need all the games to recover what we can."

So as an answer to salary wars which have resulted in an estimated 100 hockey and basketball players making $100,000 or more per year, the leagues have set up a large playoff schedule.

The 10-team American Basketball Association will have an eight-team playoff. The 18-team National Basketball Association has a 10-team playoff. The 18-team National Hockey Association has a 12-team playoff and the 14-team World Hockey Association has an eight-team playoff.

And even such doings have failed to create last-minute races for a playoff spot in some leagues. In the NHL, for instance, 11 of the 12 playoff teams are already decided; the only remaining struggle is between the New York Islanders and Atlanta.

A television announcer mentioned the other day that an ABA team, Virginia, was stronger now that it had added a new player and he said the team might make a run at a playoff spot. Virginia's record is 14-52. The team ahead of it, Memphis, has won 20 and lost 46.

Such a statement would not have been made a few years ago, when winning was all-important. It seems that those days are as distant now as the time when flop-eared mules outnumbered automobiles.

"I remember," one sports official said, "when you used to race for the morning paper to see who won. You used to care about which team would win it all."

Those were the days. Remember?

Gophers Open Hockey Title Defense

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The heavyweights supposedly fall the hardest, but that time-worn adage doesn't worry University of Minnesota hockey Coach Herb Brooks as he prepares his defending national champions for post-season play tonight.

"Teams have pointed for us all year," said Brooks. "We've been a marked team, but have weathered it very well."

Minnesota, which won the Western Collegiate Hockey Association with a 24-8 season record, opens a two-game "most-goals" series with Minnesota-Duluth, which finished eighth in the league with a 9-20-3 record.

"Most coaches don't like the most-goals setup," said Brooks. "We'd prefer a best of three series, but the way it is we can only look at it as a six period game."

The Gophers lost their season opener to Duluth before winning five straight over the Bulldogs.

"We're not any more leary of Duluth than any other team in the league," said Brooks. "You never have an easy game in this league."

The Gophers had a nine-game winning skein halted at Michigan Tech over the weekend, losing 7-0 and 5-4 games to the runnerup Huskies.

"I certainly don't like to lose two in a row," said Brooks. "But we finished exactly the same way last year and then won six straight in the playoffs for the national championship."

Brooks said this year's club is a better all-round unit than the 1974 national champions.

"We won the WCHA this year and that's a difficult accomplishment," he added. "Last year's team was an older, more mature team and weathered the tight spots very well."

Brooks will probably go with senior goalie Larry Thayer in both games against UMD.

"He's like a lot of the guys on the team last year," added Brooks. "He's older and doesn't get rattled. I'm sure we'll go with him all the way unless he really gets shelled in the first game."

"I'd be less than honest if I didn't think of the possibility of peaking too early," said Brooks. "But we're still a young team with a lot of room for improvement."

In other league playoffs tonight, Notre Dame visits Michigan Tech, Michigan State is at Wisconsin and Michigan travels to Colorado College. The same teams meet Wednesday with winners advancing to another "most-goals" playdown Saturday and Sunday.

Run To Sun Program Still Open At YMCA

Area men and women can still join the YMCA's Run to the Sun 2000 mile marathon.

Phoenix, Arizona, some 2000 miles away, has been set as the goal. Members can run on the YMCA indoor track (30 times to a mile) or outdoor on a measured track or road for distance. Each 20 miles is recorded on a master chart. Individual miles are scored daily.

Sixty men and six women are currently enrolled in the program. New members are welcome to begin the program. For more infmation contact Sam Anderson at the YMCA at 927-1371.

Garner Stars

BIG RAPIDS — Lewis Garner of Niles scored 27 points to lead Ferris State College to a 73-72 victory over Lake Superior State in a NAIA District 23 playoff game here Monday night.

Tigers Out To Delay Everett's 'Tomorrow'

They're calling Lansing Everett the team of tomorrow, but Benton Harbor hopes to prove that isn't literally true.

"I hope they're the team of the future...not this year," coach Earl McKee says as his Tigers prepare to meet highly-ranked Everett in the first game of the Class A regional basketball tournament Wednesday night at Western Michigan University.

"I feel we've got as good a chance to win as they do."

The 7:00 p.m. battle between the champions of the Lake Michigan Athletic Conference and South Central Conference looms as the premier contest of a doubleheader that matches Battle Creek Central against surprising Jackson in the second game.

Everett (20-1) was ranked No. 4 in the final Associated Press Class A poll and now stands No. 2 with the district demise of No. 1 Cass Tech and No. 3 Detroit U-D. Benton Harbor (18-3) was 11th in the final poll and now is eighth among district survivors.

Everett has won 16 straight games since suffering its lone loss at the hands of Lansing Waverly (65-62) in mid-December and with three sophomores on the varsity is viewed as a probable power in the next two years.

The best of the sophomores — and the best player on the team — is 6-6 forward Earvin Johnson, who has averaged over 21 points and 18 rebounds a game and is considered a potential high school All-American.

"He reminds me of Campy Russell when he was a sophomore," says McKee, who coached the former University of Michigan All-American when he was an assistant at Pontiac Central.

"When there's pressure downcourt he brings the ball up, and he rebounds on both sides of the basket. He shoots on one side and goes and gets it back on the other side if he misses."

The other sophomores are 6-4 center Larry Hunter, who did not miss a shot while scoring 17 points in the district finals, and 6-6 sixth man Paul Dawson.

The only seniors on the squad — 6-3 forward Randy Shumway and 6-2 guard Dan Parks — are averaging 14 and 12 points respectively. Shumway, who is also averaging 10 rebounds a game, is the only starter back from the team that lost to Niles 62-49 in the regionals last year.

Benton Harbor will be spotting the Vikings slightly over an inch per man across the front line — even more when Dawson is in the game — and McKee considers this the biggest disadvantage his team must overcome.

"It looks like if we do well against them we've got to use our speed," he says. "That's the only thing we've got going for us — they've got the size. They don't appear to be runners, so we've got to make them run.

This means some kind of a press "or all kinds of a press," McKee adds.

"We have to play heads-up and control the pace of the game. If we let them control the pace of the game we could be in trouble."

If the Tigers go man-to-man on defense, Johnson will probably find himself matched against Benton Harbor senior Mike Howard, who is averaging 18.9 points, 14.6 rebounds and has held his own against bigger opponents throughout the season.

Edward Albert is the only other Tiger in double figures with a 13.0 average, but Russell Steele and Mike Larkin each are averaging 9.3 despite off-and-on starting status and Bennie Bowers and Ray Thompson also have made key contributions.

Improved free throw shooting has played a major role in the Tigers' current eight-game winning streak. They have hit 71 per cent from the foul line in the past 10 games and now are averaging 63 per cent for the season. From the field they have maintained a fairly steady 46 per cent pace.

"I think if we decide to run our offense all the time we can do even better," McKee says. "We're learning to respect each other better....the spirit of the team is pretty good.

"We should be ready to play now."

MSU Going To Tourney?

Spartans Nip Purdue On Furlow's Shot

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan State basketball Coach Gus Ganakas thinks Monday's closing-seconds victory over Purdue all but guarantees his Spartans will get a post-season tourney bid.

However, that decision may have been made even before the two teams stepped on to the East Lansing court, where the Spartans won 84-82 on an arching, 40-foot shot by Big Ten scoring leader Terry Furlow.

Sources told the Associated Press that a National Invitational Tourney spokesman Monday called Fred Stabley, MSU's sports information director, requesting lengthy information about the school's team.

That request was interpreted as a likely prelude to a bid to the post-season go-round, which, coincidentally, was won last year by Monday's losers — Purdue.

"You have to give our team a lot of credit," Ganakas said after the victory. "There was a lot riding on this game for both teams. It was like two NBA teams vying for a playoff berth."

Ganakas credited his team for consistently coming from behind to finally edge into the lead and to victory.

"Hitting that last shot was justice for Terry (Furlow) after what happened a year ago against Notre Dame" when Furlow missed a long shot that could have won game, Ganakas said.

"I think the win earned us a tournament berth," Ganakas beamed. Then, apparently joking and with his eyes obviously on the NIT, Ganakas added:

"We have a lot to offer the NIT. We have a lot of blacks for the New York fans to watch. Our coaching staff is made up of an Italian and a black, and I'm Greek. We should be popular there."

Purdue Coach Fred Schaus, disappointed with the loss, blamed MSU's quickness, Furlow's hot hand, which netted him 27 points, and the Boilermakers' poor performance on the road.

"We haven't played well on the road this year and the kids know it, but we played well tonight. In fact, we played well enough to win," Schaus said.

"MSU's quickness and its play against our man-to-man defense forced us into the zone, which we don't often play. We just didn't have the quickness to match them."

"Furlow played a sensational game. He was the difference tonight."

"They're a fast team, the fastest in the Big Ten ... Their outside shooting was uncanny," Schaus said.

Purdue led at the half, 51-39, but MSU came back to lead with just less than six minutes remaining. Center Lindsay Hairston's free throw at 5:57 put MSU out front for the first time, 75-74.

With only 19 seconds remaining, the Boilermakers stole the ball and guard Bruce Parkinson hit a six-foot jumper to tie it at 82-all.

Furlow's winning bucket, with less than 10 seconds left, followed an MSU timeout. Purdue was unable to loft a final shot.

Forward Wayne Walls led Purdue with 24 points, Bill Glover added 21 for MSU.

The two teams, both 10-7 in the Big Ten, are tied for third in the league. MSU is 17-8 overall, the Boilermakers are 15-10 for the season.

Johnson, Kupec Pace Win Over Illinois

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — A large sign in the Crisler Arena stands Monday night read: "Thank you Joe and C. J."

It was held by Michigan basketball fans as a farewell tribute to Joe Johnson and C. J. Kupec, the Wolverines' senior cocaptains who were playing in their last home game.

The pair received a standing ovation before the game and, as fate would have it, they were the heros at the end.

Johnson sank an 18-foot jumper with one second left to give the Wolverines a 77-75 Big Ten victory over last-place Illinois and keep Michigan on what apparently is the inside track for a National Collegiate Athletic Association playoff berth.

Kupec, meanwhile, led the balanced Michigan attack with 19 points and five assists.

Michigan remains tied with Minnesota for second place behind Indiana. Minnesota was victorious over Wisconsin, while Purdue dropped from second by losing to Michigan State.

Coach Johnny Orr's Wolverines have an 11-6 Big Ten record and 18-7 overall mark. Illinois dropped to 4-13 and 8-17.

"Joe hit the big basket in a clutch situation — and that's what winning teams do," said Illinois Coach Gene Bartow, whose team has lost nine of its last 10 games and 11 of the last 13.

"We outplayed them (the Wolverines), we feel, in everything but the final score," he said.

Illinois had only hit 42 per cent of its floor shots this season, but against Michigan the Illini swished the basket at a 59 per cent clip to only 41 for the Maize and Blue.

"We were flat. We couldn't come to life and get ignited," said Orr, whose team coasted past Purdue 93-76 Saturday.

"We've never played well on Monday," he said.

The Wolverines had lost four of their previous six Monday night matches.

Illinois, which got 27 points from Rick Schmidt, led 36-35 at halftime. The game was seesaw the rest of the way, with 19 lead changes and five ties. The final one came with 1:35 remaining when Otho Tucker sank a jumper for Illinois to knot the score 75-all.

Michigan stalled, then called time out with 56 seconds left. The stall continued before another time out with nine seconds left to set up the final shot, which guard Johnson eased in from near the key.

"On a play like that you don't say who is going to take the shot. You just get it to the open man," said Johnson, a 5-foot-11, 150-pounder from Detroit. "If it misses you go into overtime, but you don't want to do that. You try not to let the pressure affect you."

Counting their freshman games four years ago, Johnson and Kupec played for Michigan teams that won 41 games and lost only four in Crisler Arena.

Johnson was the only starter not in double figures against the Illini. He scored nine points. Junior Wayman Britt of Flint had 18, while sophomores John Robinson of Chicago and Steve Grote of Cincinnati added 15 and 14 respectively.

Mike Washington and Nate Williams scored 18 points each for Illinois, including 12 of its last 14 points. Their combined scoring average had been 18 points.

U.S. Women Steal Track Show

Francie Larrieu Sets Mile Record Against Soviets

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Once again the American women stole the show in the fourth USSR-USA indoor track meet, and garrulous Francie Larrieu admits there's an assault under way on running records held by men.

"Women and men are physiologically different, but anything is possible," she said after running the fastest women's mile in history by one-half second in Monday night's fourth annual meet between the two countries.

The Americans gained an overwhelming victory, 171-106, against an inexperienced Russian team that lacked many of that nation's world-class athletes.

Although there were fewer women's events, the U.S. women chalked up 73 of the Americans' total points, won nine of their 11 events, broke six records and tied another.

In men's competition, the Americans defeated the Russians in 12 of 15 events and piled up a 98-62 margin. Five records were broken and one tied, all but two by the Americans.

Also waving the women's banner was Joni Huntley, a petite 18-year-old freshman at the University of Oregon who broke her own American indoor high jump record by clearing 6-2½.

As the meet was in its final minutes, she failed in three attempts at 6-3¼, which would have been the highest ever by an American woman either indoors or out.

Miss Larrieu had little competition as she raced against the clock in the mile, finishing with a time of 4:28.5. Enroute, she also broke her own 1,500-meter mark with a clocking of 4:09.8.

As for the men, North Carolina Central's Charlie Foster tied the amateur world record of 6.8 seconds in the 60-yard hurdles and Vladimir Golubnichi, a 39-year-old Russian, set a world record in the three-mile walk in 19:46.2.

World 880 record holder Rick Wolhuter of Chicago, recipient of the Sullivan Award for his performances last year, won in 1:49.4, more than a second above his American indoor mark.

Another world record holder, Dwight Stones of Long Beach, Calif., took the high jump with a lackluster 7-3.

Besides Golubnichi, Valeri Boiko upped the pole vault record by 6½ inches to 17-3¼ and Irinia Bondarchuk ran a record 10:02.6 in the two-mile. But Olympic 1,500-meter champion Liudmilla Bragina was third as 18-year-old Kate Keyes of Los Angeles took second.

The other women record breakers were Cheryl Toussaint of Brooklyn, N. Y.; Robin Campbell of Washington, D. C.; Jane Frederick of Orinda, Calif., and a medley relay team of three 16-year-olds and Rosalyn Bryant of Chicago, who at 19 holds the world indoor 220 record.

Miss Toussaint ran the 880 in 2:08.6 and Miss Campbell the 440 in 55.1. Miss Frederick piled up 2,902 points in the triathlon. On the 3.25.3 relay team with Miss Bryant were Miss Campbell, Angel Doyle of Harrisburg, Pa., and Kathy Weston of Reno, Nev., the 880 runner-up.

Glenn Herold of Madison, Wis., clocking a 13:11.0 in the three-mile run, returned the record to the Americans in that event by surpassing the previous mark of 13:22.6 held by Rashide Sharafyetdinov, and the men's medley relay team lowered the standard to 3:01.1.

WORLD RECORD: Francie Larrieu hits finish line in mile run with time of 4:28.5 to set new world record during USA-USSR track meet Monday night in Richmond, Va. She set the old record of 4:29.0 earlier this year. (AP Wirephoto)

Houk To Rotate Players As DH

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — When Detroit Tiger Manager Ralph Houk needs a designated hitter this year, about all he'll have to do is reach into a hat and pull out any one of almost a half-dozen names.

Actually it won't be that simple. But Houk admits he's got a handful of choices and plans to use each player as the occasion demands.

"We won't have one designated hitter," Houk said. "We'll go with different guys, depending on a lot different situations."

Houk said he doesn't plan to use Willie Horton as the fulltime DH, which is just as well for Horton, who says he doesn't particularly want the job anyway.

"I think you're going to see Bill Freehan and Gates Brown and Ben Oglivie all take their turns as the DH," said Houk. "And don't forget about Dan Meyer — I've got a feeling you're going to see him in the lineup somewhere."

Meyer is reknowned for his hitting but his fielding needs considerable polishing, so the DH spot may be tailor-made for him.

"One way or another, we're not going to be able to keep him off this club," Houk said. "He's too good a hitter and we need that left-handed bat. We're short there."

If Freehan is used as a DH against left-handed pitchers, the Tigers could field an all right-handed lineup. Left-hitting Brown might be used as a DH only occasionally, as he is valuable in the pinch-hitting spot, where he holds an American League record.

While Houk ponders his open DH slot, a number of Tigers are starting another mental pursuit — Transcendental Meditation.

A dozen players, including Ron LeFlore, Mickey Lolich, Freehan and Vern Ruhle, have begun a four-hour course in TM, which claims to allow an individual to fully relax mind and body for short periods, thus leading to more self-confidence, control and stability.

The Tigers, who so far have not been hampered by injuries, open their Grapefruit League season Friday against Boston in Winter Haven. Houk claims to have picked his pitching rotation, with each hurler working three innings, for the first five games. As yet, Houk has not revealed who will work in which game.

Annual Sportfishing Show On Saturday

The sixth annual Great Lakes Sportfishing Show will be presented Saturday in St. Joseph's Shadowland Ballroom.

The free Michigan Steelhead and Salmon Fishermen's Association event will run continuously from 3 to 9 p.m. — not from 6 to 9:30 as listed on some posters distributed locally.

The purpose of the show is two-fold, according to Steelheaders: (1) to acquaint sportsmen throughout the state with the organization and its conservation efforts, and (2) to acquaint area sportsmen with new products, techniques and ideas related to fishing.

There will be fishing tackle displays, exhibits, free literature, tackle catalogs and door prizes of fishing tackle and accessories.

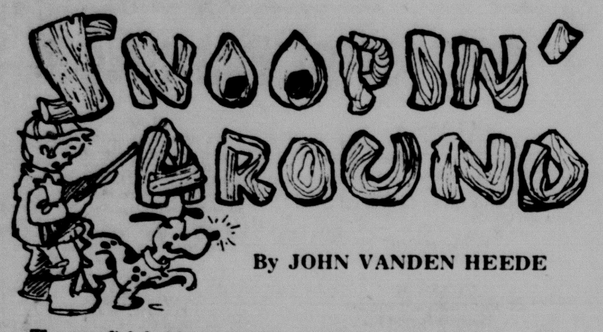
In addition, Steelheaders will be available to discuss fishing on an individual basis. And there will be a series of lectures and presentations covering stream fishing, lake fishing, trolling techniques, Platte Bay and Lake Huron.

A special feature of this year's show will be the opportunity for fishermen to purchase lures at discount prices.

The MSSFA is dedicated to the protection, preservation ad sport utilization of anadromous fish. The organization was formed in 1967 with 300 members and has since grown to a membership of about 2,000.

During 1975, the association has pledged itself to more directed efforts to prevent stream littering and to increased efforts to educate and inform sportsmen through vehicles such as its telephone "hot line" and with publications on techniques and ideas.

Outdoor Trail



By JOHN VANDEN HEEDE

The new fish ladder at the Berrien Springs dam isn't completed, but St. Joseph River fish plants are already climbing.

Finalized Department of Natural Resources anadromous fish release plans for this spring include record plants of coho and chinook salmon in the St. Joe.

Other planting highlights include the return of coho to the Black River and the first release of steelhead in the Galien River.

Statewide, coho releases will be up by about 700,000 while chinook and brown trout plants will be about the same.

Steelhead stockings will be down considerably, but the DNR hopes to put as many or more of the prized fish in anglers' creel by releasing the fish at a larger size. Hopefully, larger and stronger fish will result in a better survival rate.

The St. Joe is scheduled for 250,000 coho, a release 50,000 over the record 1971 plant and an amount well over last spring's stocking of about 140,000.

Also, a release of 300,000 chinook is slated for the St. Joe. The river received about 200,000 of these giants last year and the record release of about 250,000 was made in 1972.

Coho are returning to the Black River at South Haven for the first time in five years. A release of 190,000 has been scheduled. The only other coho stocking there was a release of 50,000 in 1970.

The Black River plant is believed to be a result, in a large part, of efforts of the South Haven chapter of the Michigan Steelhead and Salmon Fishermen's Association.

Other southwestern Michigan salmon plants this year will include 100,000 chinook in the Kalamazoo River. That figure about matches the releases there the past three years.

The steelhead schedule incldes 40,000 for the St. Joe and 10,000 each for the Galien, Paw Paw, Black, Kalamazoo and Rabbitt Rivers.

DNR anadromous fisheries specialist Lud Frankenberger says steelhead will be released at about 10 per pound compared to the 17 to 22 per pound in the past. The DNR was able to get the fish to a larger planting size by reducing the hatchery population density.

The $300,000 Berrien Springs fish ladder, which is being financed jointly by Indiana & Michigan Electric and the DNR, is designed to pass salmon and steelhead upstream. It is scheduled for completition this summer.

Brown trout are also included in the anadromous fish releases, hopefully for providing a close to shore Lake Michigan fishery. Their stocking schedule includes 10,000 each at Benton Harbor and South Haven and 5,000 at New Buffalo.

Overall Great Lakes releases, according to Frankenberger, will include 4.5 million coho, 3.5 million chinook, 600,000 steelhead and rainbows and 300,000 browns.

Lake Michigan releases stand at about the same as last year, except for increases for the St. Joseph and Grand because of the new fish ladders on these rivers.

More fish have been scheduled for a growing Lake Huron fishery.

MSU Field Course Offered

A conservation education course worth four graduate credits has been scheduled by the Michigan State University Center from March 27 through June 5.

Charles Nelson of the Sarett Nature Center and Steve Kinzel of MSU will teach the field course which will concentrate on the familiarization of our local spring flora and fauna and on techniques for teaching in the out-of-doors.

The course is geared for classroom teachers, as well as the camp counselor and other youth leaders. More information may be obtained by calling the MSU Center (925-0692).

RIVER GUIDE: This is a page from the new Fishing Guide to the St. Joseph River showing the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph area. It was compiled by twin cities sport anglers Ken Neidlinger and Chuck Knipschild and is now available locally.

St. Joe River Fishing Guide Out

A Fishing Guide to the St. Joseph River has been put together by twin cities sport anglers Ken Neidlinger and Chuck Knipschild.

Neidlinger and Knipschild surveyed the river from the mouth to Berrien Springs in January and put together their findings in a book containing 13 pages of maps.

"While we have attempted to make this map an exact representation of this part of the river, the distances, depth and directions should not be assumed to be exact," declare Neidlinger and Knipschild in their guide. "This map is designed to be used as a guide to the St. Joseph River.... made to assist the fisherman in finding and catching his quarry."

The maps show the depth of the river, gravel bars, rocks, dead heads, suggested routes, power lines, bridges, railroads and other landmarks.

Neidlinger, a member of Heddon's sportfishing council, also includes an article on river fishing in the guide.

The Fishing Guide to the St. Joseph River is available at Gardner's, Osco Drugs and K-Mart in Benton Harbor or by mailing $3 to Chuck Knipschild, P.O. Box 607, Benton Harbor, Mich.

Birds Signal Coming Of Spring

You wouldn't believe spring is just around the corner by looking at all the snow outside, but the birds are confident of coming warmer weather.

Ducks have already started moving to northern breeding grounds and geese are coming into southwestern Michigan on their trek north.

Maple syrup sap also flowed before the current winter blast.

About 10,000 ducks — mostly mallards — wintered at the Allegan State Game Area, but they are now heading out.

Allegan's Geese numbers stood at about 10,000 through the winter. About a 1,000 more were added last week, and the population should build to between 25-30,000 by mid to late March. The last of the honkers have usually headed north by April 20th to 25th.

Snowmobiles Under Control

The snowmobile problem at Allegan and other state game areas which could have led to a cutoff of federal funds is being brought under control.

"It looks like those people have responded to increased patrols," reports Chuck Friley Jr., the manager of the Allegan State Game Area. "The last three to four weeks they have been pretty much staying where they belong. Once and awhile you've got a guy who has got to go off the areas."

"We have been out and we have been effective," adds Gene Coulson, the Department of Natural Resources' district law supervisor, "but we really haven't found all that many violators."

Coulson believes the contention that snowmobilers were "running rampant over our game areas was over done."

Coulson says most arrests have been for unregistered machines and for running on undesignated roads.

Quills Harden

The baby porcupine is born with soft quills that become as hard and sharp as needles as soon as they are dry.

Dog Obedience School Slated

The Twin Cities Dog Obedience School will begin an eight-week spring session Wednesday evening, March 12, at the Veterans Memorial Hall in St. Joseph.

All breeds of dogs are eligible, but pre-registration is required. Interested dog owners should contact Mrs. William Willis, 9466 Red Arrow Highway, Bridgman (Phone 465-6650).

Fishing Report

It's time to start moving ice shanties off area lakes. Most area ice is safe, but some shanties have gone through and it's the time of year when a quick thaw wouldn't be unusual.

While ice fishing is about over, steelhead angling on the St. Joseph River should start getting better with the fish moving on to spawning beds. But high and roily water now is limiting success.

Growing Fishery For Lake Huron

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Sport fish in Lake Huron are making a bigger comeback than the fishermen.

Stan Lievense, natural resources director for the Michigan Tourist Council and former fisheries expert with the Department of Natural Resources, says he believes Lake Huron already has surpassed Lake Michigan both in variety of sport fish available and in the success of fishermen.

There is a lot of evidence to back up Lievense's claim and a few key factors that may keep Lake Huron from being "discovered" by fishermen for several more years.

Consider first the variety of sport fish available from the opposite ends of Lake Huron.

Munuscong Lake (Bay) traditionally has been one of the best walleye grounds in the Great Lakes and, with the decline of such hot spots as Bay De Noc, now stands as the best place to fish walleye at least in Michigan waters.

At the southern extreme, Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair River offer muskellunge both in size and numbers that will rival those found in Wisconsin and Minnesota waters.

Local fishermen have been tapping the brown trout and steelhead planted in hundreds of thousands off the tip of the Thumb for the past few years.

Bass in limit numbers up to 20 inches long and more have attracted only a few fishermen to the weedy shallows along Sebewaing or on the western side of the Saginaw Bay from near Linwood northward beyond Pinconning. Even ice fishermen have had their baits blasted by the bass this winter.

The Au Sable from Foote Dam to Oscoda, the Au Gres and the Rifle all draw a good crowd of steehead fishermen. But Tawas Bay is nearly ignored, except by perch fishermen, though great schools of salmon have been marked from the mouth of Tawas Bay out into Lake Huron.

Lievense, of the tourist council, listed a number of reasons why Lake Huron has been ignored by most fishermen. For one thing, some fish stocking failures got almost as much publicity as the successes.

Unlike Lake Michigan, Lake Huron lacks an abundance of top quality, professional fishing guides with fully equipped, up-to-date charter boats.

Perhaps the greatest fault is with the fishermen themselves. Most are tradition-minded and would rather return to favorite fishing spots though they might have better success on Lake Huron.

Winter Is Easy On Whitetails

Prior to Michigan's late February snowstorm, the state's deer herd continued to experience a mild winter in both the Upper and Lower Peninsulas, according to biologists of the Department of Natural Resources' Wildlife Division.

The most recent storm dumped up to 16 inches of snow over much of the Upper Peninsula and deer will be more confined than before. Field reports on the effects of the storm are incomplete.

As of mid-February, deer were reported yarding in the eastern portion of the Upper Peninsula and close to yards in the southwest. The winter severity index, which considers temperature, snow depth and wind chill factors, was 62.8 for ten Upper Peninsula stations compared to 72 last winter and 70.6 in 1972-73.

The winter severity index for the northern Lower Peninsula was 41.2 compared to 47.3 during 1973-74 and 46.7 for 1972-73.

Three Bud Teams Top Area Delegation In Regionals

The Blossomland conference banner will be flying high in this week's regional basketball tournaments.

The league's first three teams — Buchanan, Cassopolis and River Valley — are among a seven-team southwestern Michigan delegation at three tourney sites.

Blossomland champion Buchanan opens tonight against Otsego in a Western Michigan Class B doubleheader which also pits Wolverine champion Paw Paw against highly-touted Albion, the state's fifth-ranked team with just one loss.

Cassopolis, the area's highest scoring team, and River Valley, a tough defensive outfit, are in a strong Portage Northern Class C tournament which includes three teams which reached the regionals last March.

Meanwhile, Red Arrow co-champion Galien is in the Sturgis Class D regional with surprising Gobles, while LMAC titlist and 11th-rated Benton Harbor is in the Class A tourney at Western Michigan.

River Valley and Galien also open tonight, with the Mustangs facing a 13-10 Kalamazoo Hackett squad and Galien going against Camden-Frontier, the Southern Central League champion with a 17-4 record.

Buchanan will throw five double figure scorers, a 17-5 record, the state's No. 18 ranking and a six-game winning streak against a 15-7 Otsego squad which finished third in the Wolverine.

Ken Garrett is averaging 16.9, Mike McGuirt 13.7, Mark Jackson 10.6, Walt Vanderbush 10.4 and Mike Busby 10.3 on a Buchanan team which is third among area scorers at 74.1 per game. Busby led the Bucks through three district games with an 18.0 average.

Otsego, which reached the regionals by downing KVA champ Parchment 66-53 in a district final, could face rebounding problems against the Bucks' 6-5 Garrett and 6-4 Busby.

Joe Stout, a 6-4 sophomore center, is Otsego's tallest player. Bruce Esterline, a 6-2 senior, is the top pointmaker.

"They are a very sticky team...very sound fundamentally," says Buchanan coach Bill Wilson, "and outside shooting is one of their strengths."

Wilson hopes to keep pressure on Otsego's outside shooters while trying to get his foes in a running game. He also says his squad must get more consistent, especially if Otsego starts in a man-to-man defense.

Wilson jokingly calls his 7 p.m. contest the "jayvee game" with the "varsity game" of the doubleheader seeing Paw Paw pit a 19-3 record and a No. 15 ranking against 21-1 Albion and its super center — 6-6 senior Clarence Jackson. Albion is also the highest ranked team left alive in Class B.

Jackson, a three-year varsity player, is averaging 29 points and 21 rebounds per game this season for the Albion squad which has lost only to Bronson.

Larry Vasquez, a 5-6 guard, is the other double figures scorer on the Albion team which has scored high as 118 points this season while also owning a fine defensive mark of 54 points per game.

Paw Paw will counter with the high scoring senior trio of Rick Mitchell (22.3), Kevin Davis (16.7) and Ed Dow (15.2).

In Class C, River Valley will challenge Hackett with four twin digit scorers — Mitch Coffman (14.6), Greg Johnson (13.0), Mike White (12.3) and Kevin O'Connell (11.7). The other starter, Dave North, averaged 15.7 in the districts for the 17-6 Mustangs.

Hackett, which has won six in a row to move over .500 for the season, is paced by 6-2 Rick Barta and 6-4 Tommy Williams, who are averaging 14 and 13 points per game, respectively. The pair are also Hackett's leading rebounders.

"I saw them in the district finals," comments River Valley coach Jerry Schaffer. "They're good shooters and pretty quick."

River Valley is third in the area on defense while allowing just 55.6 per game with a man-to-man alignment, while Hackett has been stingy out of a 2-3 zone.

"They play real good competition...bigger schools than Class C," adds Schaffer on the Hackett club which has five victories over Class A foes.

Cass opens in Class C Wednesday against 14-8 Bronson, which lost this season to the Blossomland's Buchanan and Lakeshore.

"I think we are pretty evenly matched from what I've heard," says Cass coach Bob Follett. "Overall, I think we are a little quicker, and we should match up fairly well in size."

Bronson usually uses a zone press through out the game. It also relies on the scoring of 6-5 center Scott German.

"If we can get through the pressure and stop German, we should be able to win the ball game," says Follett.

Cassopolis, the highest ranked area team at No. 7 and the top scorer at 81.7, will test Bronson with a 26-3 record which includes six consecutive victories.

Southwestern Michigan scoring champion Roger Walters is averaging 27.0, Gary Young 15.8 and Mark Scott 15.1 for the Ranger squad which posted a 57 per cent shooting average over three district games.

The Sturgis Class D event sees Galien match an 18-4 record and a No. 22 ranking against Camden-Frontier.

Camden-Frontier is paced in the scoring department by Gary Fransom (16.7) and Brent Eby (13.5) while Stacey Tarr is the top rebounder.

Don Kooy tops the Gaels with a 16.0 mark, Dale Luther stands at 14.5 and Dave Rock at 10.9, including a career-high 25-point effort in the districts. Rock sprained his ankle in the district final but is expected to be ready tonight.

Galien coach Mike Heckathorn hopes the Gaels can keep up their balanced scoring which saw all five starters score in double figures for the first time this season in the district final. He also believes his Gaels must show some offensive improvement against man-to-man defenses.

Gobles will be the only area regional team with a losing record at 10-11. Brad Manley sparks Gobles scorers at 10.6 and Charlie Lynch stands at 10.1.

Gobles will be going up against an 11-9 Mendon team which lost out in the regional finals last season.

Predominately junior Mendon is topped by the 15 points per game scoring of 5-9 junior guard Dan Kennedy. Wayne McGlothlen, a 6-2 junior center, is the tallest Hornet.

Salary Wars Cause Expanded Slate

Losers Also Make Playoffs

Like the family farm and castor oil, the notion that a team should win to be successful in professional sport seems to have faded into nothing more than a memory. And a fond one, at that.

If you can think back a decade ago, you can remember when the World Series really meant something. Two teams were competing which had struggled through a long season, and they were the only two still playing.

The sports of basketball and hockey have taken a different course of late. Money is the reason.

This year, after umpteen expansions and new leagues, 38 out of 60 professional hockey and basketball teams will qualify for post-season playoffs. One team currently in line for a spot in the playoffs has a 20-46 record, which works out to a .303 winning percentage.

If the playoffs began today, eight teams competing in the four basketball and hockey leagues would have losing records.

Why? Since when was there a reward for losing?

"It's simple," said a general manager of a pro basketball team. "There are so many teams in the playoffs because we need the money. Almost everybody is losing money. We need all the games to recover what we can."

So as an answer to salary wars which have resulted in an estimated 100 hockey and basketball players making $100,000 or more per year, the leagues have set up a large playoff schedule.

The 10-team American Basketball Association will have an eight-team playoff. The 18-team National Basketball Association has a 10-team playoff. The 18-team National Hockey Association has a 12-team playoff and the 14-team World Hockey Association has an eight-team playoff.

And even such doings have failed to create last-minute races for a playoff spot in some leagues. In the NHL, for instance, 11 of the 12 playoff teams are already decided; the only remaining struggle is between the New York Islanders and Atlanta.

A television announcer mentioned the other day that an ABA team, Virginia, was stronger now that it had added a new player and he said the team might make a run at a playoff spot. Virginia's record is 14-52. The team ahead of it, Memphis, has won 20 and lost 46.

Such a statement would not have been made a few years ago, when winning was all-important. It seems that those days are as distant now as the time when flop-eared mules outnumbered automobiles.

"I remember," one sports official said, "when you used to race for the morning paper to see who won. You used to care about which team would win it all."

Those were the days. Remember?

Gophers Open Hockey Title Defense

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP) — The heavyweights supposedly fall the hardest, but that time-worn adage doesn't worry University of Minnesota hockey Coach Herb Brooks as he prepares his defending national champions for post-season play tonight.

"Teams have pointed for us all year," said Brooks. "We've been a marked team, but have weathered it very well."

Minnesota, which won the Western Collegiate Hockey Association with a 24-8 season record, opens a two-game "most-goals" series with Minnesota-Duluth, which finished eighth in the league with a 9-20-3 record.

"Most coaches don't like the most-goals setup," said Brooks. "We'd prefer a best of three series, but the way it is we can only look at it as a six period game."

The Gophers lost their season opener to Duluth before winning five straight over the Bulldogs.

"We're not any more leary of Duluth than any other team in the league," said Brooks. "You never have an easy game in this league."

The Gophers had a nine-game winning skein halted at Michigan Tech over the weekend, losing 7-0 and 5-4 games to the runnerup Huskies.

"I certainly don't like to lose two in a row," said Brooks. "But we finished exactly the same way last year and then won six straight in the playoffs for the national championship."

Brooks said this year's club is a better all-round unit than the 1974 national champions.

"We won the WCHA this year and that's a difficult accomplishment," he added. "Last year's team was an older, more mature team and weathered the tight spots very well."

Brooks will probably go with senior goalie Larry Thayer in both games against UMD.

"He's like a lot of the guys on the team last year," added Brooks. "He's older and doesn't get rattled. I'm sure we'll go with him all the way unless he really gets shelled in the first game."

"I'd be less than honest if I didn't think of the possibility of peaking too early," said Brooks. "But we're still a young team with a lot of room for improvement."

In other league playoffs tonight, Notre Dame visits Michigan Tech, Michigan State is at Wisconsin and Michigan travels to Colorado College. The same teams meet Wednesday with winners advancing to another "most-goals" playdown Saturday and Sunday.

Berrien Springs Approves Free Water, Garbage Plan

BERRIEN SPRINGS—About 45 low-income senior citizens will again have water and garbage bills paid by Berrien Springs village revenue sharing funds as a result of village council action last night.

To qualify a senior citizn would have to be 65 years old, have lived within the village for two years, and have incomes no greater than $4,200 for married citizens and $3,200 for single citizens in order to qualify.

The payments would amount to around $80 a person, with the total cost of around $4,000.

The council action renewed a program the village started three years ago.

In other areas, President Ed Kesterke appointed council members Jack Davis and Larry French to study the need for an ambulance service in Berrien Springs.

Requests for the study were brought to the council by the Jaycees auxiliary and the Berrien Springs senior citizens center.

Mike Williams, who represented the senior citizens, explained that it took at least 15 minutes under normal speeds for the nearest ambulance service to reach Berrien Springs. He felt the time of travel increased the risk for the potential patient.

Council members pointed out that the last time an ambulance service was started in Berrien Springs it folded after three months. The ambulance company had sold subscriptions in the company for $25, but there still was not enough business to warrant continuing the service.

Williams said he knew of the first attempt and that his group was asking the village to underwrite at least a portion of the service. He said that other municipalities would also be asked to participate.

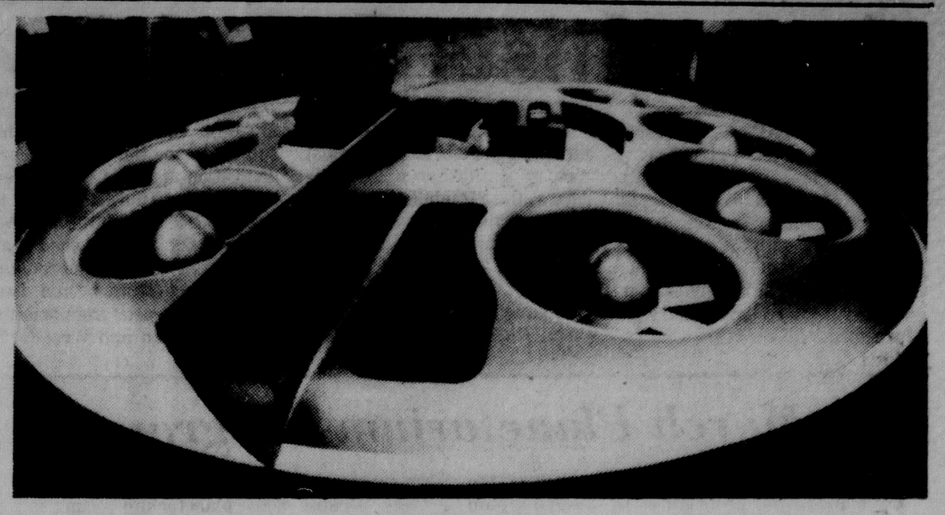
Kesterke asked Williams to work with Davis and French in pursuing the matter.

Cleon Reitz, public works superintendent, reported that he has arranged for the village's gasoline supplier to also supply a private tank at the senior citizens center. The center had asked the village two weeks ago for permission to buy gas from village tanks.

The council tentatively approved buying $600 worth of fireworks for the July 4 celebration. The approval is contingent upon Oronoko township agreeing to pay half the expense.

Canadian Budget

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian government has forecast another increase of $1.65 billion in its spending for the 1974-75 fiscal year, bringing the total estimate to $26.53 billion.



IT'S REAL: It cruises at 165 mph, gets 16.5 miles to the gallon and for $10,000, you can have your own flying saucer. The two-seat saucer, powered by eight 24-horsepower rotary engines, is the invention of Paul Moller, 38, former aeronautical engineer at the University of California.

Coloma Township Tables Action On Proposed Park

COLOMA — Coloma township board last night tabled action on accepting 7.27 acres for a proposed township park until May to get additional information.

The board indicated it wanted to determine possible costs for maintenance and policing the land, located south of Red Arrow highway, between Coloma and Watervliet, before taking final action.

Supervisor A. G. (Greg) Blevins said James Hipskind, a township businessman, who is donating the land , has already signed a deed giving the property to the township.

Hipskind late last year announced that he planned on donating the land to the township as a means of thanking area residents for their support of his building supplies business.

Blevins said acceptance of the land would insure receipt of a $9,400 grant from the Berrien parks and recreation commission as part of the township's submitted park proposals for grant money applied for last month.

In other areas, the board approved paying up to $10 for filling out township required fire reports by a member of the volunteer fire department.

The board approved establishment of a new policy regarding the preparation of the township's annual budget. The treasurer was instructed to use actual expenditures in each category of the budget instead of last year's estimated amounts.

The board approved publication of an announcement that all township ordinances regarding junk, debris, garbage and junk cars would be strictly enforced. The action followed a brief report by Ewald Eckblom, township clerk and health officer, that alleged violators have shunned attempts to remove the alleged illegal items on their own accord.

The board approved paying $250 to the Berrien county road commission for the removal of four dead trees along Little Paw Paw Lake road.

Blevins announced that the township annual meeting will be held Saturday, April 5, at 1 p.m. at the township hall.

Township Meeting Dates Set

THREE OAKS — Three Oaks township board last night set Saturday, April 5, at 1 p.m. as its annual meeting date and Tuesday, March 25, at 7:30 p.m. as its annual settlement meeting.

Both meetings will be held in the township hall here.

In other areas, the board briefly discussed the possibility of raising prices charged for cemetery lots and graves at Forest Lawn cemetery, but tabled the question until its next regular meeting.

COVERT TOWNSHIP

Permission Granted To Paint Crosswalks

COVERT — Covert township board last night learned the state highway department has granted a township request to paint crosswalks at three streets which intersect M-140.

Crosswalks will be painted at state expense at the intersections of 34th avenue, North street and Orchard street, according to Jerry Sarno, township supervisor.

In other areas, Mrs. Carolyn Stuckum, township treasurer, reported that a total of $1,959,501 in 1974 township taxes have been collected through February, leaving $34,655 to be collected.

Mrs. Marie Edmundson of the Van Buren Red Cross, was in attendance seeking contributions to the county Red Cross fund. She said the fund is $9,000 in the red, and unless the money can be raised the county Red Cross will be unable to operate its bloodmobile. Township board members and other residents in attendance contributed $35 from their own pockets to the fund.

The board set its annual meeting date for Saturday, April 5, at 1 p.m., at the Covert elementary school's all-purpose room.

Bainbridge Pens Ordinance Regulating Big Gatherings

Bainbridge township board last night adopted an outdoor assembly ordinance outdoor gatherings in excess of 300 people.

The ordinance requires people planning an outdoor gathering to apply to the board for a license 60 days prior to the event and to post a $100 nonrefundable fee.

Under the ordinance, detailed plans must be submitted to the board covering police and fire protection, food and water supply facilities, health and sanitation facilities and medical facilities.

The regulation also stipulates the amount of both public liability and property damage insurance.

The ordinance excludes government sponsored events.

Effective date of the ordinance is 30 days after publication, according to Supervisor Leonard Smith Jr.

The ordinance, first discussed by the board in 1972, was reconsidered by the board after plans for a two-day Jesus rock festival were announced last June.

In other areas, the board tabled action on a report from the Community Emergency Ambulance authority studying the formation of an ambulance service for seven municipalities, including Bainbridge.

Under the plan, municipalities involved would subsidize the service by $50,000 during the first year of operation.

Smith said he felt the board should consider the matter further.

Smith announced the township settlement day would be held Tuesday, March 25, at 9 a.m. at the township hall and that the township's annual meeting would be held at the township hall at 1 p.m., Saturday, April 5.

Smith reported that the county road commission is planning on conducting a traffic survey later this year at the corner of Meadowbrook and Marl roads to determine if the present placement of stop signs at the intersection is appropriate.

'ADMIRABLE': Promotion went to Capt. Maxine Conder, recently promoted to admiral and only the second woman in history to attain that rank. Capt. Conder, 48, of Bingham Canyon, Utah, was formerly chief of nursing services at the Philadelphia Naval Hospital.

Handicapped Meeting Is Tonight

An "open to the public" meeting will be held 7:30 tonight by the Blossomland chapter of the National Association of the Physically Handicapped.

The meeting is scheduled for the Easter Seal Society headquarters, 2015 Lakeview avenue, St. Joseph.

Chapter President Helen Job said a white elephant sale will be conducted with proceeds to go to help Blossomland chapter queen candidate, Helen Pelton, in her quest to be queen of the handicapped in Michigan.

Members and friends of the chapter are being asked to bring auction items.

The queen candidate is a 66-year-old blind St. Joseph grandmother who maintains her own home and is active in a number of organizations.

A musical program will be presented by Penny Jones and Amy Stuble, St. Joseph high school students.

16 Watches Taken In Dowagiac

DOWAGIAC — Sixteen watches valued at several hundred dollars were stolen from Hart's Jewelry store, 214 South Front street, early this morning, police here said.

Police said the break-in at the jewelry store occurred between 3:05 and 3:43 a.m. A window in the front door had been broken out, police said.

No other items were reported taken in the break-in, police said.

AT BANGOR

Township Selling Hall Share To City

BANGOR — Bangor township board last night agreed to sell the township's share of the town hall to the city of Bangor.

After a public hearing during which no objections were raised, the board voted to begin the necessary steps to complete the sale. Supervisor Glenn Hessey said no sale price for the township's share of the building was set last night.

The township board has met and will continue to meet at the Wood school building on 66th street, Hessey said.

The jointly-owned hall was built by the then village of Bangor and the township in 1935. The hall became located within Bangor city limits when the village was incorporated in March of 1968.

Sale of the township's share of the building has been discussed for several years.

Food Labels To Be Explained

DOWAGIAC — A program to explain the meaning of nutritional values on food labels will be held Thursday, March 6, at 1:30 p.m. in the Southwestern Michigan college continuing education center, 725 North Front street, Dowagiac.

Sandra S. Barwick, consumers affairs officer for the Food and Drug Administration, U.S. department of health, education and welfare, will be guest speaker.

The program is free and open to the public.

Annual Sportfishing Show On Saturday

The sixth annual Great Lakes Sportfishing Show will be presented Saturday in St. Joseph's Shadowland Ballroom.

The free Michigan Steelhead and Salmon Fishermen's Association event will run continuously from 3 to 9 p.m. — not from 6 to 9:30 as listed on some posters distributed locally.

The purpose of the show is two-fold, according to Steelheaders: (1) to acquaint sportsmen throughout the state with the organization and its conservation efforts, and (2) to acquaint area sportsmen with new products, techniques and ideas related to fishing.

There will be fishing tackle displays, exhibits, free literature, tackle catalogs and door prizes of fishing tackle and accessories.

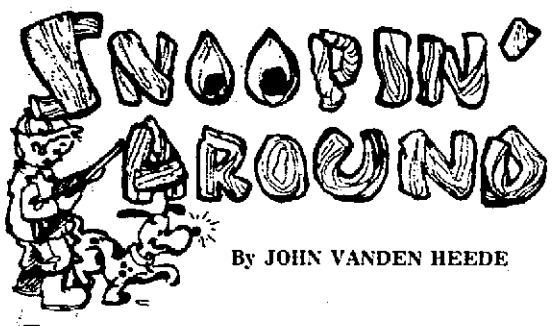
In addition, Steelheaders will be available to discuss fishing on an individual basis. And there will be a series of lectures and presentations covering stream fishing, lake fishing, trolling techniques, Platte Bay and Lake Huron.

A special feature of this year's show will be the opportunity for fishermen to purchase lures at discount prices.

The MSSFA is dedicated to the protection, preservation ad sport utilization of anadromous fish. The organization was formed in 1967 with 300 members and has since grown to a membership of about 2,000.

During 1975, the association has pledged itself to more directed efforts to prevent stream littering and to increased efforts to educate and inform sportsmen through vehicles such as its telephone "hot line" and with publications on techniques and ideas.

Outdoor Trail



By JOHN VANDEN HEEDE

The new fish ladder at the Berrien Springs dam isn't completed, but St. Joseph River fish plants are already climbing.

Finalized Department of Natural Resources anadromous fish release plans for this spring include record plants of coho and chinook salmon in the St. Joe.

Other planting highlights include the return of coho to the Black River and the first release of steelhead in the Galien River.

Statewide, coho releases will be up by about 700,000 while chinook and brown trout plants will be about the same.

Steelhead stockings will be down considerably, but the DNR hopes to put as many or more of the prized fish in anglers' creel by releasing the fish at a larger size. Hopefully, larger and stronger fish will result in a better survival rate.

The St. Joe is scheduled for 250,000 coho, a release 50,000 over the record 1971 plant and an amount well over last spring's stocking of about 140,000.

Also, a release of 300,000 chinook is slated for the St. Joe. The river received about 200,000 of these giants last year and the record release of about 250,000 was made in 1972.

Coho are returning to the Black River at South Haven for the first time in five years. A release of 190,000 has been scheduled. The only other coho stocking there was a release of 50,000 in 1970.

The Black River plant is believed to be a result, in a large part, of efforts of the South Haven chapter of the Michigan Steelhead and Salmon Fishermen's Association.

Other southwestern Michigan salmon plants this year will include 100,000 chinook in the Kalamazoo River. That figure about matches the releases there the past three years.

The steelhead schedule incldes 40,000 for the St. Joe and 10,000 each for the Galien, Paw Paw, Black, Kalamazoo and Rabbitt Rivers.

DNR anadromous fisheries specialist Lud Frankenberger says steelhead will be released at about 10 per pound compared to the 17 to 22 per pound in the past. The DNR was able to get the fish to a larger planting size by reducing the hatchery population density.

The $300,000 Berrien Springs fish ladder, which is being financed jointly by Indiana & Michigan Electric and the DNR, is designed to pass salmon and steelhead upstream. It is scheduled for completition this summer.

Brown trout are also included in the anadromous fish releases, hopefully for providing a close to shore Lake Michigan fishery. Their stocking schedule includes 10,000 each at Benton Harbor and South Haven and 5,000 at New Buffalo.

Overall Great Lakes releases, according to Frankenberger, will include 4.5 million coho, 3.5 million chinook, 600,000 steelhead and rainbows and 300,000 browns.

Lake Michigan releases stand at about the same as last year, except for increases for the St. Joseph and Grand because of the new fish ladders on these rivers.

More fish have been scheduled for a growing Lake Huron fishery.

MSU Field Course Offered

A conservation education course worth four graduate credits has been scheduled by the Michigan State University Center from March 27 through June 5.

Charles Nelson of the Sarett Nature Center and Steve Kinzel of MSU will teach the field course which will concentrate on the familiarization of our local spring flora and fauna and on techniques for teaching in the out-of-doors.

The course is geared for classroom teachers, as well as the camp counselor and other youth leaders. More information may be obtained by calling the MSU Center (925-0692).

RIVER GUIDE: This is a page from the new Fishing Guide to the St. Joseph River showing the Benton Harbor-St. Joseph area. It was compiled by twin cities sport anglers Ken Neidlinger and Chuck Knipschild and is now available locally.

St. Joe River Fishing Guide Out

A Fishing Guide to the St. Joseph River has been put together by twin cities sport anglers Ken Neidlinger and Chuck Knipschild.

Neidlinger and Knipschild surveyed the river from the mouth to Berrien Springs in January and put together their findings in a book containing 13 pages of maps.

"While we have attempted to make this map an exact representation of this part of the river, the distances, depth and directions should not be assumed to be exact," declare Neidlinger and Knipschild in their guide. "This map is designed to be used as a guide to the St. Joseph River.... made to assist the fisherman in finding and catching his quarry."

The maps show the depth of the river, gravel bars, rocks, dead heads, suggested routes, power lines, bridges, railroads and other landmarks.

Neidlinger, a member of Heddon's sportfishing council, also includes an article on river fishing in the guide.

The Fishing Guide to the St. Joseph River is available at Gardner's, Osco Drugs and K-Mart in Benton Harbor or by mailing $3 to Chuck Knipschild, P.O. Box 607, Benton Harbor, Mich.

Birds Signal Coming Of Spring

You wouldn't believe spring is just around the corner by looking at all the snow outside, but the birds are confident of coming warmer weather.

Ducks have already started moving to northern breeding grounds and geese are coming into southwestern Michigan on their trek north.

Maple syrup sap also flowed before the current winter blast.

About 10,000 ducks — mostly mallards — wintered at the Allegan State Game Area, but they are now heading out.

Allegan's Geese numbers stood at about 10,000 through the winter. About a 1,000 more were added last week, and the population should build to between 25-30,000 by mid to late March. The last of the honkers have usually headed north by April 20th to 25th.

Snowmobiles Under Control

The snowmobile problem at Allegan and other state game areas which could have led to a cutoff of federal funds is being brought under control.

"It looks like those people have responded to increased patrols," reports Chuck Friley Jr., the manager of the Allegan State Game Area. "The last three to four weeks they have been pretty much staying where they belong. Once and awhile you've got a guy who has got to go off the areas."

"We have been out and we have been effective," adds Gene Coulson, the Department of Natural Resources' district law supervisor, "but we really haven't found all that many violators."

Coulson believes the contention that snowmobilers were "running rampant over our game areas was over done."

Coulson says most arrests have been for unregistered machines and for running on undesignated roads.

Quills Harden

The baby porcupine is born with soft quills that become as hard and sharp as needles as soon as they are dry.

Dog Obedience School Slated

The Twin Cities Dog Obedience School will begin an eight-week spring session Wednesday evening, March 12, at the Veterans Memorial Hall in St. Joseph.

All breeds of dogs are eligible, but pre-registration is required. Interested dog owners should contact Mrs. William Willis, 9466 Red Arrow Highway, Bridgman (Phone 465-6650).

Fishing Report

It's time to start moving ice shanties off area lakes. Most area ice is safe, but some shanties have gone through and it's the time of year when a quick thaw wouldn't be unusual.

While ice fishing is about over, steelhead angling on the St. Joseph River should start getting better with the fish moving on to spawning beds. But high and roily water now is limiting success.

Growing Fishery For Lake Huron

SAGINAW, Mich. (AP) — Sport fish in Lake Huron are making a bigger comeback than the fishermen.

Stan Lievense, natural resources director for the Michigan Tourist Council and former fisheries expert with the Department of Natural Resources, says he believes Lake Huron already has surpassed Lake Michigan both in variety of sport fish available and in the success of fishermen.

There is a lot of evidence to back up Lievense's claim and a few key factors that may keep Lake Huron from being "discovered" by fishermen for several more years.

Consider first the variety of sport fish available from the opposite ends of Lake Huron.

Munuscong Lake (Bay) traditionally has been one of the best walleye grounds in the Great Lakes and, with the decline of such hot spots as Bay De Noc, now stands as the best place to fish walleye at least in Michigan waters.

At the southern extreme, Lake St. Clair and the St. Clair River offer muskellunge both in size and numbers that will rival those found in Wisconsin and Minnesota waters.

Local fishermen have been tapping the brown trout and steelhead planted in hundreds of thousands off the tip of the Thumb for the past few years.

Bass in limit numbers up to 20 inches long and more have attracted only a few fishermen to the weedy shallows along Sebewaing or on the western side of the Saginaw Bay from near Linwood northward beyond Pinconning. Even ice fishermen have had their baits blasted by the bass this winter.

The Au Sable from Foote Dam to Oscoda, the Au Gres and the Rifle all draw a good crowd of steehead fishermen. But Tawas Bay is nearly ignored, except by perch fishermen, though great schools of salmon have been marked from the mouth of Tawas Bay out into Lake Huron.

Lievense, of the tourist council, listed a number of reasons why Lake Huron has been ignored by most fishermen. For one thing, some fish stocking failures got almost as much publicity as the successes.

Unlike Lake Michigan, Lake Huron lacks an abundance of top quality, professional fishing guides with fully equipped, up-to-date charter boats.

Perhaps the greatest fault is with the fishermen themselves. Most are tradition-minded and would rather return to favorite fishing spots though they might have better success on Lake Huron.

Winter Is Easy On Whitetails

Prior to Michigan's late February snowstorm, the state's deer herd continued to experience a mild winter in both the Upper and Lower Peninsulas, according to biologists of the Department of Natural Resources' Wildlife Division.

The most recent storm dumped up to 16 inches of snow over much of the Upper Peninsula and deer will be more confined than before. Field reports on the effects of the storm are incomplete.

As of mid-February, deer were reported yarding in the eastern portion of the Upper Peninsula and close to yards in the southwest. The winter severity index, which considers temperature, snow depth and wind chill factors, was 62.8 for ten Upper Peninsula stations compared to 72 last winter and 70.6 in 1972-73.

The winter severity index for the northern Lower Peninsula was 41.2 compared to 47.3 during 1973-74 and 46.7 for 1972-73.

Anarchists Land In South Yemen

BERLIN (AP) — Kidnaped political leader Peter Lorenz was still missing today. But the plane that took five anarchist convicts out of the country in compliance with the demands of his kidnapers left them in Aden and started back to West Germany, the Interior Ministry announced.

Lufthansa, the West German airline, said the jetliner would pick up a relief crew in Addis Ababa, the Ethiopian capital.

Aboard the Lufthansa Boeing 707 was Lutheran Pastor Heinrich Albertz, a former mayor of West Berlin who accompanied the anarchists on their flight from Frankfurt Monday. The Movement of the 2nd of June, the terrorist organization that said it abducted Lorenz last Thursday, said it would not release him until Albertz returned with word that the anarchists had found refuge.

The three women and two men were released from prisons in West Berlin and West Germany over the weekend and sent out of the country with 120,000 marks ransom (about $52,000), complying with the demands of the kidnapers. A sixth convict whose freedom was demanded refused to leave jail.

The plane landed the anarchists in Aden, the capital of South Yemen, Monday night after officials in Tripoli, Damascus and Djibouti refused to accept them. The Bonn government negotiated through the night "seeking the agreement of South Yemen authorities, in the interests of the release of Peter Lorenz, to the wish of the five prisoners for unhindered sojourn," an official announcement said.

Meanwhile, West Berlin police asked the kidnapers for evidence that Lorenz, the 52-year-old leader of the Christian Democratic party in West Berlin, was still alive. They asked for identification of a shop from which Lorenz bought an engraving that hangs in his home.

A Lufthansa spokesman said the line sent a relief crew from Frankfurt to fly the plane, Pastor Albertz and the volunteer crew of four that flew the 10-hour odyssey Monday.

APPLICATION

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission said Monday it has receiving an application from the Charlevoix Broadcasting Co. in Boyne City, Mich., for permission to construction a new FM station.

March Planetarium Program

"Our Solar System" is the title of the planetarium program at St. Joseph Upton Junior high school in March according to William Bingaman, coordinator. The program will be repeated at 7:30 p.m. March 5, 12, 19 and 26. Admission is free, Bingaman, said. The planetarium accomodates 60 persons. Seating is on a first come, first serve basis. Because of the planetarium setting in a dark room, parental judgement is advised for children under six years of age, Bingaman said. The program will present various views of the sky. A question and answer session will follow.

Berrien Springs Approves Free Water, Garbage Plan

BERRIEN SPRINGS—About 45 low-income senior citizens will again have water and garbage bills paid by Berrien Springs village revenue sharing funds as a result of village council action last night.

To qualify a senior citizn would have to be 65 years old, have lived within the village for two years, and have incomes no greater than $4,200 for married citizens and $3,200 for single citizens in order to qualify.

The payments would amount to around $90 a person, with the total cost of around $4,000.

The council action renewed a program the village started three years ago.

In other areas, President Ed Kesterke appointed council members Jack Davis and Larry French to study the need for an ambulance service in Berrien Springs.

Requests for the study were brought to the council by the Jaycees auxiliary and the Berrien Springs senior citizens center.

Mike Williams, who represented the senior citizens, explained that it took at least 15 minutes under normal speeds for the nearest ambulance service to reach Berrien Springs. He felt the time of travel increased the risk for the potential patient.

Council members pointed out that the last time an ambulance service was started in Berrien Springs it folded after three months. The ambulance company had sold subscriptions in the company for $25, but there still was not enough business to warrant continuing the service.

Williams said he knew of the first attempt and that his group was asking the village to underwrite at least a portion of the service. He said that other municipalities would also be asked to participate.

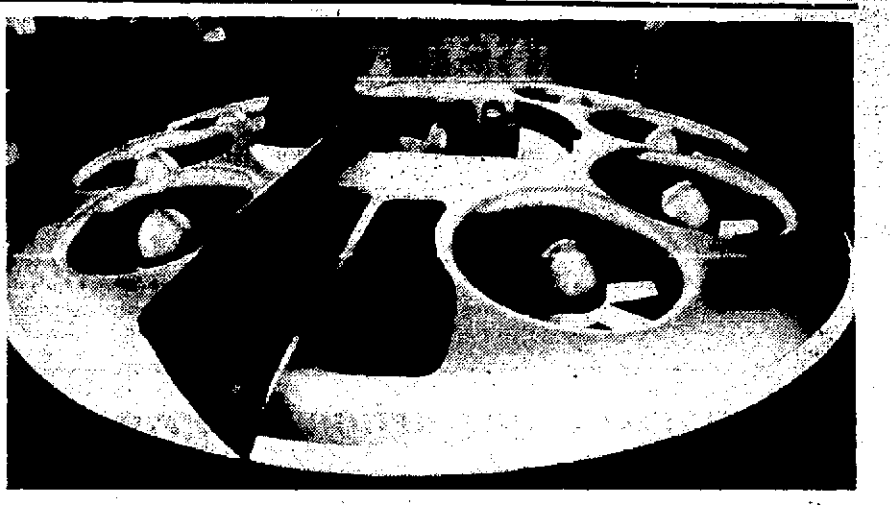
Kesterke asked Williams to work with Davis and French in pursuing the matter.

Cleon Reitz, public works superintendent, reported that he has arranged for the village's gasoline supplier to also supply a private tank at the senior citizens center. The center had asked the village two weeks ago for permission to buy gas from village tanks.

The council tentatively approved buying $600 worth of fireworks for the July 4 celebration. The approval is contingent upon Oronoko township agreeing to pay half the expense.

Canadian Budget

OTTAWA (AP) — The Canadian government has forecast another increase of $1.65 billion in its spending for the 1974-75 fiscal year, bringing the total estimate to $26.53 billion.



IT'S REAL: It cruises at 165 mph, gets 16.5 miles to the gallon and for $10,000; you can have your own flying saucer. The two-seat saucer, powered by eight 24-horsepower rotary engines, is the invention of Paul Moller, 38, former aeronautical engineer at the University of California.

Coloma Township Tables Action On Proposed Park

COLOMA — Coloma township board last night tabled action on accepting 7.27 acres for a proposed township park until May to get additional information.

The board indicated it wanted to determine possible costs for maintenance and policing the land, located south of Red Arrow highway, between Coloma and Watervliet, before taking final action.

Supervisor A. G. (Greg) Blevins said James Hipskind, a township businessman, who is donating the land, has already signed a deed giving the property to the township.

Hipskind late last year announced that he planned on donating the land to the township as a means of thanking area residents for their support of his building supplies business.

Blevins said acceptance of the land would insure receipt of a $9,400 grant from the Berrien parks and recreation commission as part of the township's submitted park proposals for grant money applied for last month.

In other areas, the board approved paying up to $10 for filling out township required fire reports by a member of the volunteer fire department.

The board approved establishment of a new policy regarding the preparation of the township's annual budget. The treasurer was instructed to use actual expenditures in each category of the budget instead of last year's estimated amounts.

The board approved publication of an announcement that all township ordinances regarding junk, debris, garbage and junk cars would be strictly enforced. The action followed a brief report by Ewald Eckblom, township clerk and health officer, that alleged violators have shunned attempts to remove the alleged illegal items on their own accord.

The board approved paying $250 to the Berrien county road commission for the removal of four dead trees along Little Paw Paw Lake road.

Blevins announced that the township annual meeting will be held Saturday, April 5, at 1 p.m. at the township hall.

Township Meeting Dates Set

THREE OAKS — Three Oaks township board last night set Saturday, April 5, at 1 p.m. as its annual meeting date and Tuesday, March 25, at 7:30 p.m. as its annual settlement meeting.

Both meetings will be held in the township hall here.

In other areas, the board briefly discussed the possibility of raising prices charged for cemetery lots and graves at Forest Lawn cemetery, but tabled the question until its next regular meeting.

COVERT TOWNSHIP

Permission Granted To Paint Crosswalks

COVERT — Covert township board last night learned the state highway department has granted a township request to paint crosswalks at three streets which intersect M-140.

Crosswalks will be painted at state expense at the intersections of 34th avenue, North street and Orchard street, according to Jerry Sarno, township supervisor.

In other areas, Mrs. Carolyn Stuckum, township treasurer, reported that a total of $1,850,501 in 1974 township taxes have been collected through February, leaving $34,655 to be collected.

Mrs. Marie Edmundson of the Van Buren Red Cross, was in attendance seeking contributions to the county Red Cross fund. She said the fund is $9,000 in the red, and unless the money can be raised the county Red Cross will be unable to operate its bloodmobile. Township board members and other residents in attendance contributed $35 from their own pockets to the fund.

The board set its annual meeting date for Saturday, April 5, at 1 p.m., at the Covert elementary school's all-purpose room.

Bainbridge Pens Ordinance Regulating Big Gatherings

Bainbridge township board last night adopted an outdoor assembly ordinance outdoor gatherings in excess of 300 people.

The ordinance requires people planning an outdoor gathering to apply to the board for a license 60 days prior to the event and to post a $100 nonrefundable fee.

Under the ordinance, detailed plans must be submitted to the board covering police and fire protection, food and water supply facilities, health and sanitation facilities and medical facilities.

The regulation also stipulates the amount of both public liability and property damage insurance.

The ordinance excludes government sponsored events.

Effective date of the ordinance is 30 days after publication, according to Supervisor Leonard Smith Jr.

The ordinance, first discussed by the board in 1972, was reconsidered by the board after plans for a two-day Jesus rock festival were announced last June.

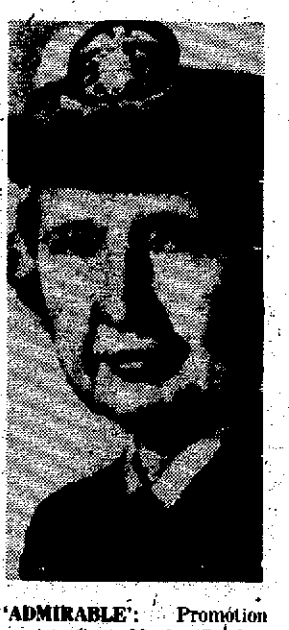
In other areas, the board tabled action on a report from the Community Emergency Ambulance authority studying the formation of an ambulance service for seven municipalities, including Bainbridge.

Under the plan, municipalities involved would subsidize the service by $50,000 during the first year of operation.

Smith said he felt the board should consider the matter further.

Smith announced the township settlement day would be held Tuesday, March 25, at 9 a.m. at the township hall and that the township's annual meeting would be held at the township hall at 1 p.m., Saturday, April 5.

Smith reported that the county road commission is planning on conducting a traffic survey later this year at the corner of Meadowbrook and Marl roads to determine if the present placement of stop signs at the intersection is appropriate.



'ADMIRABLE': Promotion went to Capt. Maxine Conder, recently promoted to admiral and only the second woman in history to attain that rank. Capt. Conder, 48, of Bingham Canyon, Utah, was formerly chief of nursing services at the Philadelphia Naval Hospital.

Handicapped Meeting Is Tonight

An "open to the public" meeting will be held 7:30 tonight by the Blossomland chapter of the National Association of the Physically Handicapped.

The meeting is scheduled for the Easter Seal Society headquarters, 2015 Lakeview avenue, St. Joseph.

Chapter President Helen Job said a white elephant sale will be conducted with proceeds to go to help Blossomland chapter queen candidate, Helen Pelton, in her quest to be queen of the handicapped in Michigan.

Members and friends of the chapter are being asked to bring auction items.

The queen candidate is a 66-year-old blind St. Joseph grandmother who maintains her own home and is active in a number of organizations.

A musical program will be presented by Penny Jones and Amy Stubie, St. Joseph high school students.

AT BANGOR

Township Selling Hall Share To City

BANGOR — Bangor township board last night agreed to sell the township's share of the town hall to the city of Bangor.

After a public hearing during which no objections were raised, the board voted to begin the necessary steps to complete the sale. Supervisor Glenn Hessey said no sale price for the township's share of the building was set last night.

The township board has met and will continue to meet at the Wood school building on 66th street, Hessey said.

The jointly-owned hall was built by the then village of Bangor and the township in 1935. The hall became located within Bangor city limits when the village was incorporated in March of 1968.

Sale of the township's share of the building has been discussed for several years.

16 Watches Taken In Dowagiac

DOWAGIAC — Sixteen watches valued at several hundred dollars were stolen from Hart's Jewelry store, 214 South Front street, early this morning, police here said.

Police said the break-in at the jewelry store occurred between 3:05 and 3:43 a.m. A window in the front door had been broken out, police said.

No other items were reported taken in the break-in, police said.

Food Labels To Be Explained

DOWAGIAC — A program to explain the meaning of nutritional values on food labels will be held Thursday, March 6, at 1:30 p.m. in the Southwestern Michigan college continuing education center, 725 North Front street, Dowagiac.

Sandra S. Barwick, consumers affairs officer for the Food and Drug Administration, U.S. department of health, education and welfare, will be guest speaker.

The program is free and open to the public.

Anarchists Land In South Yemen

BERLIN (AP) — Kidnaped political leader Peter Lorenz was still missing today. But the plane that took five anarchist convicts out of the country in compliance with the demands of his kidnapers left them in Aden and started back to West Germany, the Interior Ministry announced.

Lufthansa, the West German airline, said the jetliner would pick up a relief crew in Addis Ababa, the Ethiopian capital.

Aboard the Lufthansa Boeing 707 was Lutheran Pastor Heinrich Albertz, a former mayor of West Berlin who accompanied the anarchists on their flight from Frankfurt Monday. The Movement of the 2nd of June, the terrorist organization that said it abducted Lorenz last Thursday, said it would not release him until Albertz returned with word that the anarchists had found refuge.

The three women and two men were released from prisons in West Berlin and West Germany over the weekend and sent out of the country with 120,000 marks ransom (about $52,000), complying with the demands of the kidnapers. A sixth convict whose freedom was demanded refused to leave jail.

The plane landed the anarchists in Aden, the capital of South Yemen, Monday night after officials in Tripoli, Damascus and Djibouti refused to accept them. The Bonn government negotiated through the night "seeking the agreement of South Yemen authorities, in the interests of the release of Peter Lorenz, to the wish of the five prisoners for unhindered sojourn," an official announcement said.

Meanwhile, West Berlin police asked the kidnapers for evidence that Lorenz, the 52-year-old leader of the Christian Democratic party in West Berlin, was still alive. They asked for identification of a shop from which Lorenz bought an engraving that hangs in his home.

A Lufthansa spokesman said the line sent a relief crew from Frankfurt to fly the plane, Pastor Albertz and the volunteer crew of four that flew the 10-hour odyssey Monday.

APPLICATION

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission said Monday it has receiving an application from the Charlevoix Broadcasting Co. in Boyne City, Mich., for permission to construction a new FM station.

March Planetarium Program

"Our Solar System" is the title of the planetarium program at St. Joseph Upton Junior high school in March according to William Bingaman, coordinator. The program will be repeated at 7:30 p.m. March 5, 12, 19 and 26. Admission is free, Bingaman, said. The planetarium accomodates 60 persons. Seating is on a first come, first serve basis. Because of the planetarium setting in a dark room, parental judgement is advised for children under six years of age, Bingaman said. The program will present various views of the sky. A question and answer session will follow.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Advance Broadly

NEW YORK — Hopes for a weakening in the world oil price structure carried stock market prices to another broad advance today.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up a fraction, and advances took a 3-1 lead over declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

Most of the market's attention was focused on a summit meeting of oil producing nations beginning today in Algiers amid reports of disagreement among them over how to try to keep oil prices high in the face of reduced consumption.

The picture gave rise to hopes of a possible downward break in the energy costs that have played a major part in the inflation-recession problems plaguing the United States and other industrialized nations.

For example, investment adviser James Dines devoted a section of his latest letter to clients to what he described as "the coming collapse of the oil carter."

Today's prices included American Standard, down ¼ at 12; MAPCO, up ⅛ at 31¼; Ford Motor, up ⅛ at 33½, and VF Corp., up ¼ at 17¾.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average jumped 14.08 to 753.13, its first close above 750 since last Aug. 13.

Gainers overpowered losers by more than a 3-1 margin on the NYSE as turnover swelled to 24.10 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index added .59 to 77.86.

1975 Looks Good To Bendix

SOUTHFIELD — Bendix Corp. is headed for another successful year, W. Michael Blumenthal, chairman, president, and chief executive officer, told the firm's stockholders at their recent annual meeting.

Bendix maintains its hydraulics division south of St. Joseph.

Blumenthal said the firm has continued to achieve record sales and earnings despite effects of the recession on two of its major markets, automotive original equipment and housing. He told stockholders:

"The significance of that performance is not simply that we have broken another record when our economy is going throug a decline, but how well we are prepared to face the difficult months ahead. It tells us whether our management, our corporate structure and our resources are ready for the test. I believe they are..."

Bendix, during its past fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1974, reported net income of $75.8 million, or $4.65 per share on revenues of $2.48 billion. First quarter earnings this year were $1.06 per share, up from last year's 99 cents per share, previously the best first quarter in Bendix history.

"These results confirm our belief that we are headed for another good year," Blumenthal told stockholders. He looked for a change in the pattern of earnings this year, with greater contribution from aerospace-electronics operations and in the automotive area from worldwide aftermarket sales.

"Our energy-related products and services, principally for the oil exploration and power industries, will certainly continue to groa," Blumenthal said.

Bendix mobile homes and building materials operations were reported in a "loss position" the first quarter and "conditions have not improved," Blumenthal said. He said performance in these areas will depend on the pace and timing of a recovery in that market. Some optimism for the housing industry was voiced because of lowered interest rates and a trend toward availability of funds for financing.

In other business at the annual meeting, Ian MacGregor, chairman and chief executive officer of AMAX (formerly American Metals Climax), was elected to the board of directors.

The directors also elected Stanley M. Cleveland, executive vice president of Bendix International, as a corporate vice president of Bendix.

GM Plans To Borrow Millions

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors says it will borrow money for the first time in 21 years to continue heavy investments in factory facilities and research despite the severe slump in auto sales.

The auto giant said Monday it will sell bonds worth $600 million with the money going to "worldwide operations... including working capital requirements, acquisition of special tools and other capital expenditures for real estate, plant and equipment."

It will be the first time the giant auto maker has borrowed money since December 1953, when it sold $300 million in 25-year debentures.

A company spokesman declined to elaborate on the firm's cash position. But he pointed to a statement by Chairman Thomas Murphy last month that GM sees a need to continue investing heavily to remain competitive and develop autos that get better fuel economy.

The firm spent more than $900 million for special tools last year and more than $1.2 billion for plant facilities.

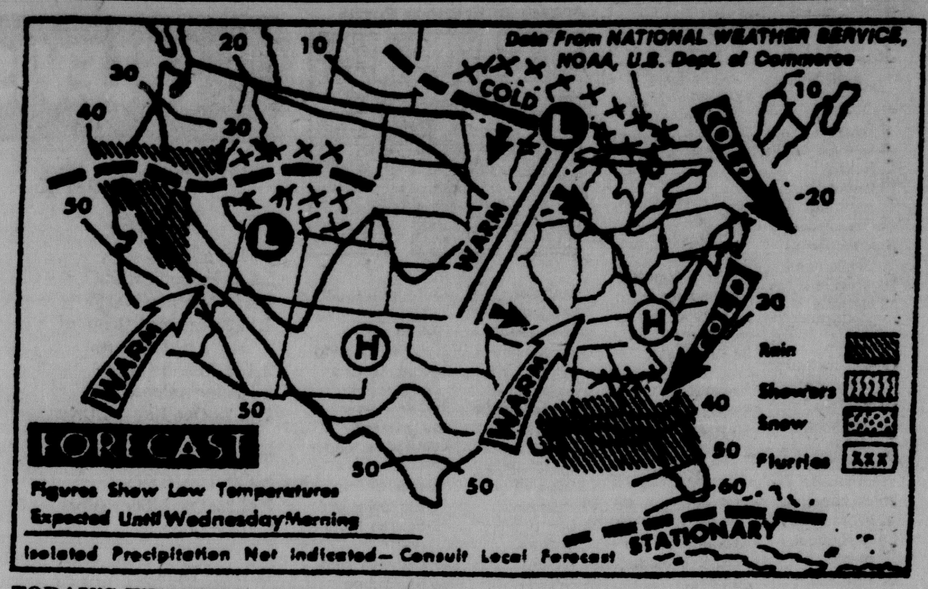
Industry analysts say GM is expected to barely make it into the black this quarter because of depressed sales and its recently concluded rebate program.

The firm's earnings in 1974 were $950 million, down 60 per cent from the record performance of 1973. GM lowered its common stock dividend for the current quarter from 85 cents per share to 60 cents — the first such reduction since 1946.

As of Dec. 31, GM had $5.5 billion in working capital, down from $6.2 billion a year earlier.

The firm said its bond offerings would be covered in a registration statement to be filed today with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The sale will include $300 million in 30-year debentures and the rest in 10-year notes.



TODAY'S WEATHER MAP: Cold weather is forecast Tuesday for most of the nation. Warm weather is forecast for southern California and the central Gulf. Rain is expected for the eastern Gulf with snow flurries possible on the northern fringes of the rain. Rain is forecast for part of the northern Pacific coast and central Rockies changing to snow flurries over the Plains. (AP Wirephoto Map)

CHIKAMING

Review Panel Slots Filled By Township

LAKESIDE — Chikaming township board last night reappointed Harold Nelson and Otto Komarek and named Richard Rieth to the township board of review.

The board of review is scheduled to meet March 10 and 11 from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on March 25 from 3 to 9 p.m. in the Lakeside fire station.

In other areas, the board received a copy of a petition opposing the issuance of a license to serve liquor by the glass in the Sand Hill restaurant in Sawyer.

The original petition with 63 signatures from area residents was sent to the state liquor commission. The petition was circulated by Fred Brecht of Sawyer.

In January, the township board in a split decision approved a recommendation to the state liquor commission that Eugene Mantei, owner of the restaurant, be issued a license to serve liquor by the glass.

The board set settlement day for March 31 at 7 p.m. in the townhall and the annual meeting was scheduled for April 5 at 1:30 p.m. in the Chikaming elementary school on Three Oaks road.

The board instructed Mrs. Lena Abrahamsen, township clerk, to rent a post office box in Sawyer for all township mailings from the state.

SJ Women Injured In Collision

Three elderly St. Joseph women were injured yesterday when the car in which they were riding collided with another auto at the intersection of Main street and Price street, St. Joseph police reported.

Lillian Ogg, 71, of 601 Port street, was listed in fair condition at Memorial hospital with fractured ribs and fractured clavicle. She was a passenger in the car.

Another passenger, Ida Burgett, 74, of 719 Lions Park drive, was treated for lacerations and released from Memorial.

The driver, Louise Bluschke, 67, of 1021 Morrison avenue, was also treated at Memorial for lacerations and released.

Police said the accident occurred at 3:40 p.m. when Mrs. Bluschke turned from Main street onto Price, into the path of an auto driven by Raymond Leroy Renfro, 48, of 217 Ward avenue. Mrs. Bluschke was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way.

SEWER BILLING

Decatur Seeks End Of Late Payments

DECATUR — Decatur village council last night voted to amend its sewer ordinance in an effort to crack down on late payments.

Amendments to the ordinance will change the length of time between the sewer billing date and when the bill becomes delinquent, from three to one month. At the end of one month, if the bill is not paid, water service will be turned off and a $10 fee will be charged to turn it back on.

Decatur residents receive sewer bills each month and separate water bills twice a year. The council felt the only way to insure payment of sewer bills, is by turning off water service, if the bills are not paid on time.

In other areas, the council approved purchase of a detector for the village sewer department at a cost of $159 from Davis Portable Instruments of Kalamazoo. The device will be used to detect combustable gases in sewer lines.

Plans for Decatur's bicentennial celebration were briefly discussed by Miss May Kaplan, local chairman, and she presented the council with a copy of the winning local bicentennial symbol to be used.

At a special meeting of the council, Tuesday, Feb. 25, the council voted unanimously to authorize Keith Leighton, village president, to apply to U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, for a $190,000 grant to be used for grading and blacktopping alleys in the village.

Stolen Car Destroyed By Flames

A car stolen from a Hartford man during a robbery early this morning was found destroyed by flames in Benton Harbor about 10 minutes after the theft was reported to police.

Benton Harbor police said an undetermined amount of cash and car keys were stolen from Tom Leach, 42, Route 2, Hartford. Leach told police two men robbed him in a parking lot at the corner of Paw Paw avenue and Territorial road at 12:30 a.m.

Police found his car engulfed in flames at 12:40 a.m. in an alley behind 554 Cass street about two blocks from the parking lot.

Leach sustained some scratches and bruises but declined treatment, police said.

BH Men Plead Innocent In Scottdale Bank Stickup

Two Benton Harbor men accused of robbing a branch bank at Scottdale on Feb. 7 pleaded innocent to three counts of armed robbery when arraigned yesterday in Berrien circuit court.

Pleading innocent were Leotis West, Jr., 21, of 469 Brunson avenue, and M.C. Woods, 24, of 694 Colfax avenue.

The co-defendants were remanded to the county jail by Judge Julian Hughes after arraignment, where they are being held under $100,000 bond each.

Woods and West were arrested Feb. 7 about eight minutes after the Scottdale branch of Peoples State bank of St. Joseph reported a holdup. Police said more than $11,080 was confiscated in the arrests.

The defendants are charged with robbing Ursula Rogers, Marlene Mast, and Charlene Dusek, all tellers at the bank, with pistols. The robbery of each teller is listed as a count in warrants against Woods and West.

In other arraignments before Hughes:

Charles B. Jones, 34, of 138 Frederick street, Benton township, pleaded innocent to one charge of murder and two counts of assault with intent to murder. He is accused of murdering Willie McGee Dec. 11 at the Office Lounge, 205 Territorial road, Benton Harbor, and with assaulting McGee and Leroy Waters with a pistol on the same date.

Harold Foster, 22, of 982 Buss avenue, Benton Harbor, pleaded innocent to a charge of armed robbery. He is charged with robbing Leroy Lewis of $238 with a sawed-off shotgun Dec. 17 in Benton township.

Michael P. Stevens, 24, of Dowagiac, pleaded innocent to to charges of armed robbery. He is accused of robbing John Krukowski and Ronda Langendonk with a gun Dec. 8 at 149 Briar Crest lane, Niles.

Buddy Brown, 21, and Rodney B. Hanus, 19, both of Hartford, both pleaded guilty to conspiracy to commit larceny in a building. They were accused of conspiring to steal items from the home of Marylua Lee, at 1804 South State street, St. Joseph, on Feb. 3.

Mobs Ransack Chinese Shops

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — More than 1,000 Cambodian students with sticks and clubs ransacked Chinese shops in northwest Cambodia's Battambang province today for the second time in two weeks, travelers reaching Phnom Penh reported.

The violence began early today and continued until late in the afternoon. There were no reports of casualties, but officials ordered a 6 p.m. curfew in the city of 200,000, which is 180 miles northwest of Phnom Penh.

PRIME: Target of CIA agents opening citizens' private mail over the past several years was actress and antiwar activist Jane Fonda. Justice Department sources revealed all overseas mail sent to her was intercepted by operatives before she received it.

State Line Party Store Booze Gone

NEW BUFFALO — Six half gallons of whiskey valued at $60 were listed as stolen yesterday morning in a break-in at the Moulik's Party store, south of here on US-12, state police from the New Buffalo post said.

Police said a store employe found a front window to the store had been broken when he opened the store at 8:30 a.m. yesterday. The store is located in New Buffalo township, just north of the Indiana state line, troopers said.

Police said three New Buffalo area juvenile boys had been questioned in connection with the break-in, dut no arrests had been made.

BUCHANAN SIDEWALKS

Repossession Ban Becomes Permanent

A permanent injunction prohibiting the owners of a Galien construction company from tearing up or removing any sidewalk in a two-block stretch of Buchanan has been issued in Berrien circuit court.

Judge William S. White issued the injunction prohibiting Dewey and Lene Mollberg, brothers and owners of Mollberg Construction Co., Inc., from removing sidewalk along the west side of Moccasin avenue in Buchanan.

Buchanan officials said the two had attempted to repossess the sidewalk by tearing it out Feb. 14, but were stopped when City Manager Robert Faulhaber showed them a copy of a restrainiinl order issued Feb. 13 by Circuit Judge Julian E. Hughes.

The brothers were arrested four days later on charges of malicious destruction of property—tearing up the sidewalk — after turning themselves in to Buchanan police. They stood mute on arraignment in Fifth District court and pleas of innocent were entered.

The men had announced they would seek to repossess the sidewalk in a dispute over payment for installing it. They claim in a civil suit in Berrien circuit court that they have not been paid by a Grand Rapids contractor. The Mollbergs were subcontractors while the Grand Rapids firm held the general contract from Michigan Bell for burying telephone cables.

The civil suit seeks payment of $8,614 allegedly owed for removing and replacing sidewalk.

$22,500 Settlement Is Entered

Berrien Circuit Judge William S. White yesterday entered a consent judgment of $22,580 for a Bangor woman as the result of a 1972 accident in which her husband was killed while helping a neighbor lower a TV antenna.

The judgment was entered on behalf of Mrs. Karen Pliley and her two children, formerly of Coloma township and now residing in Bangor. Her husband, Russell Pliley, 27, was electrocuted May 7, 1972, when an antenna he was helping lower hit electric lines.

The judgment was entered against Robert and Joseph Hutchins, who are brothers. The Plileys formerly lived next door to Robert Hutchins on Helen street in Coloma township.

The original suit filed against the brothers claimed Robert Hutchins asked Pliley to help him lower the antenna, and the brothers were attempting to lower the antenna from the roof of Robert's house when wires holding the antenna broke. Pliley was holding the base of a tower attached to the antenna which struck electric lines.

The original suit sought a judgment of $961,050.

"Yet it is being proposed today that we grant the Soviet Union MFN, (most favored nation status) in exchange for their agreeing to liberalize their emigration policies. We will bribe the Soviet Union to do what it is already obligated to do under international law. . . .

"There are no economic benefits for the United States in this deal. All the economic benefits flow to the Soviet Union. . . .

"The volume of this one way flow of American goodies is already alarming.

"Let me suggest," says Meany "that there is a limit to the patience of the average American citizen. He's no dope. He knows he's being ripped off from every angle. . . .

"The inability to face the world as it is, and to understand clearly the nature of freedom's enemies everywhere, is really the greatest threat to peace today. That threat is nowhere more clearly posed than in the delusion we call detente."

I am in complete agreement with this statement of Mr. Meany. I would only add one further thought. Or perhaps I should raise a few questions. Number 1. Who is the author of detente? Who is the prime shaper of our present foreign policy? Is it not Mr. Kissinger? And was he not working for Mr. Rockefeller before he ever went to work for either Mr. Nixon or Mr. Ford? And is it not the great international banks like the Rockefeller's Chase Manhatten which have benefited most from our massive government borrowing? Does this not suggest the possibility for a monstrous conflict of interest?

LENGTHY REBUTTAL TO RATE HIKE REQUEST

Editor,

Attached you will find copy of letter with summary of factors which I feel should be considered by the Governor in relation to proposed I & M rate hike.

Given the fact that most every rate payer in this county is affected and so many of them made the effort to attend the so-called hearing, they may find this communication interesting.

If you think so and can find the space, I would, of course, be happy to see it published.

J. D. Hartwig
Benton Harbor.

February 11, 1975

Honorable William G. Milliken
Governor, State of Michigan
Executive Office
The Capitol
Lansing, Michigan 48903

In Re: Indiana & Michigan Electric Company Rate Increase Application
Dear Governor Milliken:

This letter is addressed to you because the writer is convinced that you are sincerely concerned about the financial problems of the citizens of this state and for the further reason that you are the leader of the Republican party in this state, of which the voting majority of the Public Service commission are presumably also members as a result of appointment by you.

You may have learned through the local news media of from other sources, that over 300 Berrien county residents attended a so-called hearing on February 4th at the local courthouse to express their strong opposition to any further increase in their electric utility bills. Almost 50 citizens took this opportunity, in spite of the fact that the representative of the Michigan Public Service commission insisted that they were instructed not to answer any questions and refused to do so. I must say I have never attended a public meeting on any subject at which the ordinary citizen felt obliged to express his or her convictions so vehemently. Possibly I have lived a sheltered life.

In any event, I do feel part of the resentment expressed stemmed from the frustration of these citizens derived from their inability to communicate effectively their disenchantment with this particular utility. Admittedy, they were advised that the commission would conduct further hearings in Lansing, which, of course, they were welcome to attend although they were cautioned that they had better phone first to be sure "that something would be going on." They were further advised that the commission could not conduct the hearings for the convenience of the interested parties in this area because of the expense and inconvenience to the Public Service commission. The collective cost, I admit, of any significant number of interested parties going to Lansing would far exceed any burden imposed on the commission. I seriously question whether the commission is furnishing the interested parties a reasonable opportunity for a full and complete hearing under these conditions.

I am aware of the fact that costs for everyone have increased, and I am not opposed to paying an additional legitimate expense. I have come to the conclusion, as a result of studying the latest published annual report of the American Electric Power company and the particular figures relating to Indiana & Michigan Electric company, that any additional expense for electric power which I would be obliged to incur would not be legitimate. I have set forth in the attached memorandum, a summary of the observations I made for the record at the so-called hearing which explain my reasons for arriving at this conclusion. I realize that it may be an imposition upon you to ask you to review them, but I do so because I believe, if you understand the facts, you have the ability to see to it that the Michigan Public Service commission Republican majority carries out its obligation to fix rates which are reasonable and not oppressive to the public.

I repeat that I am bringing this matter to your attention because I cannot help but feel that the Indiana & Michigan requested rate increase of 22 per cent, coupled with a fuel adjustment and compounded by an increase in the state income tax, will only accentuate the difficulties faced by you. I can see your political opponents conceding that an increase in the state income tax may have been necessary but they will disclaim any responsibility for the hike in the utility bills of the citizens of this state, which will substantially exceed the personal income tax increment.

I trust you will accept the foregoing comments in the spirit in which they are offered.

Very truly yours,
HARTWIG, CROW, JONES & POSTELLI
J.D. Hartwig

SUMMARY OF FACTORS RELEVANT TO INDIANA & MICHIGAN RATE INCREASE REQUEST

1. By statute, the Public Service commission is obliged to furnish interested parties a reasonable opportunity for a full and complete hearing before granting the rate increase. MSA, Sec. 22.13 (6) (a)

2. The area served by I&M is concentrated in a very limited area of the State of Michigan.

3. The Public Service commission has statutory authority to audit the records and appraise the plants for ratemaking purposes of such a utility and charge the utility for same. MSA, Sec. 22.121

4. At the public meeting conducted by the representatives of the Public Service commission on Feb. 4, 1975, such representatives stated that they were instructed not to answer any questions.

5. Among the questions posed to the representatives of the Michigan Public Service commission were the following:

(a) Whether a determination was made of the operating expenses chargeable to the Michigan, as distinguished from the Indiana, portion of the I&M operation.

(b) The expenses incurred for advertising electric heating, opposition to the Clean Air act, and institutional advertising.

(c) The priority of the charges made to the utility for fuel purchased from its filiated companies.

(d) The expenses claimed in connection with the Cook Nuclear Power plant which is not used and is not useful for Michigan consumers at the present time, and in any event will be operated eventually, if ever, for the benefit of consumers in the American Electric Power System who are not located in Michigan.

(e) The expenses attributable to mismanagement, bad judgment and plain "goofs" which resulted in losses, the burden of which should be suffered by the stockholders rather than the Michigan rate payers. (See FPC vs. The Hope Natural Gas, 320 U.S. 591, 603 (1944).

6. If the Cook Nuclear plant is not to be operated for the benefit of Michigan users for some years to come, should the present (or only future) users be burdened with any part of its costs.

7. Factors derived from the 1973 Annual Report of American Electric Power which suggest that no permanent increase is now in order:

(a) I&M had a net income in 1973, after all interest charges, equal to 23.7 per cent of its operating revenue.

(b) It paid dividends on its common stock in that year equal to 21.29 per cent of its operating revenue.

(c) I&M earned 15.37 per cent on its invested capital, including retained earnings.

(d) The shareholder (American Electric Power) received a dividend on the common stock equal to 13.7845 per cent of its capital invested in I&M.

(e) In the 10-year period from 1963 through 1973, earnings on the common stock of American Electric Power increased 90 per cent and dividends paid increased by 92 per cent.

(f) I&M paid only $55,000 in state income taxes to both the State of Indiana and the State of Michigan in 1973.

(g) Indiana & Michigan paid the federal government $54,000 in income taxes in 1973.

(h) Indiana & Michigan had outstanding long-term debt of $171 million on which it was obligated to pay interest of less than 6 per cent; it had outstanding sinking fund debentures of $14 million on which it was required to pay only 5⅛ per cent; it had notes payable to banks on which it was required to pay a rate equal to prime plus a fraction, which rate has declined perceptively from the 10¼ per cent reportedly paid in 1973.

(i) I&M had $22 million of preferred stock outstanding on which it only paid 5 per cent.

(j) The cost of capital utilized the determine the rate of return should reflect the foregoing capital structure and the debt equity ratios of this particular entity.

8. Consideration should be given to the fact that other investor-owned companies, such as General Motors, reduce their dividends when earnings decline. What is good for General Motors — may even be good for I&M or American Electric Power.

9. While the fuel cost adjustment is not before the commission at this time, determination should be made with respect to the following factors:

(a) The cost to I&M of fuel purchased from captive mines and other affiliated entities.

(b) The expenditure of $3.3 million by AEP to amend the Clean Air act to enable it to use soft coal.

(c) Spot prices for steam coal have dropped more than 50 per cent between the middle of December and the middle of January (see Wall Street Journal, January 14th, 1975, page 13). Any increase in the base rate should reflect the reduced cost of fuel for which an adjustment has apparently been authorized by the commission.

10. As to the argument that utilities need additional revenue to enable them to obtain capital for expansion, the following factors should be considered:

(a) A dividend of 13 per cent on invested capital on a relatively risk-free investment, is unnecessary.

(b) Inasmuch as the rate of increase in demand for electric power in 1974 was less than 1 per cent, serious doubt exists as to the need for expansion.

(c) With increasing costs and the determination of the consumer to conserve cash expenditures, it is reasonable to suspect that further reductions in demand will occur.

(d) The cutback inconstruction of new facilities by utilities has furnished them financial relief; paved the way for increased profits; and as the New York Times observed, is the explanation for the recent bullish market in utility stocks since the first of the year (copy of article will be furnished on request).

11. The American Electric Power companies as a whole spent 6.8 times as much on advertising in 1973 as they did on research and development. (See Congressional Record, December 19th, 1974).

12. In 1973, American Electric Power realized an adjusted net income of $194 million; but it not only paid no federal income taxes, it accumulated a tax credit of $8,920,000.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
on
PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE MICHIGAN APPLE ADVERTISING AND PROMOTION PROGRAM

A public hearing will be held pursuant to 1969 PA 306, Sec. 71, on Friday, March 14, 1975 at 1:30 p.m. in the Michigan Department of Agriculture Hearing Room, 5th Floor, Lewis Cass Building, Walnut Avenue, Lansing, Michigan, to consider proposed amendments to the Michigan Apple Advertising and Promotion Program pursuant to 1965 PA 232, Sections 5 and 10, as amended by 1974 PA 324.

The proposed amendments to the Michigan Apple Advertising and Promotion Program would amend the following sections of the program: PART B - Districts. The proposed amendment would rescind the present established districts used as a basis for selecting members for the Michigan Apple Committee. Districts for providing a basis for selecting Michigan Apple Committee members would be established on an equitable and representative apple production basis by procedures under 1965 PA 232, as amended by 1974 PA 324 and Michigan Department of Agriculture Regulation No. 301, Rule 12, as amended.

PART D - Assessments, paragraph 1. The proposed amendments would change the present assessments as follows: apples sold for fresh market use from eight (8c) cents per hundred pounds to twelve (12c) cents per hundred pounds; apples sold for processing from six (6c) cents per hundred pounds to ten (10c) cents per hundred pounds and apples sold for juice, cider or vinegar from two (2c) cents per hundred pounds to eight (8c) cents per hundred pounds of apples.

The question presented at the hearing will be whether or not the proposed amendments are necessary and reasonable.

The department urges all Michigan apple producers to study the proposals carefully. Interested persons are invited to present their views orally or in writing.

Please bring this proposal with you if you attend the hearing.

Dated at Lansing, Michigan this 26th day of February, 1975.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Advance Broadly

NEW YORK — Hopes for a weakening in the world oil price structure carried stock market prices to another broad advance today.

The opening Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was up a fraction, and advances took a 3-1 lead over declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

Most of the market's attention was focused on a summit meeting of oil producing nations beginning today in Algiers amid reports of disagreement among them over how to try to keep oil prices high in the face of reduced consumption.

The picture gave rise to hopes of a possible downward break in the energy costs that have played a major part in the inflation-recession problems plaguing the United States and other industrialized nations.

For example, investment adviser James Dines devoted a section of his latest letter to clients to what he described as "the coming collapse of the oil carter."

Today's prices included American Standard, down ¼ at 12; MAPCO, up ⅛ at 31¼; Ford Motor, up ⅛ at 33½, and VF Corp., up ¼ at 17¾.

On Monday the Dow Jones industrial average jumped 14.08 to 753.13, its first close above 750 since last Aug. 13.

Gainers overpowered losers by more than a 3-1 margin on the NYSE as turnover swelled to 24.10 million shares.

At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index added .59 to 77.86.

1975 Looks Good To Bendix

SOUTHFIELD — Bendix Corp. is headed for another successful year, W. Michael Blumenthal, chairman, president, and chief executive officer, told the firm's stockholders at their recent annual meeting.

Bendix maintains its hydraulics division south of St. Joseph.

Blumenthal said the firm has continued to achieve record sales and earnings despite effects of the recession on two of its major markets, automotive original equipment and housing. He told stockholders:

"The significance of that performance is not simply that we have broken another record when our economy is going throug a decline, but how well we are prepared to face the difficult months ahead. It tells us whether our management, our corporate structure and our resources are ready for the test. I believe they are..."

Bendix, during its past fiscal year ended Sept. 30, 1974, reported net income of $75.8 million, or $4.65 per share on revenues of $2.48 billion. First quarter earnings this year were $1.06 per share, up from last year's 99 cents per share, previously the best first quarter in Bendix history.

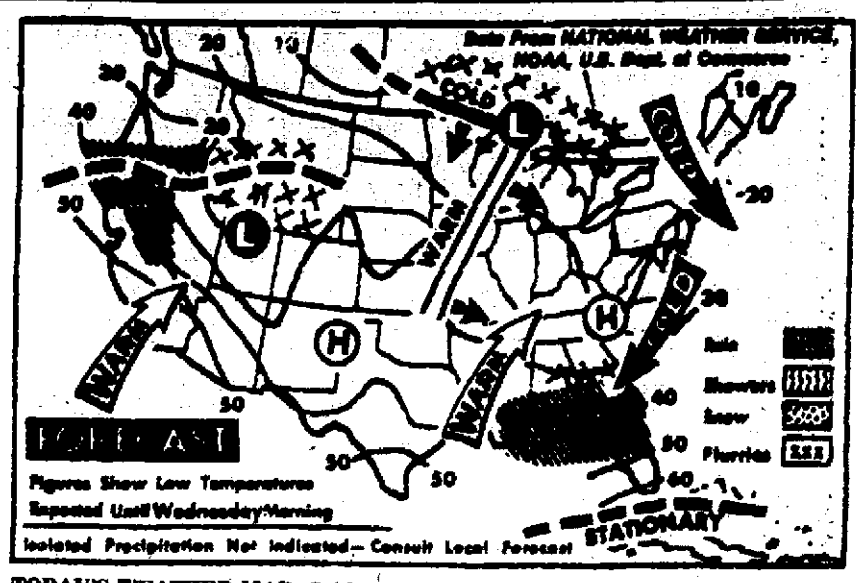
"These results confirm our belief that we are headed for another good year," Blumenthal told stockholders. He looked for a change in the pattern of earnings this year, with greater contribution from aerospace-electronics operations and in the automotive area from worldwide aftermarket sales.

"Our energy-related products and services, principally for the oil exploration and power industries, will certainly continue to grow," Blumenthal said.

Bendix mobile homes and building materials operations were reported in a "loss position" the first quarter and "conditions have not improved," Blumenthal said. He said performance in these areas will depend on the pace and timing of a recovery in that market. Some optimism for the housing industry was voiced because of lowered interest rates and a trend toward availability of funds for financing.

In other business at the annual meeting, Ian MacGregor, chairman and chief executive officer of AMAX (formerly American Metals Climax), was elected to the board of directors.

The directors also elected Stanley M. Cleveland, executive vice president of Bendix International, as a corporate vice president of Bendix.



TODAY'S WEATHER MAP: Cold weather is forecast Tuesday for most of the nation. Warm weather is forecast for southern California and the central Gulf. Rain is expected for the eastern Gulf with snow flurries possible on the northern fringes of the rain. Rain is forecast for part of the northern Pacific coast and central Rockies changing to snow flurries over the Plains. (AP Wirephoto Map)

GM Plans To Borrow Millions

DETROIT (AP) — General Motors says it will borrow money for the first time in 21 years to continue heavy investments in factory facilities and research despite the severe slump in auto sales.

The auto giant said Monday it will sell bonds worth $600 million with the money going to "worldwide operations... including working capital requirements, acquisition of special tools and other capital expenditures for real estate, plant and equipment."

It will be the first time the giant auto maker has borrowed money since December 1953, when it sold $300 million in 25-year debentures.

A company spokesman declined to elaborate on the firm's cash position. But he pointed to a statement by Chairman Thomas Murphy last month that GM sees a need to continue investing heavily to remain competitive and develop autos that get better fuel economy.

The firm spent more than $900 million for special tools last year and more than $1.2 billion for plant facilities.

Industry analysts say GM is expected to barely make it into the black this quarter because of depressed sales and its recently concluded rebate program.

The firm's earnings in 1974 were $950 million, down 60 per cent from the record performance of 1973. GM lowered its common stock dividend for the current quarter from 85 cents per share to 60 cents — the first such reduction since 1946.

As of Dec. 31, GM had $5.5 billion in working capital, down from $6.2 billion a year earlier.

The firm said its bond offerings would be covered in a registration statement to be filed today with the Securities and Exchange Commission.

The sale will include $300 million in 30-year debentures and the rest in 10-year notes.

Record Year For Phone Firm

HUDSON, OHIO — Mid-Continent Telephone corporation reported a 10 per cent net income increase in 1974 over 1973.

Mid-Michigan Telephone company, which serves approximately 1,750 subscribers in the Stevensville, Baroda, Sawyer, Bridgman and New Troy areas, is a subsidiary of Mid-Continent.

Mid-Continent also reported 1974 revenues and earnings were higher than in any previous year. Mid-Continent earned $1.64 per average common share outstanding, a slight gain over 1973's restated earnings of $1.60 per share.

Net income increased 10 per cent to $14,133,672 from a restated $12,796,570 in 1973. Operating revenues were $106,321,037, up 15 per cent from 1973's restated $94,038,035.

Mid-Continent's earnings per share have increased by 46 per cent since 1970 — from $1.12 to the currently reported $1.64. This gain has been achieved concurrently with an 86 per cent increase in shareowners' preferred and common equity.

Capital expenditures during 1974 for improved and expanded customer-service facilities were $67,112,000, 6 per cent more than the 1973 record amount. The company's total year-end investment in property and plant was $501,525,509, a 14 per cent increase during the year. As previously announced, the company plans to spend $58,800,000 this year on plant and equipment.

Common shares outstanding averaged 7,393,874 for 1974 and 7,119,931 in 1973.

CHIKAMING

Review Panel Slots Filled By Township

LAKESIDE — Chikaming township board last night reappointed Harold Nelson and Otto Komarek and named Richard Rieth to the township board of review.

The board of review is scheduled to meet March 10 and 11 from 9:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. and on March 25 from 3 to 9 p.m. in the Lakeside fire station.

In other areas, the board received a copy of a petition opposing the issuance of a license to serve liquor by the glass in the Sand Hill restaurant in Sawyer.

The original petition with 63 signatures from area residents was sent to the state liquor commission. The petition was circulated by Fred Brecht of Sawyer.

In January, the township board in a split decision approved a recommendation to the state liquor commission that Eugene Mantei, owner of the restaurant, be issued a license to serve liquor by the glass.

The board set settlement day for March 31 at 7 p.m. in the townhall and the annual meeting was scheduled for April 5 at 1:30 p.m. in the Chikaming elementary school on Three Oaks road.

The board instructed Mrs. Lena Abrahamsen, township clerk, to rent a post office box in Sawyer for all township mailings from the state.

SJ Women Injured In Collision

Three elderly St. Joseph women were injured yesterday when the car in which they were riding collided with another auto at the intersection of Main street and Price street, St. Joseph police reported.

Lillian Ogg, 71, of 601 Port street, was listed in fair condition at Memorial hospital with fractured ribs and fractured clavicle. She was a passenger in the car.

Another passenger, Ida Burgett, 74, of 719 Lions Park drive, was treated for lacerations and released from Memorial.

The driver, Louise Bluschke, 67, of 1021 Morrison avenue, was also treated at Memorial for lacerations and released.

Police said the accident occurred at 3:40 p.m. when Mrs. Bluschke turned from Main street onto Price, into the path of an auto driven by Raymond Leroy Renfro, 48, of 217 Ward avenue. Mrs. Bluschke was ticketed for failure to yield the right of way.

SEWER BILLING

Decatur Seeks End Of Late Payments

DECATUR — Decatur village council last night voted to amend its sewer ordinance in an effort to crack down on late payments.

Amendments to the ordinance will change the length of time between the sewer billing date and when the bill becomes delinquent, from three to one month. At the end of one month, if the bill is not paid, water service will be turned off and a $10 fee will be charged to turn it back on.

Decatur residents receive sewer bills each month and separate water bills twice a year. The council felt the only way to insure payment of sewer bills, is by turning off water service, if the bills are not paid on time.

In other areas, the council approved purchase of a detector for the village sewer department at a cost of $159 from Davis Portable Instruments of Kalamazoo. The device will be used to detect combustable gases in sewer lines.

Plans for Decatur's bicentennial celebration were briefly discussed by Miss May Kaplan, local chairman, and she presented the council with a copy of the winning local bicentennial symbol to be used.

At a special meeting of the council, Tuesday, Feb. 25, the council voted unanimously to authorize Keith Leighton, village president, to apply to U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development, for a $190,000 grant to be used for grading and blacktopping alleys in the village.

BH Men Plead Innocent In Scottdale Bank Stickup

Two Benton Harbor men accused of robbing a branch bank at Scottdale on Feb. 7 pleaded innocent to three counts of armed robbery when arraigned yesterday in Berrien circuit court.

Pleading innocent were Leotis West, Jr., 21, of 400 Brunson avenue, and M.C. Woods, 24, of 694 Colfax avenue.

The co-defendants were remanded to the county jail by Judge Julian Hughes after arraignment, where they are being held under $100,000 bond each.

Woods and West were arrested Feb. 7 about eight minutes after the Scottdale branch of Peoples State bank of St. Joseph reported a holdup. Police said more than $11,000 was confiscated in the arrests.

The defendants are charged with robbing Ursula Rogers, Marlene Mast, and Charlene Dusek, all tellers at the bank, with pistols. The robbery of each teller is listed as a count in warrants against Woods and West.

In other arraignments before Hughes:

Charles B. Jones, 34, of 138 Frederick street, Benton township, pleaded innocent to one charge of murder and two counts of assault with intent to murder. He is accused of murdering Willie McGee Dec. 11 at the Office Lounge, 205 Territorial road, Benton Harbor, and with assaulting McGee and Leroy Waters with a pistol on the same date.

Harold Foster, 22, of 862 Buss avenue, Benton Harbor, pleaded innocent to a charge of armed robbery. He is charged with robbing Leroy Lewis of $238 with a sawed-off shotgun Dec. 17 in Benton township.

Michael P. Stevens, 24, of Dowagiac, pleaded innocent to to charges of armed robbery. He is accused of robbing John Krukowski and Ronda Langendonk with a gun Dec. 8 at 149 Briar Crest lane, Niles.

Buddy Brown, 21, and Rodney B. Hanus, 19, both of Hartford, both pleaded guilty to conspiracy to commit larceny in a building. They were accused of conspiring to steal items from the home of Marylua Lee, at 1804 South State street, St. Joseph, on Feb. 3.

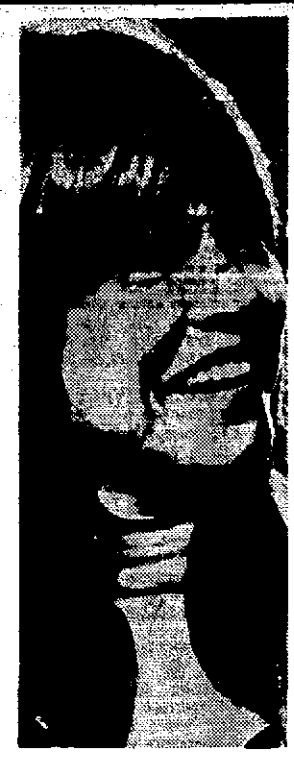
Jeffrey L. Greer, 17, of Kokomo, Ind, pleaded guilty to unlawful use of an auto, owned by Gerald Trierweiler, Jan. 30 on I-94 in St. Joseph township.

Bruce A. Reed, 24, of Palatine, Ill., pleaded guilty to larceny in a building—stealing assorted drugs, medicine and office equipment Feb. 4 from the office of Dr. William Cooper on Paw Paw street, Coloma.

Darlene R. Clifton, 30, of 708 West Roe street, Buchanan, pleaded guilty to assault with a deadly weapon, with a charge of assault with intent to murder dismissed by the prosecutor's office. She was charged with assaulting Leon Clifton with a 12-gauge shotgun Jan. 10 in Buchanan.

Russell W. Downs, 23, of 504 South Third street, Niles, pleaded guilty to larceny in a building—stealing a copying machine Sept. 10 from St. John's church in Niles. A charge of breaking and entering was dismissed.

Carol L. Tirtel, 21, of New Buffalo, pleaded guilty to uttering a counterfeit note Sept. 17 at the Bank of Three Oaks in New Buffalo. Charges of forgery and uttering and publishing were dismissed.



PRIME: Target of CIA agents opening citizens' private mail over the past several years was actress and antiwar activist Jane Fonda. Justice Department sources revealed all overseas mail sent to her was intercepted by operatives before she received it.

Mobs Ransack Chinese Shops

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — More than 1,000 Cambodian students with sticks and clubs ransacked Chinese shops in northwest Cambodia's Battambang province today for the second time in two weeks, travelers reaching Phnom Penh reported.

The violence began early today and continued until late in the afternoon. There were no reports of casualties, but officials ordered a 6 p.m. curfew in the city of 200,000, which is 190 miles northwest of Phnom Penh.

State Line Party Store Booze Gone

NEW BUFFALO — Six half gallons of whiskey valued at $60 were listed as stolen yesterday morning in a break-in at the Moulik's Party store, south of here on US-12, state police from the New Buffalo post said.

Police said a store employe found a front window to the store had been broken when he opened the store at 8:30 a.m. yesterday. The store is located in New Buffalo township, just north of the Indiana state line, troopers said.

Police said three New Buffalo area juvenile boys had been questioned in connection with the break-in, dut no arrests had been made.

BUCHANAN SIDEWALKS

Repossession Ban Becomes Permanent

A permanent injunction prohibiting the owners of a Galien construction company from tearing up or removing any sidewalk in a two-block stretch of Buchanan has been issued in Berrien circuit court.

Judge William S. White issued the injunction prohibiting Dewey and Lene Mollberg, brothers and owners of Mollberg Construction Co., Inc., from removing sidewalk along the west side of Moccasin avenue in Buchanan.

Buchanan officials said the two had attempted to repossess the sidewalk by tearing it out Feb. 14, but were stopped when City Manager Robert Faulhaber showed them a copy of a restrainin order issued Feb. 13 by Circuit Judge Julian E. Hughes.

The brothers were arrested four days later on charges of malicious destruction of property—tearing up the sidewalk — after turning themselves in to Buchanan police. They stood mute on arraignment in Fifth District court and pleas of innocent were entered.

The men had announced they would seek to repossess the sidewalk in a dispute over payment for installing it. They claim in a civil suit in Berrien circuit court that they have not been paid by a Grand Rapids contractor. The Mollbergs were subcontractors while the Grand Rapids firm held the general contract from Michigan Bell for burying telephone cables.

The civil suit seeks payment of $8,614 allegedly owed for removing and replacing sidewalk.

$22,500 Settlement Is Entered

Berrien Circuit Judge William S. White yesterday entered a consent judgment of $22,500 for a Bangor woman as the result of a 1972 accident in which her husband was killed while helping a neighbor lower a TV antenna.

The judgment was entered on behalf of Mrs. Karen Pliley and her two children, formerly of Coloma township and now residing in Bangor. Her husband, Russell Pliley, 27, was electrocuted May 7, 1972, when an antenna he was helping lower hit electric lines.

The judgment was entered against Robert and Joseph Hutchins, who are brothers. The Plileys formerly lived next door to Robert Hutchins on Helen street in Coloma township.

The original suit filed against the brothers claimed Robert Hutchins asked Pliley to help him lower the antenna, and the brothers were attempting to lower the antenna from the roof of Robert's house when wires holding the antenna broke. Pliley was holding the base of a tower attached to the antenna which struck electric lines.

The original suit sought a judgment of $661,000.

"Yet it is being proposed today that we grant the Soviet Union MFN, (most favored nation status) in exchange for their agreeing to liberalize their emigration policies. We will bribe the Soviet Union to do what it is already obligated to do under international law. . . .

"There are no economic benefits for the United States in this deal. All the economic benefits flow to the Soviet Union. . . .

"The volume of this one way flow of American goodies is already alarming.

"Let me suggest," says Meany "that there is a limit to the patience of the average American citizen. He's no dope. He knows he's being ripped off from every angle. . . .

"The inability to face the world as it is, and to understand clearly the nature of freedom's enemies everywhere, is really the greatest threat to peace today. That threat is nowhere more clearly posed than in the delusion we call detente."

I am in complete agreement with this statement of Mr. Meany. I would only add one further thought. Or perhaps I should raise a few questions. Number 1. Who is the author of detente? Who is the prime shaper of our present foreign policy? Is it not Mr. Kissinger? And was he not working for Mr. Rockefeller before he ever went to work for either Mr. Nixon or Mr. Ford? And is it not the great international banks like the Rockefeller's Chase Manhatten which have benefited most from our massive government borrowing? Does this not suggest the possibility for a monstrous conflict of interest?

LENGTHY REBUTTAL TO RATE HIKE REQUEST

Editor,

Attached you will find copy of letter with summary of factors which I feel should be considered by the Governor in relation to proposed I & M rate hike.

Given the fact that most every rate payer in this county is affected and so many of them made the effort to attend the so-called hearing, they may find this communication interesting.

If you think so and can find the space, I would, of course, be happy to see it published.

J. D. Hartwig
Benton Harbor.

February 11, 1975

Honorable William G. Milliken
Governor, State of Michigan
Executive Office
The Capitol
Lansing, Michigan 48903

In Re: Indiana & Michigan Electric Company Rate Increase Application
Dear Governor Milliken:

This letter is addressed to you because the writer is convinced that you are sincerely concerned about the financial problems of the citizens of this state and for the further reason that you are the leader of the Republican party in this state, of which the voting majority of the Public Service commission are presumably also members as a result of appointment by you.

You may have learned through the local news media of from other sources, that over 300 Berrien county residents attended a so-called hearing on February 4th at the local courthouse to express their strong opposition to any further increase in their electric utility bills. Almost 50 citizens took this opportunity, in spite of the fact that the representative of the Michigan Public Service commission insisted that they were instructed not to answer any questions and refused to do so. I must say I have never attended a public meeting on any subject at which the ordinary citizen felt obliged to express his or her convictions so vehemently. Possibly I have lived a sheltered life.

In any event, I do feel part of the resentment expressed stemmed from the frustration of these citizens derived from their inability to communicate effectively their disenchantment with this particular utility. Admittedly, they were advised that the commission would conduct further hearings in Lansing, which, of course, they were welcome to attend although they were cautioned that they had better phone first to be sure "that something would be going on." They were further advised that the commission could not conduct the hearings for the convenience of the interested parties in this area because of the expense and inconvenience to the Public Service commission. The collective cost, I admit, of any significant number of interested parties going to Lansing would far exceed any burden imposed on the commission. I seriously question whether the commission is furnishing the interested parties a reasonable opportunity for a full and complete hearing under these conditions.

I am aware of the fact that costs for everyone have increased, and I am not opposed to paying an additional legitimate expense. I have come to the conclusion, as a result of studying the latest published annual report of the American Electric Power company and the particular figures relating to Indiana & Michigan Electric company, that any additional expense for electric power which I would be obliged to incur would not be legitimate. I have set forth in the attached memorandum, a summary of the observations I made for the record at the so-called hearing which explain my reasons for arriving at this conclusion. I realize that it may be an imposition upon you to ask you to review them, but I do so because I believe, if you understand the facts, you have the ability to see to it that the Michigan Public Service commission Republican majority carries out its obligation to fix rates which are reasonable and not oppressive to the public.

I repeat that I am bringing this matter to your attention because I cannot help but feel that the Indiana & Michigan requested rate increase of 22 per cent, coupled with a fuel adjustment and compounded by an increase in the state income tax, will only accentuate the difficulties faced by you. I can see your political opponents conceding that an increase in the state income tax may have been necessary but they will disclaim any responsibility for the hike in the utility bills of the citizens of this state, which will substantially exceed the personal income tax increment.

I trust you will accept the foregoing comments in the spirit in which they are offered.

Very truly yours,
HARTWIG, CROW, JONES & POSTELLI
J.D. Hartwig

SUMMARY OF FACTORS RELEVANT TO INDIANA & MICHIGAN RATE INCREASE REQUEST

1. By statute, the Public Service commission is obliged to furnish interested parties a reasonable opportunity for a full and complete hearing before granting the rate increase. MSA, Sec. 22.13 (6) (a)

2. The area served by I&M is concentrated in a very limited area of the State of Michigan.

3. The Public Service commission has statutory authority to audit the records and appraise the plants for rate-making purposes of such a utility and charge the utility for same. MSA, Sec. 22.121

4. At the public meeting conducted by the representatives of the Public Service commission on Feb. 4, 1975, such representatives stated that they were instructed not to answer any questions.

5. Among the questions posed to the representatives of the Michigan Public Service commission were the following:

(a) Whether a determination was made of the operating expenses chargeable to the Michigan, as distinguished from the Indiana, portion of the I&M operation.

(b) The expenses incurred for advertising electric heating, opposition to the Clean Air act, and institutional advertising.

(c) The priority of the charges made to the utility for fuel purchased from its filiated companies.

(d) The expenses claimed in connection with the Cook Nuclear Power plant which is not used and is not useful for Michigan consumers at the present time, and in any event will be operated eventually, if ever, for the benefit of consumers in the American Electric Power System who are not located in Michigan.

(e) The expenses attributable to mismanagement, bad judgment and plain "goofs" which resulted in losses, the burden of which should be suffered by the stockholders rather than the Michigan rate payers. (See FPC vs. The Hope Natural Gas, 320 U.S. 591, 603 (1944).

6. If the Cook Nuclear plant is not to be operated for the benefit of Michigan users for some years to come, should the present (or only future) users be burdened with any part of its costs.

7. Factors derived from the 1973 Annual Report of American Electric Power which suggest that no permanent increase is now in order:

(a) I&M had a net income in 1973, after all interest charges, equal to 23.7 per cent of its operating revenue.

(b) It paid dividends on its common stock in that year equal to 21.29 per cent of its operating revenue.

(c) I&M earned 15.37 per cent on its invested capital, including retained earnings.

(d) The shareholder (American Electric Power) received a dividend on the common stock equal to 13.7845 per cent of its capital invested in I&M.

(e) In the 10-year period from 1963 through 1973, earnings on the common stock of American Electric Power increased 90 per cent and dividends paid increased by 92 per cent.

(f) I&M paid only $55,000 in state income taxes to both the State of Indiana and the State of Michigan in 1973.

(g) Indiana & Michigan paid the federal government $54,000 in income taxes in 1973.

(h) Indiana & Michigan had outstanding long-term debt of $171 million on which it was obligated to pay interest of less than 6 per cent; it had outstanding sinking fund debentures of $14 million on which it was required to pay only 5⅛ per cent; it had notes payable to banks on which it was required to pay a rate equal to prime plus a fraction, which rate has declined perceptively from the 10¼ per cent reportedly paid in 1973.

(i) I&M had $22 million of preferred stock outstanding on which it only paid 5 per cent.

(j) The cost of capital utilized the determine the rate of return should reflect the foregoing capital structure and the debt equity ratios of this particular entity.

8. Consideration should be given to the fact that other investor-owned companies, such as General Motors, reduce their dividends when earnings decline. What is good for General Motors — may even be good for I&M or American Electric Power.

9. While the fuel cost adjustment is not before the commission at this time, determination should be made with respect to the following factors:

(a) The cost to I&M of fuel purchased from captive mines and other affiliated entities.

(b) The expenditure of $3.3 million by AEP to amend the Clean Air act to enable it to use soft coal.

(c) Spot prices for steam coal have dropped more than 50 per cent between the middle of December and the middle of January (see Wall Street Journal, January 14th, 1975, page 13). Any increase in the base rate should reflect the reduced cost of fuel for which an adjustment has apparently been authorized by the commission.

10. As to the argument that utilities need additional revenue to enable them to obtain capital for expansion, the following factors should be considered:

(a) A dividend of 13 per cent on invested capital on a relatively risk-free investment, is unnecessary.

(b) Inasmuch as the rate of increase in demand for electric power in 1974 was less than 1 per cent, serious doubt exists as to the need for expansion.

(c) With increasing costs and the determination of the consumer to conserve cash expenditures, it is reasonable to suspect that further reductions in demand will occur.

(d) The cutback inconstruction of new facilities by utilities has furnished them financial relief; paved the way for increased profits; and as the New York Times observed, in the explanation for the recent bullish market in utility stocks since the first of the year (copy of article will be furnished on request).

11. The American Electric Power companies as a whole spent 6.8 times as much on advertising in 1973 as they did on research and development. (See Congressional Record, December 19th, 1974).

12. In 1973, American Electric Power realized an adjusted net income of $194 million; but it not only paid no federal income taxes, it accumulated a tax credit of $8,920,000.

NOTICE OF PUBLIC HEARING
on
PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE MICHIGAN APPLE ADVERTISING AND PROMOTION PROGRAM

A public hearing will be held pursuant to 1969 PA 306, Sec. 71, on Friday, March 14, 1975 at 1:30 p.m. in the Michigan Department of Agriculture Hearing Room, 5th Floor, Lewis Cass Building, Walnut Avenue, Lansing, Michigan, to consider proposed amendments to the Michigan Apple Advertising and Promotion Program pursuant to 1965 PA 232, Sections 5 and 10, as amended by 1974 PA 324.

The proposed amendments to the Michigan Apple Advertising and Promotion Program would amend the following sections of the program: PART B - Districts. The proposed amendment would rescind the present established districts used as a basis for selecting members for the Michigan Apple Committee. Districts for providing a basis for selecting Michigan Apple Committee members would be established on an equitable and representative apple production basis by procedures under 1965 PA 232, as amended by 1974 PA 324 and Michigan Department of Agriculture Regulation No. 301, Rule 12, as amended.

PART D - Assessments, paragraph 1. The proposed amendments would change the present assessments as follows: apples sold for fresh market use from eight (8c) cents per hundred pounds to twelve (12c) cents per hundred pounds; apples sold for processing from six (6c) cents per hundred pounds to ten (10c) cents per hundred pounds and apples sold for juice, cider or vinegar from two (2c) cents per hundred pounds to eight (8c) cents per hundred pounds of apples.

The question presented at the hearing will be whether or not the proposed amendments are necessary and reasonable.

The department urges all Michigan apple producers to study the proposals carefully. Interested persons are invited to present their views orally or in writing.

Please bring this proposal with you if you attend the hearing.

Dated at Lansing, Michigan this 26th day of February, 1975.

'Meet Me In St. Louis' Coloma All-School Play

COLOMA — The Coloma high all-school play, "Meet Me In St. Louis," will be presented Friday and Saturday, March 7 and 8, at 8 p.m. nightly in the high school auditorium.

The three-act comedy centers around the Smith family during the turn of the century in St. Louis, during the World's Fair.

Tickets priced at $1.50 for adults and $1 for students may be purchased at the door. Children age 13 and under will be admitted for 50 cents if accompanied by a parent.

Students performing in the play include Dennis Bachman, as Mr. Smith and Ginny McKenzie as Mrs. Smith.

Other roles are played by Kathy Kniebes, Krisa Hembree, Anne Pethe, Melody Hilario, Kathy Sipes, John Bertuca, Mark DuVernay, Bob Linville, Tim Barsuhn, Cathy Sutton, Phil Iannelli, Sean Taylor, Dave Wolfe and Marie Nadeau.

Student director is Joanna Schneider. Stage manager is Phil Knuth. Play director is Ralph Bower, of the Coloma high school.

Dean To Halt Tour

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Convicted Watergate conspirator John W. Dean III says he will end his college speaking tour as scheduled in two weeks to end criticism that he is "commercializing" the scandal.

State To Auction 9 Parcels In 3 Counties

Nine Parcels of Property in Berrien, Van Buren and Allegan counties, most of them landlocked plots along state highways, will be put up for auction April 22. The Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation said these parcels, plus two others located in Calhoun county, will be auctioned off at 2 p.m. in the commissioners room at the Berrien county courthouse, St. Joseph.

One of two parcels in Berrien county is at the northwest corner of Fair avenue and Wauceda avenue in Benton Harbor, and the other is in Hagar township near the Central avenue overpass on I-196. Both of these parcels have access to existing local streets.

Four of the parcels are in Van Buren county, three of them along I-196 in South Haven township and the fourth in Antwerp township along I-94.

Three parcels in Allegan county are in Casco and Ganges townships adjoining I-196 and in Dorr township along US-131. Additional information about the parcels and sales terms are available from John Winter, district property representative, 75455 Westnedge Box 6, Portage, Mich. 49081.

Adult Hearing Tests At 3 Sites

A hearing testing program will be offered at three locations in the Twin Cities area starting March 18 to identify adults in Berrien county who have hearing problems.

The tests will be sponsored by the Michigan Association for Better Hearing and Speech, a United Way of Michigan agency, in cooperation with the state Vocational Rehabilitation services, the Berrien County Health Department and Lions clubs of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph.

The free tests will be at a mobile unit which is scheduled to be at Hilltop center, Hilltop road, St. Joseph township, March 18; Thrifty Loan company, Broad street, St. Joseph, March 19, and Fairplain plaza, M-139, March 20 and 21. The unit will offer examinations from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. at all locations.

"We are aware that there are a large number of adults in this area who have a hearing loss sufficient to interfere with normal society and family communication and that may affect the individual's employment," said Dr. Robert P. Locey, county health department director. "Although this testing program is open to all adults 18 years of age or over, we are especially anxious to assist those people with hearing loss who also have difficulty finding and holding employment at least part of the year," he said.

After people with hearing problems are identified, appropriate diagnostic tests will be provided on an appointment basis, Dr. Locey said. State vocational rehabilitation specialists will be available to consult with individuals who are having employment problems resulting from hearing loss, Dr. Locey said, and referrals will be made for medical attention.

Three Week Bonus for Green tickets

WIN $3,000 WORTH OF GROCERIES IN THE LOTTERY'S $225,000 MARKET BASKET BONUS.

Match this number exactly, claim, and you are in the Million Dollar Drawing.

75 Bonus prizes worth $3,000 each. Plus over one million dollars in regular prizes each week.

• After the regular 50¢ Green game drawing on March 13, 20 and 27, three "Market Basket" Bonus numbers will be drawn.
• If the numbers on your 50¢ Green ticket for that drawing date match any two or the three 3-digit Bonus numbers, you win a Bonus prize. Both winning Bonus numbers must appear on a single ticket.
• Your prize will be a $3,000 gift certificate redeemable for merchandise at any store that sells Lottery tickets. You name the store and we'll establish a $3,000 account in your name. Take as long as you wish to spend it. Certificate not redeemable for cash.
• Take your winning ticket to a Lottery Claim Center for processing.
• Prize projections are based on estimated ticket sales.
• Matching just one 3-digit Bonus number does not qualify for a $25 prize.

Good luck. Hope you win a Market Basket Bonus.

Check the numbers in these spaces on your ticket to see if you're a Market Basket Bonus winner. You must have two Bonus numbers on a single ticket to win.

Market Basket Bonus tickets are on sale March 4 to noon March 25.

'Meet Me In St. Louis' Coloma All-School Play

COLOMA — The Coloma high all-school play, "Meet Me In St. Louis," will be presented Friday and Saturday, March 7 and 8, at 8 p.m. nightly in the high school auditorium.

The three-act comedy centers around the Smith family during the turn of the century in St. Louis, during the World's Fair.

Tickets priced at $1.50 for adults and $1 for students may be purchased at the door. Children age 13 and under will be admitted for 50 cents if accompanied by a parent.

Students performing in the play include Dennis Bachman, as Mr. Smith and Ginny McKenzie as Mrs. Smith.

Other roles are played by Kathy Kniebes, Krisa Hembree, Anne Pethe, Melody Hilario, Kathy Sipes, John Bertuca, Mark DuVernay, Bob Linville, Tim Barsuhn, Cathy Sutton, Phil Iannelli, Sean Taylor, Dave Wolfe and Marie Nadeau.

Student director is Joanna Schneider. Stage manager is Phil Knuth. Play director is Ralph Bower, of the Coloma high school.

Dean To Halt Tour

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — Convicted Watergate conspirator John W. Dean III says he will end his college speaking tour as scheduled in two weeks to end criticism that he is "commercializing" the scandal.

State To Auction 9 Parcels In 3 Counties

Nine Parcels of Property in Berrien, Van Buren and Allegan counties, most of them landlocked plots along state highways, will be put up for auction April 22. The Michigan Department of Highways and Transportation said these parcels, plus two others located in Calhoun county, will be auctioned off at 2 p.m. in the commissioners room at the Berrien county courthouse, St. Joseph.

One of two parcels in Berrien county is at the northwest corner of Fair avenue and Wauceda avenue in Benton Harbor, and the other is in Hagar township near the Central avenue overpass on I-196. Both of these parcels have access to existing local streets.

Four of the parcels are in Van Buren county, three of them along I-196 in South Haven township and the fourth in Antwerp township along I-94.

Three parcels in Allegan county are in Casco and Ganges townships adjoining I-196 and in Dorr township along US-131. Additional information about the parcels and sales terms are available from John Winter, district property representative, 73455 Westnedge Box 6, Portage, Mich. 49081.

Adult Hearing Tests At 3 Sites

A hearing testing program will be offered at three locations in the Twin Cities area starting March 18 to identify adults in Berrien county who have hearing problems.

The tests will be sponsored by the Michigan Association for Better Hearing and Speech, a United Way of Michigan agency, in cooperation with the state Vocational Rehabilitation services, the Berrien County Health Department and Lions clubs of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph.

The free tests will be at a mobile unit which is scheduled to be at Hilltop center, Hilltop road, St. Joseph township, March 18; Thrifty Loan company, Broad street, St. Joseph, March 19, and Fairplain plaza, M-139, March 20 and 21. The unit will offer examinations from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and from 3 p.m. to 7 p.m. at all locations.

"We are aware that there are a large number of adults in this area who have a hearing loss sufficient to interfere with normal society and family communication and that may affect the individual's employment," said Dr. Robert P. Loccy, county health department director. "Although this testing program is open to all adults 18 years of age or over, we are especially anxious to assist those people with hearing loss who also have difficulty finding and holding employment at least part of the year," he said.

After people with hearing problems are identified, appropriate diagnostic tests will be provided on an appointment basis, Dr. Locey said. State vocational rehabilitation specialists will be available to consult with individuals who are having employment problems resulting from hearing loss, Dr. Locey said, and referrals will be made for medical attention.

Three Week Bonus for Green tickets

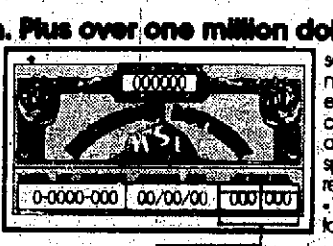
WIN $3,000 WORTH OF GROCERIES IN THE LOTTERY'S $225,000 MARKET BASKET BONUS.

Match this number exactly, claim, and you are in the Million Dollar Drawing.

75 Bonus prizes worth $3,000 each. Plus over one million dollars in regular prizes each week.

• After the regular 50¢ Green game drawing on March 13, 20 and 27, three "Market Basket" Bonus numbers will be drawn.
• If the numbers on your 50¢ Green ticket for that drawing date match any two or the three 3-digit Bonus numbers, you win a Bonus prize. Both winning Bonus numbers must appear on a single ticket.
• Your prize will be a $3,000 gift certificate redeemable for merchandise at any store that sells Lottery tickets. You name the store and we'll establish a $3,000 account in your name. Take as long as you wish to spend it. Certificate not redeemable for cash.
• Take your winning ticket to a Lottery Claim Center for processing.
• Prize projections are based on estimated ticket sales.
• Matching just one 3-digit Bonus number does not qualify for a $25 prize.

Good luck. Hope you win a Market Basket Bonus.



Check the numbers in these spaces on your ticket to see if you're a Market Basket Bonus winner. You must have two Bonus numbers on a single ticket to win.

Market Basket Bonus tickets are on sale March 4 to noon March 28.
